CHANCELLOR SAYS GERMANY READY FOR PEACE

WAR NOT A DAY OVER POSSIBILITY OF AN HONORABLE PEACE

Dr. Michaelis Tells Reichstag That Germany Is Ready to Make
Peace at Any Time.

BODY ADOPTS THE PEACE RESOLUTION

Copenhagen, July 20.—Chancellor Michaelis in his address before the reichstag yesterday said Germany would not continue the war a day longer if it could obtain an honorable peace.

America's intervention was not regarded with serious concern. The German fleet, particularly the submarines, would master the situation, he said.

The reichstag adopted the peace resolution approved by the centrists and socialist elements.

"Although," said Chancellor Michaelis to the reichstag yesterday, "English statesmen knew, as shown by their blue book, that Russian mobilization must lead to war with Germany, they addressed not a word of warning to Russia against military measures while my predecessor's instructions July 20, 1914, to the ambassador at Vienna directed him to say that we willingly fulfill our duty as an ally but must refuse to permit ourselves to be involved in a world war through Austro-Hungary disregarding our counsel.

"The concentration of the Russian army compelled Germany to seize the sword. There was no choice left to us and what is true of the war itself is true also of our weapons, particularly the submarine. We deny the accusation that the submarine warfare is contrary to international law and violates the rights of humanity.

RUST HURTS WHEAT CROP

Acreage Will Average About
Fifteen Bushels It is Predicted.

HARVESTING WILL START NEXT WEEK

Farmers Are Compelled to Use Hoes to Cultivate
Corn Fields.

Allen county's wheat crop will not average over fifteen bushels to the acre this year. This assertion was made by one of Adams township's most influential farmers Friday morning. He states that in some districts in the county the acreage will even be less, while in a few places the yield per acre will be somewhat larger.

According to his explanation rust has played havoc with the crop. He stated that recently he went into his own fields and found that the rust was so thick that it had eaten through the leaves of the stalk. He stated that the heavy rust was caused by the extremely wet weather of the past month.

The result of the rust on the wheat crop is that all wheat which had not lost its milk by the time the rust took hold will bear only shriveled grain, not only making the production smaller but the quality poorer.

There are only a few places in the county where wheat has been cut. Reasons for this are two-fold. The majority of the wheat has not ripened and in most cases the ground is so soft that it will not bear up the binders. The prediction is that the early part of next week will find nearly every farmer busy in the wheat fields cutting the crop.

In speaking of the lateness of the wheat crop this year, one farmer stated that it was not many years ago when he remembered that he had all his wheat hauled into the barn by July 4. Millers state that in previous years new wheat had already put in its appearance. Threshers say they are getting a later start this year than ever before.

Corn Needs Cultivating.
Corn fields need a great deal of attention at the present time, as the weeds are getting the overhand of the belated crop. One farmer related that he had not plowed corn for two weeks and that in order to save portions of his fields from ruination he and his sons had spent several days in the fields with a hoe. This same method of cultivating is being adhered to by many farmers as the ground is too wet to plow with a team of horses.

Oats Look Fine.
The same farmers who seem to be a trifle worried about the wheat crop show broad smiles when asked about the oats crop. They all voice the same opinion and state that they can not remember the time when the outlook was brighter.

In the past few weeks the oats have shot up wonderfully in size and have now attained a height of probably four feet. The heads are large and well filled and indications are given that the yield per acre will be a record one for this county. That is provided nothing sets in from now on until it is harvested to damage it.

pany, was waved aside by board members, Thursday night.

Mayor W. J. Hosey is known to be heart and soul against the plan to place a battery of large capacity oil and gas line tanks inside the city limits. He believes that life and property will be endangered. He has said that he would fight the move at every possible point and that he believed the city officers would yet find a way to block the installing of the big tanks.

Action of the board of works in refusing to take the proffered bond of the refining company is thought by many to be the first move in an effort to halt the building of the oil containers, along the Wabash railroad, inside the city limits. It has been hinted that if the bonding company secures a personal bond the building inspector will step forward and declare that he cannot permit the "dangerous tanks" to be raised.

Certain councilmen have changed their attitude towards the tank building question. It is said. Several of the men who voted for the measure a few weeks ago are against it now because their constituents have raised objections to the placing of the oil tanks in the east end. Insurance men have raised their voices against the placing of the tanks near property insured by their several companies. The insurance rate of the city will be raised because of the danger from the east end tanks, it has been given out. The board of works members could have found a way out of the situation of refusing the oil tank bond, Thursday evening, it is claimed by some who see in this move an effort to check the building plans of the Sinclair Refining company. Whether the speculators who say that the administration will not allow the tanks to be erected is well grounded will depend upon future action of city officials.

The managers of the Sinclair company state that they believe they will be able to secure the large personal bond asked. They do not believe that fears of officials regarding the danger from the tanks are well grounded.

OFFICIALS BLOCKING OIL COMPANY MOVE

Will Take Only Personal Bond for the Large Tanks.

Is the board of works deliberately blocking the way of the Sinclair Refining company, which has been granted the council's approval for installing several large tanks in Fort Wayne?

Many citizens believe that the action of the board in demanding that only a personal bond be given for the safety of the tanks is a prohibitory measure. It will be difficult for the company members to furnish personal bond in that amount. Their offer of $25,000 bond, signed by a reliable bonding com-

A FATEFUL DAY FOR MILLIONS OF AMERICANS

Army Conscription by Lot Is Begun and
By Night the Men Who Have Been Selected Will Know.

BUT 687,000 WILL BE TAKEN TO SERVE

Washington, July 20.—This is the day of the nation's selection from among its sons to fill up the ranks of the armies of democracy.

Who shall go first among the ten millions registered for service is to be determined by chance in a carefully devised lottery and before the day is ended the federal government will have converted its registration list into a muster roll, with every registrant set down in the exact order of his liability to call.

The drawing of lots is the climax of the nation's efforts to build up a great military force on the principle of universal service. After the muster roll is made, only the simpler tasks of examination and exemption, mobilization and training will remain. For this work long established rules can be followed; but in the steps taken heretofore the government has been forced to make a way of its own.

President Calls 687,000.
Already President Wilson has formally ordered to the colors 687,000 of the men for whom lots are drawn today and most of them will be in training by mid-September at sixteen cantonments under construction throughout the country. To provide that many physically fit and without any income-brance calling for exemption the war department will summon for examination the 1,374,000 who are found after the drawing to stand at the head of the muster roll. If more are needed to provide a net quota of 687,000 soldiers, those standing next in order will be summoned. So, too, will the choice pass on down the line when future increments are ordered to the colors by the president. Military men estimate that about every other man summoned will be exempted and on that basis the ten millions whose order of liability is to be determined today, should yield close to five million soldiers before the roll is exhausted.

Those at Top to Be Regulars.
The first of the 687,000 men to be actually called into service—those standing at the very top of the liability list—probably will go to fill the ranks of the regular army to war strength. Something like forty thousand will be needed for that, and they may be called before September. Then, a large number next in order probably will be assigned to fill the national guard to war strength and the remainder—about 500,000 assembled as the national army. Every precaution was taken to make the drawing today absolutely fair to every one of the registrants. An elaborate scheme worked out in weeks of study to save time and labor and crowd the entire process into an hour was abandoned last night, when it was discovered that registration boards in some sections had misunderstood the instructions for numbering local registration cards, making some inequalities possible. Officials in the provost marshal general's office declared today that the changes to a simpler but more laborious plan left no possibility of inequality or fraud.

May Take Many Hours.
Although 9:30 a. m. was set for beginning the drawing, it may be late tonight before it is finished. Under the plan adopted 10,500 numbers must be drawn, one at a time.

In a speed test recently nearly sixty a minute were drawn and recorded, but it is regarded as doubtful whether that could be kept up for long periods together. The 10,500 numbers to be drawn range from 1 to 10,500. The order in which they are drawn determines the order in which the men having corresponding serial numbers on their cards in the local districts will be liable for service. Supposing 2,402 is the first number drawn, for instance, it would mean that every man everywhere having that number on his card would be the first in his district to be liable for service.

Miss Alice Bradley, of Chicago, is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Studer, of 650 West Third street.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

FRED C. EGGERS
RESIGNS AS AGENTWell Known Passenger Man
to Bowser Works.

Fred C. Eggers, local passenger agent for the Wabash, has tendered his resignation effective August 1. Mr. Eggers has accepted a position in the accounting department of S. F. Bowser & Company and will assume the duties there immediately after being released by the Wabash company. Thus will pass out of railway circles one of the most courteous and efficient local passenger agents of the city. His retirement will be regretted not only by the men with whom he has been associated in railway work, but by the patrons of the Wabash with whom he came in touch in a business way. Mr. Eggers got into railway work accidentally. When he came to Fort Wayne a little over six years ago to visit relatives and friends he had no thought of entering railway work. He was then a school teacher in southern Missouri, having a few years previously graduated from the Missouri State Normal academy at Cape Girardeau. The office of night baggage master at the Wabash depot was vacant at that time and Mr. Eggers was induced to accept it and work during the summer months. Before the school year, however, he was induced to take the office of night ticket agent, which he held two years. Four years ago he was appointed local passenger agent to succeed Ed Haas, and he has held the office since, doing good work and making a friend of everyone with whom he did business. When asked why he was making the change, Mr. Eggers said: "Because the position with the Bowser people pays better than the office I am retiring from. I have no grievance against the Wabash; I received courteous treatment from all the officials and would remain only, as I said, the salary is much more at the Bowser's." Mr. Eggers has not been advised who would succeed him.

TAKES POSITION AT AKRON.

Ferman Harding Goes to the Firestone Rubber Company.

Ferman Harding, an electrician at the General Electric works, is considering a proposition to take a position with the Firestone Rubber company, Akron, O., with probabilities of accepting. He is off duty from the shop today, looking into the proposition. Mr. Harding has been at the General Electric works for a number of years, with the exception of the few months he was with the Goodyear Rubber company at Akron. That company has made several efforts to get him to return to their factory, but it seems the Firestone people made the most enticing offer. Mr. Harding is a tester in the testing department of the General Electric works and is considered a most efficient and capable man.

G. E. GIRLS AT TRI-LAKE.

A party of girls from the small motor department of the General Electric works motored to Tri-Lake Sunday and had a most enjoyable time. The day was devoted to boating, bathing, fishing and various games in the grove and proved a most happy event. In the party were the Misses Minnie and Luella Trost, Miss Helen Runyon, Miss Ida Dixon, Miss Irene Schultz, Miss Emma Reeling, Miss Marie Moulton, Miss Verla Tachon, Miss Ruth Gladys and Florence Dixon, Miss Besie Craig, Miss Carrie Cruse, Misses Elow and Clara Gilmore, Rose Eisenbacher, Miss Edna Rohrbach, Mrs. Hollenstein, Miss Amanda Hayes, Miss Beatrice Craig, Miss Edna Dixon and Messrs. Paul Meyers and B. Hollenstein.

EXPRESSMEN INJURED.

Harry Sanford, the night agent for the Wells-Fargo Express company, and C. Sheets, one of the expressmen at the Wabash depot, sustained painful injuries last night while in the act of loading a big machine. Mr. Sanford had the fingers of one of his hands painfully crushed and Mr. Sheets had some toes crushed by the heavy piece dropping on them when it slipped a few inches. The injuries of each are severe and will lay them up for two or three weeks.

INSPECTING SUB-DIVISION D.

Supt. Otto Schroll and his staff are out inspecting the tracks and stations on sub-division D, between this city and Clark Junction, and two days will be devoted to the work. Among the staff officers with Mr. Schroll are Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, Division Engineer Guy Scott, Division Operator H. B. Reynolds, Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, Chief Dispatcher Harry Hart and W. A. Potthoff, the latter Mr. Schroll's stenographer.

HERE TO VISIT FATHER.

Orien Christen, with the Mitchell Motor company, of Racine, Wis., is here to spend a week with his father, C. E. Christen, of the east car shops, and other relatives. Mr. Christen is a pressman and until several months ago was employed in that capacity on a Fort Wayne newspaper. He resigned to go into the army and was in a training camp for some time, failing to pass the rigid physical examination. Then he took employment at Racine.

TAKING TRIP TO WISCONSIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krubs, the former a crater at the General Electric works, have started upon a trip to Wisconsin, where they will stop in several cities to see relatives. They will first go to Hartford, Wis., to visit their son, Matthew Krubs, a mechanic employed in auto works, who learned his trade in the Wabash shops in this city. Thence they will go to Racine and later to Kenosha, visiting his sister at the latter place.

CHAUFFEUR INJURED.

Rudolph Trautman, chauffeur on one of the big auto trucks of the General Electric company, was knocked from his seat and injured at 5 o'clock last evening, at the corner of West Creighton avenue and Hoagland avenue, when the machine he was driving was struck by an automobile. His injuries are not serious, but will keep him from work several days. The truck and the automobile were both damaged.

G. E. MEN FROM EAST ARE HERE.

Several gentlemen connected with the sales department of the General Electric company are here today conferring with Messrs. A. A. Serva and T. W. Behan, of the sales department of the local plant. Among the visitors are J. C. Moulton, of New York, J. A. Haradan, of Schenectady, and F. P. Cox, of Lynn, Mass.

INSTRUCTING HOSTLERS.

Louis Deck, airbrake machinist at the Pennsylvania shops, went to Lima, O., this morning and will remain there a few days instructing the hostlers and others in the Pennsylvania roundhouse how to handle engines. The company is now handling a good many more engines at that roundhouse than formerly.

CHANGE IN PAY METHODS.

Beginning last night, the men employed in the night gangs at the Pennsylvania shops are receiving their wages between the hours of 7 and 8:35 in the evening. Formerly they had to come back to the shops in the morning to get their earnings. The new method is more acceptable.

CALLED TO SISTER'S BEDSIDE.

William Greiser, of the dynamo assembling department of the General Electric works, has gone to Detroit to see his sister. A message from that city yesterday stated that she was seriously ill.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

John Reidel, of the Pennsylvania shops, is sick and off duty. L. A. Weihe, of the Pennsylvania boiler shop, is off duty on account of the illness of his wife.

T. P. Mueller, a Pennsylvania blacksmith, is taking a lay off to attend to some private business.

F. T. Huston, assistant engineer of motive power of the Pennsylvania, has returned from a business trip to Pittsburgh.

Wabash Trainmaster C. E. Wells, of Peru, was in the city this morning, looking after business for the company.

A. B. Crisswell, material inspector for the Baltimore & Ohio company, is here, inspecting 300 car wheels at the Bass foundry.

John Weidner, a stenographer, has been transferred from the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop office to the machine shop office.

A new employee at the General Electric works is Paul E. Clear, who was formerly employed as a tank repairman at the Pennsylvania shops.

L. D. Haslup, of the Pennsylvania boiler shop, sprained his ankle Saturday and has not been able to work since.

A. L. Hadley, head of the engineering department of the General Electric works, left last night for Schenectady, N. Y., on business for the company.

Fred G. Duryee, chief of the wiring department of the General Electric works, has gone to Lake James, where he has a cottage, to spend the week with his folks.

Ellis Frazier, Clarence Biltz, H. E. Loiz, E. A. Melner and L. W. Young are new employees in the operating department of the General Electric works.

Henry J. Peters, foreman of the tool supply department of the General Electric works, is taking a part of his vacation this week. He will be out three or four days.

W. H. King, stenographer in the valuation department of the Pennsylvania, who had been making visits in New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, resumed work this morning.

Cornelius Sweeney, machinist, resumed his duties in the airbrake department of the Pennsylvania shops this morning, after spending a few days at Clear Lake.

The Apparatus and the Small Motor Department teams of the G. E. Sunset league, are playing at Foster park, and the Warehouse and the Apprentices teams are playing at Lawton park this afternoon.

J. W. Wall, a member of Foreman Michael Krook's gang, in the shop yards of the Pennsylvania, will be off duty several days as the result of an accident yesterday. He had his hand and wrist hurt.

J. Frank Keiker and A. B. Huff, who have been engaged in front-end locomotive tests on the Erie and Ash-tabula division of the Pennsylvania, are here for a week-end stay and will go east again Sunday night.

H. A. Brinsley, motive power inspector for the Pennsylvania, returned from Pittsburgh this morning, after being there several days on business. He went to Chicago this afternoon and from that city will go east tonight.

J. J. Bryle and A. J. Dubay resumed work at the Pennsylvania paint shop this morning. They had been off duty on account of the death and funeral of their uncle, an aged farmer residing near Academie.

W. F. Rathenberg, a boilermaker's helper, and H. Garrett, a fluwelder, at the Pennsylvania shops, have resigned. Rathenberg goes to the Berg-hoff brewery to work and Garrett returns to his old home in Ohio because of the serious illness of his mother.

D. B. Schwarz, of the Pennsylvania car machine shop, is laying off today to decide a most patriotic question. The result will probably be that he will enlist in the army. He has not decided what department to go into and is investigating the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Haeffling, of Lexington, Ky., are guests of William Donnel, the elevator man in the laboratory building at the General Electric works. Mr. Haeffling formerly resided here and was employed in the General Electric works.

The General Electric works disposed of 700 tickets to the chaqueta to its employees. Harry Daub has the honor of selling the largest number of tickets, he disposing of 182. Garlhan and O'Brien were a tie for the second place, each selling 100 tickets.

A. B. Sheckler, of the tin and pipe shop of the Pennsylvania, will begin a two weeks vacation Sunday, when he will go to his old home, Bucyrus. He will make several trips from that city to Put-in-Bay and other points on Lake Erie.

Nearly every railroad in this part of the country has women on the pay-rolls, but so far as learned only one has employed women as ticket agent in important stations. Miss Claire Rodabaugh has been appointed assistant passenger agent of the Big Four at Columbus, O.

In the Pennsylvania tool room are five young men who are liable to draft under the conscription law. Their numbers have been "chalked" on the wall, under a skull and crossbones sign, so that the rest of any of the party are "hit" in the drawing can be readily seen by their shop comrades.

One of the large new engines of the Wabash tore a portion of the Peru roundhouse down yesterday when the hostler attempted to back it into the building. The door was too small and when the wall was caved in, one of the falling bricks struck Fred Gripke, a machinist, and fractured his shoulder blade.

James Russell, whose father died suddenly in Chicago last week, has returned from that city, where he attended the funeral, and has resumed his duties as clerk to Foreman J. A. Foster, of the Pennsylvania airbrake room. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schultz have also returned from Chicago, where they attended the funeral of Mr. Russell, who was her father.

The General Electric company has added two electrical trucks to its equipment. These trucks are of the latest design, equipped with electrical hoisting apparatus, which enables them to drop the platform, slip the truck and then to raise the platform to normal height and raise the load from the blocks upon which it had formerly rested.

The order from the war department concerning the use of dump cars on the railroads is having its effect upon improvements in various parts of the country. At Tiffin, O., some improvement is consuming considerable crushed stone from the quarries at Maple Grove and when the Nickel Plate put the order concerning cars into effect, it stopped the movement of stone to Tiffin. Mayor Keppel complained to Supt. W. F. Watterson and the latter has written that he will endeavor to resume carrying stone to Tiffin, but will have to use other than dump cars.

Men Will Be Selected for Second Camp by Government Officers.

Government examiners for the applicants to the second officers' reserve training camp will be in this city July 24 to 26. Notice to this effect has been sent to all of the applicants who are recommended by the local committee under Captain E. H. Kilbourne. The examiners will have their headquarters at the Hotel Anthony, and the examinations will be held either there or at a place to be designated by the examiners. Offices will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon.

Owing to the fact that the quota for Indiana for the second camp is but 443, it is probable that the examination by the government officers will be somewhat rigid, as the utmost discrimination will be used in selecting the men. About 200 applicants were recommended from the Fort Wayne district alone. The second camp starts August 27.

Captain E. H. Kilbourne, chairman of the local examining board, and E. H. Wagner, secretary, went to Indianapolis, Thursday, to confer with officials of the training camp in regard to the applicants that have been recommended from here, and to discuss work to be done by the board in the future.

CIRCUIT COURT TO RE-OPEN SEPT. 5Room is Being Thoroughly Renovated and Repaired
During Vacation.

Allen county's circuit court will re-open on Monday, September 5, and according to indications a very busy session will be held. Many new cases have been filed since court adjourned and with other cases which have been pending, it is likely that a rush business will be on for some little time after the reopening.

During the vacation workmen are at work renovating and repairing the entire room. All the walls and the ceiling have been cleaned and the cracks in the marble slabs are being fixed. The furniture is also being given a general overhauling.

Name Appraisers.

Judge Carl Yule, of the superior court, named Will Kaiser, A. C. Goeke and George Miller as appraisers to fix the price at which the city may sell a supply of potassium permanganate. This is an unusual action, made necessary by a law which requires that the courts appoint appraisers if the city wants to sell anything valued at $100 or more.

Lose Costs Him a Wife.

Joseph Burckel told his wife before they were married that he was drawing a handsome salary each week. After marriage the wife discovered that he was not earning much. Wednesday upon the strength of this misrepresentation Mrs. Burckel was granted a divorce.

Restores Her Name.

The decree and the restoration of her maiden name of Smithwest was granted to Grace Rosen in her suit for divorce from Ira Rosen in superior court.

Petition Declined.

The petition of Pearl Collins to secure custody of the children who were given to her husband when they were divorced was not granted by Judge Yule. To Sell Pepe Farm.

Summary of the Day's War News

While the world today is awaiting with keen interest the declaration of German policy which the new imperial chancellor, Dr. George Michaelis, is expected to deliver in the reichstag, the military forces of the belligerents for the moment are engaged in infantry operations of major importance only along the front in eastern Galicia.

Reports from this theater of intense activity have indicated a lessening in the speed of the Russian drive. There has been a recession at one point where Austrian reserves have been thrown into the fray in an effort to stop the Russian onslaught which was threatened to roll up the entire Austro-German line from Galicia down through the Rumanian mountains and plains.

Otherwise the French front in northern France presents the most notable features of momentary interest. Few days pass without an effort on the part of the Germans to get back some of the valuable territory which was wrenched from them in the spring offensive or to make inroads elsewhere on the French lines.

A new field was chosen for an attempt of this sort last night. The first really sharp attack for some time in the field of the great Hindenburg retreat of last March being delivered just to the south of St. Quentin. The crown prince chose a front nearly a half mile in extent, where the French occupied a hideout to the east of Cauchy. Gen. Petain's force were taken aback at first by the intensity of the drive and yielded some ground in the first line. They rallied quickly, however, and drove the Germans out of the greater part of the occupied positions.

The situation in Petrograd continues troubled, but the provisional government apparently has decided to take hold with a firm hand and have it out with the ultra-extreme elements which are keeping the city in a turmoil. Martial control has been established there and drastic measures seem to be the order of the day.

Meanwhile the cabinet council is considering a proposal to transfer the seat of government to Moscow to remove it from the scene of turmoil, and it is also announced that the general assembly of workmen, soldiers and peasants will be held at Moscow "to prevent interference from an irresponsible section of the Petrograd garrison."

The sinking of a German submarine by a Russian destroyer in the Baltic is reported from Petrograd.

DOG FRIGHTENS BURGLAR.

Barking of the pet dog saved the home of L. A. Schank, 1405 Hugh street, from robbery Wednesday night. It is believed by the police. The household was wrapped in slumber about midnight when the small dog started barking. On Thursday morning an iron bar was found near the partly opened kitchen window. No doubt a burglar was effecting an entrance to the house when he aroused the dog.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION.

Mason Mellott, of 1435 St. Mary's avenue, was removed to St. Joseph hospital Thursday, where he is in a very serious condition. Mr. Mellott is a veteran of the civil war and is at the present time vice-commander of Lawton-Wayne post, Grand Army of the Republic.

CHAMP SWIMMER FIGHTING.

Sydney, Australia, July 20.—News was received here lately that G. Finlay of West Australia, the best stroke champion of the world, received a commission some months ago and is attached to the naval corps of the British army in Egypt. Finlay already had taken part in the campaign in Palestine. He left Australia a private. In 1910 Finlay won the king's cup, one of the most coveted of English trophies for all-around swimming.

SICKLY BOY IN TWO YEARS BECOMES WORLD'S MOST VALUABLE SOLDIER, WINGING FORTY-FIVE GERMANS

How Geynemer Does It—Tactics of the famous French flyer's aerial attacks which have won him unquestioned air supremacy, as explained to Basil M. Manly of the Daily Sentinel Washington staff, by Capt. de La Grange, head of the French aviation commission now in this country.

(By BASIL M. MANLY.)

Washington, D. C., July 20.—The most valuable soldier in the world today is a youth of 22, who when he enlisted was a sickly-looking boy in the first stages of consumption.

Today France would rather part with two whole army divisions than lose George Geynemer.

He is the uncrowned "king of the air," who has brought down forty-five German airplanes.

As one aviator is worth 1,000 ordinary troops, Geynemer has strategically wiped out 45,000 Germans. No one soldier ever before approached this pale Frenchman's military value.

Captain Anauy de La Grange, head of the French aviation commission now in the United States, today told me all about Geynemer, and explained the tactics that have won him undisputed supremacy as a fighter in the air. Said de La Grange:

"George Geynemer, now only 22 years old, began training in February, 1915, on the eve of his examinations for the polytechnical school."

"He was tall, slim, delicate, so one feared he might have lung trouble. He had never gone in for sports, and was almost the last man to be picked as promising material for a pilot."

"He finished training in three and a half months, not remarkable when compared with Lieutenant Totu's six weeks. Less than a month after his arrival at the front, armed only with an army rifle, he brought down his first enemy."

"His plan of campaign against an enemy machine is simple."

"Now remarkably skillful, Geynemer always tries to place himself in a following position so he will not be seen. With wonderful courage he approaches as near as possible without firing, keeping below and behind his adversary."

"When he comes almost up to him (50 to 150 feet) he makes his plane rear up like a spirited charger and opens fire."

"He is an excellent shot and usually disables his opponent in the first round, but in case he does not he tries to break the fight by some acrobatic maneuver (a half loop, spins, or several sharp turns)."

"Geynemer is almost alone in the use of these tactics, as most of the other 'aces' (pilots who have brought down five machines) prefer to open fire at greater distances. Geynemer's tactics were also employed by Pegoud, the greatest flyer at the beginning of the war."

This story of Geynemer ought to be an inspiration to every young American flyer.

AUSTRALIAN LOSSES.

Melbourne, Australia, July 20.—The Australian casualties from the beginning of the war up to May 21, 1917, were 60,793, according to a statement issued by the defense department. They were divided as follows: Dead, 24,106; wounded, 21,583; missing, 5,102. It was explained that the men listed as wounded did not include those who had gone back to the trenches.

The Cause of Constipation.

Constipation is usually due to a lack of water in the excrement. To effect a cure you must take more water into the system. It may be months, however, before this has any appreciable effect on the bowels, but when persistent in and fruits and vegetables containing water are eaten freely, the condition may be overcome. In the meantime use the mildest laxatives obtainable and take only enough to produce the desired effect. Chamberlain's Tablets are one of the best. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect.—Advertisement.

ICE-MINT ENDS FOOT MISERY

Here's Quick Relief for Sore, Tired, Aching, Swollen, Burning Feet, Painful Corns and Callouses.
 Just a Touch Stops Soreness. Instantly the Feet Feel Cool, Easy and Comfortable. Try It!

Here's real foot-comfort for you at last. Say good-by to your old corn salve, liquids, plasters and other dope. The modern way—the sure way—to end foot troubles is by the use of Ice-Mint—a creamy, pleasant, snow-white preparation, whose medicinal ingredients are imported from Japan where the people have the finest, healthiest little feet in the world.

Rub a little Ice-Mint upon any tender, aching corn or callous. Instantly the soreness disappears and a delightful, cooling, soothing feeling is imparted to the skin. In a short time the corn or callous will loosen and may be lifted out easily with the fingers. No humping. If your poor, tired, aching, swollen, burning feet ever feel the magic touch of Ice-Mint, they will feel so cool and comfortable that you will sigh with relief. It's grand. It's glorious. New shoes or long hours of standing have no terrors for the friends of Ice-Mint. Resolve to end your foot misery today. Do not neglect those poor, tired, burning, corn-pestered feet any longer, for here is real "foot-joy" for you at last.

No matter what you have tried or how many times you have been disappointed, Ice-Mint will give you just the relief and satisfaction that you have been longing for. Try it! Ask at any Drug Store today for a small jar of Ice-Mint. It costs little and acts so quickly and gently, it seems like magic. You'll say so yourself.

FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1917.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

With fine chivalry President Wilson has saved the sixteen imprisoned suffragist pickets from themselves. By exercise of the great prerogative of his office he has pardoned them from the Virginia workhouse, where they were doing time and mental labor in default of paying fines assessed against them for violation of the national capital's traffic ordinances or something of the sort.

The ladies have accepted executive clemency—with something of a superior air, to be sure—but they have taken from the hand of the man they had annoyed and sought by their annoyances to coerce, the grace of pardon. Whether or not they will return grace and cease to annoy him and make gillies of themselves does not seem to be indicated by the spirit in which clemency is received. Nor does it so much matter to any but themselves and their families and of course inclusively the cause they misrepresent and have steadfastly continued to injure during the past four or five months.

If anything could illustrate and emphasize the nonsense and futility of their misdirected enterprise it is the difficulty President Wilson has encountered since the crisis with Germany became desperate in getting congress to march to the music of the union. The militant suffragists have taken the position and asserted the dictum that if the president were to order congress to adopt the Susan B. Anthony resolution for a constitutional amendment conferring complete suffrage on women the thing would be said scarcely sooner than done. More fatuous nonsense could not well be conceived. While it is true that through his administration President Wilson has enjoyed an influence over congress to a degree that hardly one of his predecessors ever was able to exert, it is not true that he can make congress uniformly march in the direction he would go. It took weeks to get so vital a measure as the conscription bill through. Weeks have been given to a revenue bill that still is in the handling. The food control measure that the president asked congress to pass and that he has pressed with great force is not yet done into law. Vital as that measure is to the material well-being of the whole country, here at home, to the strength and efficiency of America's allies and to the outcome of the war and the future of democracy, the president with all his power of persuasiveness has been unable to overcome hostile influences and consideration of special interests in congress.

Just what the picketing suffragists fancy the president might be able to do in forcing universal woman suffrage upon a congress comprised of so many refractory elements and moved and controlled by so many special and conflicting interests, purposes and self-seeking motives is not plain to rational intelligence. In normal times the advancement of the suffrage cause in congress would be difficult and involved in great uncertainties of outcome. But here we have these women insisting that in the very midst of the most fateful crisis the republic has ever faced, their concerns shall be made paramount, shall take precedence, shall be embraced by the president to the exclusion, if need be, of the national security and have right of way before all else.

The by far greater body of the suffragists of the country know and understand these things and have refused to identify themselves with the congressional unionists, who have sought to adopt the militant plan of campaign to forward the cause. On the contrary the great body of the women enrolled in the suffragists army have deprecated the white house picketing and appealed to the picketers and their leaders to abandon that fashion of warfare. The country can have little patience with the militants, though of course it will approve and applaud the graciousness and magnanimity of the president in pardoning from penal servitude the foolish women who have chosen a silly martyrdom as a preferenced alternative to dignified propaganda and the duties of home.

WHAT IS WANTED IS ACTION.

No doubt a food control board of three members will be able to do much for the conservation of foodstuffs and the fair regulation of prices. We do not believe the country is greatly interested in the difference between such a board and a dictatorship with Mr. Hoover at the head of it. It is understood, of course, that if the provision now in the senate bill for a board of three becomes the law Mr. Hoover will be one of the trio to administer the food concerns of the country. Much will depend upon the character and capacity of the men chosen to membership of such a body.

The unhappy and unfortunate squabbles that have brought the affairs of the shipping board to a crisis and have caused what must be costly delays in the development of American tonnage furnish no very happy augury for a food control board. There can be no assurance that within the first week of the board's functioning similar differences of opinion will not arise and a similar deadlock be brought about. While the shipping board's quarrels go on the U-boats continue to diminish the world's tonnage. So, while a food board might spend a week or a month in disputing about authority, precedence, ways and means or what not, the speculators would make a field day of the time and cram their storehouses with grain and vegetables, with poultry and eggs, with butter and meat and in general prepare to rape the public so soon as the consumer must depend upon storages for supplies.

This, of course, may be an idle and gratuitous anticipation of trouble—a vain imagining of evil. If there is to be a food board it is not for a moment to be questioned that President Wilson will exhaust every reasonable effort that can be employed with costly delay to get men for those places who will do the best for the country. It is not inconceivable that a board whose members will work harmoniously, intelligently and with strong courage and with patriotic effacement of self can be found at once by the president and they will go at their job and stick to it without friction. If it shall so turn out well and good. In any event it ought to be possible to find two men who, with Mr. Hoover, can make food control an effectual matter and accomplish what the president and most of the members of congress have designed shall be accomplished. Either a board or a dictator will suit the people if either will but get the results aimed at. There is no fear in the public mind that a dictator will be a dictator and that the destruction of our democracy will date from his advent. Mr. Hoover, who has been chosen for director, if congress provide for such an official, is an American citizen and perhaps has no more desire to wreck the democracy than the next man. With him alone or with him in association with two other strong and efficient men animated by patriotic sentiments and motives, the country will be fortunate in his highly skilled and widely experienced service.

The question that agitates the bosom of the country is not that out of food control may come a subversion of democracy, but that out of congressional bickerings and delay may come a winter of ruthless and piratical profiteering. No one is worrying about Hoover or about the difference between a director and board.

STAMP OUT THE U-BOAT.

(Indianapolis News.)
The general staff of our navy is reported as having submitted to the president a plan for a vigorous offensive against the U-boat. It is not explained just what is proposed, but in a general way there would be operations by destroyers, airplanes, small dirigibles, light cruisers and submarine chasers. The suggestion will appeal to Americans as along the right line. The way to get rid of the U-boat is to squelch it at the source and not to play a defensive game. Raids have been made recently by air squadrons that are reported as having inflicted heavy damages on the submarine base at Zebrugga. It would seem as if repeated raids of that kind in co-operation with the attacks by light draft fighting ships would accomplish the desired result. The present plan of sitting back and letting the Germans build submarines undisturbed and then trying to prevent those boats from inflicting damage on shipping is illogical and wasteful.

We are in a position to produce a large number of aircraft for offensive purposes and should do so. We should carry the war into the enemy's country. That would cost us some airplanes and some ships, but we would win if adequately equipped and properly directed. The present watchful waiting policy is costing us and all other nations a heavy toll of ships each month. An ocean liner with its cargo may be worth more than all the aircraft we would lose in annihilating a submarine base.

It has been suggested also that air raids should be carried on against the bridges over the Rhine. Those are the avenues of communication between the German army and Germany. They are not many in number and if destroyed would cripple Hindenburg's line of communications. That, too, is a good suggestion, but both that and the attack on the submarine bases depend upon action in getting more aircraft. First of all, therefore, we should use all speed in developing our aerial resources.

Just when it appeared the senate would emulate the example of the house and put through the big airplane bill without words or other fuss, "a small but wilful group" bobs up again. They bear watching.

Dead!—Dead!—Dead!—Dead!—
Hanging all uncomfortable
Out there in the creeping dark.
Wire-trapped shadows, drear and stark,
Dancing on the grating grasses,
Writhing in each wind that passes!

Heart-sick culls the right bird, still Waiting from each shell-torn hill,
Waiting there in patient sorrow
Some bloodless, noiseless morrow—
(Oh, pathetic souls departed,
Those who hear are heavy-hearted!)

Now the wind, in low miserie,
Voicing cadences full dreary,
Lifts the moan, moan, moan
Of the dead men's aftertone,
Making rhythmic icy beat,
Sounds like waters at one's feet!

Count and beggar rot out there—
(Sul sent one, one Guinevere!)—
Borrowed robes all laid aside;
Bridgework now has lost his bride;
Poilu, cockney, Russ, barbed in,
Pershing's Sammy—all blood-kin!

Dead!—Dead!—Dead!—Dead!—
God-forsaken, low of head!
How the flare-stars crawl and creep,
Snake-like o'er your ghastly sleep,
Hunting your neglected places,
Blaspheming your fading faces!

To our friendly REM; for I never fib,
And I leave it to you, if a tummy-ache
Isn't awful, for you can judge!

So, I beg your pardon for speaking thus,
(For even the truth will out!)
And I promise, hereafter, that I'll refrain
From speaking of mortal ache and pain—
Do promise us not to sulk or pout
Because I started the fuss!

Our Daily Tip to the Kaiser.

WILLIAM, WE ARE ALREADY BEGINNING TO HUNT A SUBSTITUTE TO WHOM WE CAN GIVE GOOD ADVICE—FOR IT LOOKS AS IF THE ALMIGHTY IS DISPLEASED WITH YOU AT LAST.

Time to Quit.

Everybody has said
Thirty twice
Except us.
This evening the Transfer Corner
Is like the Bottomless pit—
It refuses to be Filled up.
Time and again
We have ached
A lot of high grade dope
Into it, but not even An eddy proclaimed
That something had Fallen in.
Therefore, we Will close and Lock our desk.
Returning home
To our lovely family.
Hoping and praying
In the meantime That this is
dope
to accomplish our purpose!

We bow gracefully!

HATTIESBURG SAYS 'TAINT SO AND IT'S TRUE, THERE'S NOTHING TO IT AFTER ALL

(Hattiesburg, Miss., News.)
This cantonment matter is such a big thing, we will have to take several trays at it. Most of us no doubt have been looking at it through narrow glasses; with lenses that converge to one center—the city of Hattiesburg. But it is a sight bigger thing than that. It is as big a thing for South Mississippi as it is for Hattiesburg. It will give to all this section of the state that most needed of all things—wide publicity.
There is a great prejudice against Mississippi. Not a mean prejudice, but a mistaken prejudice. General Wood, traveled and able and fair man that he is, was prejudiced against this section before he came to see it. He said so. He thought the land was low and flat and swampy; that the air fairly buzzed with the song of the pesky mosquito. He had no thought of locating a camp anywhere near here when he came. But he saw, and was conquered; and like wise men often do, he changed his mind, and like a brave man, he made the amende honorable by putting Hattiesburg on the map.
Now, if General Wood could be so mistaken, we can readily understand how "the common herd" could be mistaken, and how that general mistake should grow into a prejudice hurtful to this part of the state.
The boys who will be leaving Kentucky and Indiana soon, and their parents are doubtless imbued with that same mistake. They think they are coming into a swarm of mosquitoes and a malaria-ridden district; a low, level, swampy country. They will be agreeably surprised when they get here. When they get out to Camp Crawford, and pitch their tents on an elevation that will give them a view as beautiful as any they have ever seen outside the matchless blue grass region of old Kentucky, and when they meet a breeze, an almost constant, steady breeze from the gulf to fan their cheeks; and drink the purest, clearest water they ever tasted in their lives, from flowing artesian wells, they will write back home a new and almost unbelievable story to their fond and anxious parents, and the stories they tell will find their way into the newspapers, and thousands and tens of thousands of people will have their eyes opened as to what South Mississippi actually is.
And they will come and see and be conquered, just as General Wood was. And they will find our people as hospitable as our climate is inviting. And the smell of the pine forest, mixed with that of the magnolia, will be sweet to them. And they will find as many satsuma oranges growing here as there are apples in Indiana, and every little way they may rest themselves under the enveloping shade of a soft-shell pecan tree.
We have been trying to tell the world this these many years, but they thought we had land to sell or something to boost, and they would not listen. But they know their own sons have nothing to sell, and when the message comes back home from them, all of Kentucky and Indiana and the middle west will sit up and take notice; and the next thing you know some of them will be coming down here to see for themselves; and when they come they will stay and live among us and help us develop this section of great resources; because we sure have got the goods.
Think of the publicity thirty thousand letters a week will give to this section. Think of the amount of prejudice and misinformation their plain, unvarnished tales will dispel.
That's just one of the things this cantonment means and one of the things it will do for all of South Mississippi. And Hattiesburg is glad that its effect and good results will reach out so far; because, even from a selfish standpoint, whatever helps South Mississippi helps Hattiesburg. Come on, boys; lots of Kentuckians and not a few Indians already down here, and a hearty, royal, southern welcome awaits you.

it doesn't thrive on a cold body and an empty belly.

(London Chronicle.)
Mystery still surrounds the "special mission" which Lord Northcliffe has undertaken to America. The official announcement was misleading, the Northcliffe press interpretation of it inaccurate and the explanations of ministers inconsistent. In the meantime one of his lordship's interests (if not objects) in the "special mission" is being achieved, it and he are talked about. Lord Northcliffe is not going to hide his light under a bushel, either on this side or the other. Few of the American papers have shown much interest in his mission or expressed sympathy with him but he has his own press agents at work.
The statements about his activities which are being cabled from America for his own newspapers bear the impress of the publicity agent, which shows that his lordship has taken his court newsmen with him. We hope that, whatever his mission may be, he will render a service to his country, but if he aspires (as the Northcliffe press assumes) to be the "successor of Mr. Balfour," he should try and emulate one of Mr. Balfour's chief characteristics.

Mrs. John Wessel and family, of St. Martin's street, went to Rome City this morning, where they will occupy a cottage for two weeks.
Wallen residents are considerably disturbed over the mysterious disappearance of Henry Meinhardt, a blacksmith of that village. The man left home Thursday morning last, since which time nothing has been heard from him.
Louis Weyer, who will be recalled as a former clerk in Dreier Brothers' drug store, but who later held a position with Lord, Owen & Co.'s drug house, Chicago, has returned from a ten months' trip to Arizona, California and New Mexico. When he left here his health was broken down, but the trip has built him up and made him a new man.
Last night a Sentinel reporter visited Huntington, the old home of Oscar Strayer, who, it is alleged, is the slayer of John Johnson, in the bloody tragedy which occurred on Creighton avenue, in this city, on Tuesday night. The reporter met James Strayer, Oscar's only brother, who was terribly shocked to learn of the affair. He said that while Oscar was of a quarrelsome disposition and had many fist fights, he was never known to carry a dirk, revolver or any other dangerous weapon.

FATHEADS OF SENATE PREPARE OWN DOOM

(By N. D. COCHRAN.)
All over this country men, women and children are patriotically doing their best to help President Wilson conserve the food supply of the country.
They are doing their bit without a murmur.
Fathers and mothers are giving their boys to the army and navy—to fight to make the world safe for democracy. They are figuring at the family council table how to live and still pay the grocer and butcher.
And down here in Washington a lot of fat-head senators are backing and filling, stewing and stalling, puttering and piddling over darned fool amendments to a bill that would enable the president to bring down the cost of living within speaking distance of wages.
There is no difference between democrats and republicans. That's bunk. It's merely a difference between men.
It isn't love for democracy, love for humanity, or anything of the kind that makes them putter with the food control bill. It can't be anything but the powerful influence of profit mongers who want to make money out of this war.

They are not satisfied with peace profits. They want war profits. They want war profits out of steel, coal, food and everything the government needs for the army and navy, and everything the people have to have in order to live.
They want our boys to cross the ocean, taking chances of being sunk by German submarines, and to give up their lives on the bloody fields of Belgium and France.
They want the people to be patriotic and patriotically welcome compulsory military service. And yet, at the same time, these food and business hogs want to make money out of it. They're blind. They're ignorant. They are not smart enough to see that the people won't stand for that kind of a game.
They don't seem to realize that the next move will be an overwhelming demand that the government—the people's government—take over the coal mines, the packing and cold storage plants, the grain elevators, the steel mills, the ship yards, the factories and anything else that may be necessary to make patriotism take no thought of profit and fight our own people while we're making the world safe for democracy.
Patriotism is a noble emotion, but

MAKING LIFE HAPPY FOR THE SOLDIERS

Sentimental Young Ladies Write Tender Notes to Training Heroes.

Indianapolis, July 20.—Efforts of Indianapolis women to provide entertainment for the student officers from West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, and soldiers at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near here, have been given a more or less chilly reception by the army officers in charge of the camp, and Brigadier General Edwin F. Glenn, in command of the 11,000 men at the fort in three words has told the women what to do. He said, "Leave them alone." The advice was given to the women at a meeting held to discuss what to do to entertain the candidates and soldiers. General Glenn was invited to give suggestions. His advice was unexpected. General Glenn also has been conducting for some time a campaign to keep young women and girls without chaperons from the camp.

Although the efforts of the commanding officers along that line have met with some success, as yet no ways have been devised to keep women and girls from writing to the student officers. Every day hundreds of letters are received by the young men from women they never heard of before. Most of the letters are of the so-called romantic type, but occasionally one of a different kind is received.

The objection of letter writing to soldiers at the training camps, in the opinion of the commanding officers, is confined to missives from emotional sentimental women and girls and not all of the offenders against propriety are young women. Little or no objection is made to clean, wholesome letters devoid of sentimentality or reference to the personality of the writer and her wish to meet the soldier recipient of the letter. "Soft" Ones Circulated. The young woman writers evidently do not know what the men do with the letters. One of the favorite pastimes of the candidates, and one which provides them much amusement, is reading the letters they consider especially "soft" to their comrades, and comparing them. Following are some of the types of letters:

Dear Mr. —: I saw your name in a newspaper and picked it out because I liked it. We girls in this town are so lonesome, and I do want to be a real friend with some fine, big man who is a soldier. There aren't any soldiers here. I am 23 years old, five feet, four inches tall and a brunette, and my friends tell me I am, at least, not ugly. Are you married or engaged? I am not. If you are, or if you do not want to write to me, will you give this letter to some other man? I will send you my picture if you write to me. Yours hopefully,

The letter was from a girl in a small Indiana town.

All of the letters, however, are not from Indiana girls. Many come from far distant states. How the names of the students become known to the writers has been more or less a mystery.

Another Sample of Them. I love mainly soldiers. I just think they are grand. But we don't see many here. Maybe some time I could come to Fort Harrison on a Sunday. I've been told I look like (naming a well known motion picture star) and I got curls that come down around my shoulders. Are you tall? I like either blondes or brunettes. Do you? I am blonde. I have a girl chum that is writing to another fellow, maybe you know him. Wouldn't it be nice if we could all meet at Fort Harrison some Sunday? Are you going with any girl steady? I am sending you a small picture of myself, but it's not very good of me. Please write to me right away, because I am so lonesome, and I want some soldier to think of me when he is fighting for his country. Some of the letters are if different tones, and evidently are from girls of refinement and dignity. What the candidates call the "romantic stuff" is lacking. One man at the camp has each week been receiving a letter and a pack of cigarettes, or some other little gift from a girl in Texas. After the first gift he wrote her telling her he did not wish the gifts. She replied:

I am not sending them to you, Mr. —. I am sending them to one of Uncle Sam's soldiers. It gives me pleasure to do this, and I am sending similar packs to one man in each of the training camps. When the war is over, or when you, for any reason, take off your uniform, you will, in your own proper person, receive no more cigarettes from —.

Let the Boys Alone. In speaking to women who have asked him "what can we do for the soldiers," General Glenn said, "My answer is—here at home—let him alone. The American soldier when let alone, is the most peaceful and uncomplaining animal in the world. You don't think much of him in time of peace, but in time of war you fall over yourselves to do something for him—you don't know what it is, but it is pretty certain to be bad for him. I've got 11,000 of them out there at the camp—enlisted men and student officers, as well as 3,000 workmen. Please, please, don't send them things to eat—they have all they want. We are doing the very best we can for these boys, and we are going to give them, and your boys—the boys these student officers will command—a sporting chance, and that is all anybody can ask."

General Glenn told the women that when the troops went abroad that was a different matter, and then good reading matter, newspapers, books and magazines would be acceptable, as well as small comforts the government does not provide.

Among these little comforts, General Glenn suggested that the women might supply the soldiers, when they go abroad, with needles, thread and thimble. "But I never learned to use one of those things myself," added the general, referring to thimbles. Advice to trust the Y. M. C. A., and Red Cross in providing diversion for the soldiers also was given by General Glenn.

SOCIETY

At a beautiful party enjoyed by about a dozen of her most intimate friends, Miss Ruth Knapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Knapp, of Wells street, announced her approaching marriage to Michael Tili, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tili, which will take place on August 9th. The party was given on Tuesday evening, and there were two out-of-town guests present, Miss Lucille Dierhart, of Lafayette, and Miss Katherine Harle of Rome City. The house was beautifully decorated in the colors of yellow and white, and the supper table with its yellow and white centerpieces, and also individual flowers at each place, made a fitting setting for the company of young girls seated at it. The supper was exquisite, the place cards told the little story concerning the hostess, as she received all the good wishes and pretty congratulations the company could think of to give. A game of progressive bridge was enjoyed before the supper, and Miss Katherine Michelson won the prize.

Mrs. L. A. Rose, of Chicago, is receiving frequent social attention from her many friends during her visit here. The hostesses are considering particular friends of Mrs. Rose in their invitations and the parties have been small ones. Mrs. George Waldschmidt invited a dozen ladies to play auction on Tuesday afternoon and in the evening there was a gathering of eight at the home of Mrs. W. W. Bogart. There will be other similar gatherings this week.

Miss Ethel Soanoy, of South Calhoun street, is visiting relatives in Muncie for a week.

Miss Caroline Averill, of West Berry street, is the guest of friends at Lake George.

Mrs. B. J. Rice, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting Mrs. Amos J. Marty, of East Lewis street.

Miss Velma Pfeil has returned from a visit in Wabash with relatives and friends.

Mrs. B. J. Rice, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting Mrs. Amos J. Marty, 505 East Lewis street.

Miss Virginia Cary, of West Berry street, has returned from a visit in eastern states.

Mrs. Stephen Trentman, of Oregon, Ill., is visiting relatives and friends here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Schlefer and their guest, Mrs. L. A. Rose, spent the day in Indianapolis, on Wednesday.

Mrs. George H. Koons, of Grand Rapids, is visiting her mother, Mrs. George Batzler, of West Wayne street.

Miss Winifred Ellingham, of West Wayne street, is in Winchester, visiting her grandmother, Mrs. A. O. Marsh.

Mrs. Frank Tolman and Miss Martha Tolman are going to Chicago the latter part of this week for a few days' visit.

Miss Mary Eunice Eaton, of Brackridge street, has gone to Wolf Lake to visit relatives for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Evans and daughter, Susanne, of Union street, have gone to Cincinnati to visit relatives for several days.

Mrs. W. M. McKinnin and family are expected home the latter part of this week from New York city, making the trip by motor.

Misses Cella and Pet Foley, of West Jefferson street, have started on a western trip to Yellowstone park and California points.

Mrs. Edgar Bell and son, Richmond, of Milwaukee, are guests of Mrs. A. L. Ringwalt. Mrs. Bell was formerly Miss Clara Greer, of this city.

Mrs. Julia B. Putnam has returned here after an absence of five months, making visits in Fredonia, New York and Niagara Falls and Cleveland, O.

Mrs. N. H. Durnell, of 1311 East Creighton avenue, will entertain for Mrs. George Martin, of New York, and her niece, Miss Elsie Hall, of Chicago, on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Creighton Williams and children are at Northport, Mich., for the summer. Mr. Williams has just returned from the Point.

Misses Elsie and Anna Wolfson, Martha Seid, Georgia Rice, Hattie Rehorst and Eva Clark, chaperoned by Mrs. Ethel Edsall, are to form a house party at Clear Lake next week.

Mrs. George Rogers, of Chicago, has returned home after a visit here with her mother, Mrs. Julia Larimore and other relatives. Mrs. Larimore has gone to Frederickburg and Millersburg, Ohio, to visit relatives.

Mrs. Della Paul Kimmel has returned from a five weeks' visit in Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis. Mrs. Kimmel was accompanied home by Miss Carrie Feuerbacher, of Springfield, who will visit here.

Miss Irma Compert, Miss Constance Bogart and Kenneth Crighton are going to motor to Lake Wawasee on Friday, to be guests of Melvin Weaver, at the M. G. Beaver cottage where Mrs. Weaver is spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harding, accompanied by their sister and her husband and daughter, who are Mr. and Mrs. Emory Wilson and Mary Jane Wilson, of Cleveland, have returned from Clear Lake and two visits in Decorah with parents of Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Wilson.

Members of the Federation of Industrial clubs which include the girls of the Dudo, the General Electric, the Boss Grove, Wayne Knitting, the Perfection Biscuit companies and the Busy Bees or Houseworkers' club enjoyed a picnic on Wednesday evening. First a trolley ride and then to Lakeside park where refreshments were served were the features of the outing, which everyone enjoyed.

A pretty party was given at the home of Elmer Brown, of Brown street, in honor of Charles Null, a member of Company E, on Tuesday evening. Games and music furnished by a victrola were special pleasures, though there were more visiting with the honor guest than time for amusements, as Mr. Null expects to be called soon to serve in the army. An excellent supper was served later in the evening. There were present Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Myrtle Garman, Miss Florence Sarasin, Miss Elsie Delegrange, Miss Irene Murphy, Miss Agnes Harber, Miss Mabel Holt-ray, Miss Ruth Schon, Miss Ruth Wald, Miss Esther Harber, Miss Ruth Garman, Miss Mildred Harber and Messrs. George Henschen, Oat Sibers, Ray Pike, Frank Frowmish, Henry Nicholson, Earl Anderson, George Martin, Eddie Fress and Herbert Brown.

Thelma—Cloy. Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Thelme have recently been apprised of the marriage of Miss Anna Mary Cloy, of Huntington, to their son, Robert, which took place on March 17. Mr. Thelme is in the aviation training camp at Champaign, Ill., and Mrs. Thelme for the present is in Chicago.

Non-Partisan League. Central section of the Non-Partisan league has postponed its next meeting to August 2, on account of the chautauqua, this week.

Cartwright Family Reunion. The fourth annual reunion of the Cartwright family was held on Sunday, July 15, in Swinney park and between seventy and eighty representatives of the family were present to enjoy the day. A big basket dinner, an excellent program, much family visiting and exchanging of news and the election of officers for the family society were the order of the day. The officers for the ensuing year are: Dr. J. W. Cartwright, of Payne, O., president; Mrs. D. O. Young, vice president; Mrs. M. Kaufman, secretary; Charles Cartwright, treasurer. The next gathering will be held in July, 1918.

HAMBURG LOAF. One-half pound hamburger steak, three cups cold boiled rice, two tablespoons grated onion, two tablespoons salt, one teaspoonful parsley, one teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful Worcestershire sauce, two tablespoons cornmeal, one tablespoonful drippings. Mix the meat, rice, onion and seasonings together; brush small tube or brick pan with drippings, sprinkle with cornmeal and put the mixture in pan, smooth top and sprinkle with cornmeal; bake thirty to thirty-five minutes; turn on to hot platter and put cooked new peas around the loaf. Bread crumbs can be used instead of rice—in that case use one cup of cream sauce with the crumbs.

Best of Food Needed by Men on Shipboard (By IDA M'GLONE GIBSON.) Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, paymaster general of the navy, was standing at his window watching a flag floating over a nearby building at Washington.

As I entered he turned and greeted me with a distant look in his eyes, as though he had been in dreams sailing with a fleet to foreign shores.

"It makes a sailor crazy," he said, "to be tied to an office chair when his country is going into war."

"But you have your work out for you, admiral," I said.

"Yes," he answered somewhat ruefully, as his eyes wandered to the waving flag once more.

"No fighting man in the whole army is as snickly about his food as the jackie. Of course there is good reason for this, as meals are about the only pleasure sailors have and when they are afloat they get very lonesome. They have to be well fed first. Brave men are like cowards when they are hungry."

"The American fighting man eats more vegetables than the fighting man of any other country. Last year the navy ate 24,423,000 pounds of fresh vegetables, 4,215,000 pounds of canned vegetables and 331,400 pounds of dried vegetables, against 15,375,000 pounds of fresh meat, 2,210,000 pounds of preserved meat and 1,141,900 pounds of smoked meat."

"It costs us this year about 42 cents a day for food per man. We use no patent or experimental foods."

"I will be glad to tell that to the housewives enrolled in the woman's army against waste," I said.

The admiral smiled and added: "You can tell your army we know what it means to keep men good natured because they like their food. Any sailor on any ship in the navy is allowed to make any criticism of the food he wishes and it is investigated carefully."

Iceless Boxes Keep Food Cool

(BY BIDDY BAY.)

The kitchen need not lack a cooler if one has no ice box. A device, commonly known as an "iceless refrigerator," is based on the principle of evaporation.

A frame holding shelves for food is entirely covered with cotton or duck. The upper part of this cloth touches the water in a pan, and the water soaks through the entire cover. As it spreads it evaporates or is taken up by the air. Constant evaporation lowers the temperature within the "refrigerator" ten or fifteen degrees below that of the surrounding atmosphere.

Separate dishes of food can be cooled in the same way. For instance, butter can be kept hard in hot weather without ice by setting the dish under a cloth, the ends of which are placed in a pan of water. In the same way, evaporation will lower the temperature enough to keep milk sweet on a hot day. Some housewives simply wet the cloth from time to time, but it is better to put an end of the cloth in water where it acts exactly like a wick.

A simple and effective "cold cellar" may be made by sinking a ten-gallon garbage can, new and clean, in the ground up to a few inches from the top. The earth should be banked up around the edge to prevent water from running in. A slanting roof, or waterproof top completes this cellar.

A shady place should be chosen, preferably on the north side of the house, or beneath a tree. Fruit and vegetables stored in this will keep fresh without extra precaution, but meat, butter and cooked foods should be carefully boxed to protect them from ants. Borax packed around the outer edge of the can will also keep ants away. Some housewives suspend the food from the end of a rod, just as pioneer women hung food in a well.

Dairy Butter is Often What It Should Not Be

Every housewife should know what are not only best but the cheapest fats to use on her table. A number of substitutes for butter are cheap and clean and nourishing.

"Personally," said a housekeeper recently, "I like oleomargarine better than the renovated article that sometimes masquerades as dairy butter."

The housewife should know dairy butter is butter carefully made from cream kept a certain number of days until it acquires the right degree of sourness, and then salted and cooled and kept refrigerated until sold.

Not one pound in twenty of the "dairy" butter sold will measure up to these requirements. Renovated butter is made of country butter, some sweet and some rancid, some made from cream kept the required number of days and some made from over-sour cream.

All kinds and conditions of butter go into the renovated butter vat and are melted together, and the curd and brine drawn off and air blown violently through the fat that remains to take away the rancid odor. Milk is then added and it is churned and sold as fresh butter.

Oleomargarine is made from cotton seed oil, beef fat and a little lard. This is mixed with milk and churned as butter. To find whether your grocer is selling you what you ask for, take a large cooking spoon and put some of the so-called dairy butter in it, hold it over heat and stir with a wooden splinter until it boils rapidly.

If it foams freely and boils quietly it is genuine butter. If it sputters considerably and foams but little it is renovated butter. If it sputters profusely and does not foam it is oleomargarine.

The careful housewife will train her family to eat buttered bread at dinner when there are always enough fats in the gravies and meats for a balanced ration.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE. Four tablespoonful lemon juice, one teaspoonful grated lemon rind, one cup sugar, pinch of salt, two cupfuls water, two eggs, one tablespoonful butter, two rounded tablespoonfuls cornstarch. Put water on to boil; mix cornstarch with cold water; add sugar, salt and the yolks of eggs; beat all well together and add slowly to the boiling water; boil fifteen minutes, add lemon juice and rind. Pour into well-baked crust at once. When cooled beat the whites of eggs until dry with two tablespoonfuls granulated sugar; spread on lemon, rough with fork; dust with pulverized sugar liberally; place in cool oven until dry and light brown. One must remember that there is a difference in beating the whites of eggs: when beaten until dry it will not get watery on either meringue or pudding.

MAKE NEW COLLAR WHEN ONE ON SHIRT IS WORN

When the collar on a negligee shirt wears out cut enough from flaps to make a new collar, sew on plain colored flaps and your shirt is good as new.

To brighten the nickel on your stove or teakettle wet a cloth with kerosene and rub over the nickel. Takes grease off stove after frying meats. Useful in many ways. Wipe up oilcloth with kerosene—gives it a much brighter appearance.

Gay Chintz Slip for the Children

MISS CYNTHIA PRATT

Chintzes and gorgeous flowered prints which seem to have been designed solely for house decorations have been taken over by the designers of children's garments. And it needs but a passing glance at this snapshot of little Cynthia Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas B. Pratt, to convince all doubters that the old fancy is charming. Moreover it has the great advantage of delighting all youthful wearers. "How pretty," they say. And everybody agrees.

REFLECTOR TAKEN UP MOUNTAIN TO PHOTOGRAPH WONDERS OF SKY.

The famous Hooker reflector up Mt. Wilson, where it will be installed in the Carnegie observatory for use in new scientific research.

Anonymous letters had been received by observatory officials threatening the destruction of the huge mirror. Three armed guards watched the reflector on the circuitous trip up the mountain, and 200 spectators and a regiment of photographers followed the ascent.

The reflector, a gift of E. L. Hooker of Los Angeles, cost $50,000 and is the largest in the world, being 100 inches in diameter and 13 inches thick. It weighs four and a half tons. The rough cast was made in St. Gobain, France, in 1905. The glass was brought to Pasadena in 1909. Grinding the mirror began in 1911.

Scientists hope to reveal new celestial wonders when the new mirror is installed. According to Dr. W. S. Adams, in charge of the observatory in the absence of Dr. George Ellery Hale, now in Washington, the reflector will be in commission by September.

HOW TO KEEP WHAT YOU HAVE RAISED

Points on Natural Winter Storage of Vegetables in the Home.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—In order that householders may utilize spare time during this summer to put their cellars in shape for the winter storage of the surplus vegetables which will be grown on the home gardens that have been planted this year, or that they may make plans for other methods of natural storage, the United States department of agriculture has prepared the following discussion on the storing of vegetables:

Home Storage of Vegetables.
To those persons fortunate enough to possess land for the growing of vegetables sufficient in quantity for the needs of the family, storage is an economic necessity. Likewise it is an economic necessity to grow vegetables to store. A half acre garden should produce far more vegetables than the average family can consume during the maturing period of the crops. Only a small portion of the garden should be planted to those vegetables which must be used as soon as they reach maturity. The remainder should be devoted to crops that are to be canned, dried, or stored. It is comparatively easy to keep by storing such vegetables as potatoes, beets, carrots, parsnips, salsify, turnips, cabbage, celery, onions, sweet potatoes, dry beans and dry lima beans. Some of the crops may be stored in the cellar under the dwelling, in pits or banks, or in caves or outdoor cellars. Others can be kept in any dry place such as the pantry or attic.

The Storage Room in the Basement.
Many houses are heated by a furnace in the cellar. The pipes are as a rule carried under the joist, thus warming the cellar to some extent. For this reason it is best to partition off a small room in one corner of the cellar to serve as a storage room for potatoes, beets, carrots, parsnips, salsify and turnips. If possible, this room should have at least one window for the purpose of regulating the temperature. The floor should not be concrete, as the natural earth makes better conditions for the keeping of vegetables. Bins may be constructed for the various products, or they may be stored in boxes, baskets or barrels. This room will also serve as a storage place for fresh fruits and canned goods. The vegetables to be stored should be harvested when the ground is dry, allowed to lie on the surface long enough for the moisture to dry off before placing them in storage. The tops should be removed from beets, turnips, carrots and salsify before placing them in storage.

Outdoor Pits or Banks.
Outdoor pits or banks are very generally used for keeping potatoes, beets, carrots, turnips, parsnips, cabbage and salsify. Select a well drained location and make a shallow excavation, some six or eight inches deep, and of suitable size. This is lined with straw, leaves or similar material, and the vegetables placed in a conical pile on the material. The vegetables are then covered with straw or similar material, and finally with earth to a depth of several inches. The depth of the earth covering is determined by the severity of the winters in the particular locality. It is well to cover the pits with straw, corn fodder or manure during severe weather. Such pits keep the above vegetables very well, but have the objection that it is hard to get the material out in cold weather, and where the pit is once opened it is desirable to remove the entire contents. For this reason several small pits rather than one large one should be constructed so that the entire contents may be removed at one time. Instead of storing each crop in a pit by itself, it is better to place several vegetables of similar keeping quality and requirement in the same pit, so that it will only be necessary to open one pit to get a supply of all of them. In storing several crops in the same pit it is a good plan to separate them with straw, leaves or other material. The vegetables from the small pit may be placed in the basement storage room where they can be easily secured as needed for the table.

Cabbage may be stored in a special kind of bank or pit. The excavation is made long and narrow and about the same depth as for the other vegetables. The cabbages are pulled and placed in rows in the pit with the heads down and roots up. The whole is covered with dirt, no straw or litter need be used. These pits are made as long as desired, as it is possible to remove portions of the stored product without disturbing the remainder. Cabbage need not be covered as deeply as potatoes, as slight freezing does not injure the cabbage. The heads of cabbage are sometimes stored in banks or pits in a manner similar to potatoes, turnips, etc. This method is open to the same objection as when it is used for potatoes; it is hard to get at the material when it is needed. Another method of storing cabbage consists in setting the whole plant in trenches side by side with the roots down and as close together as they can be placed. Dirt is thrown over the roots and against the stalks to the depth of several inches. A low fence is built around the storage place and rails, scantling, or other supports laid across the top. About two feet of straw or other material is then piled on top of the storage pit.

Celery may be stored in a modified type of outside pit, or in the row where it is grown. When stored in a pit or trench the plants are taken up and set side by side in a shallow pit as close together as it is feasible to pack them, and wide boards set up along the outside of the pit. Dirt is banked against these boards, and the top covered over with corn fodder or similar material. When celery is kept in the row where it is grown the earth is banked up around the plants as the weather gets cold. When freezing weather occurs the dirt should be brought to the tops of the plants and the ridge covered with coarse manure, straw or fodder, held in place by means of stakes or boards.

Outdoor Caves or Cellars.
Outdoor caves or cellars are superior to banks or pits in many respects. They require no more labor to store the vegetables than an indoor cellar, yet give a uniform and low temperature during the entire year. They possess practically all the advantages of the bank or pit, yet may be entered at any time during the winter for the removal of any portion of the stored product without endangering the keeping quality of the material that remains. These storage cellars are usually made partially under ground, although in the southern portion of the country they are usually entirely above ground. In sections where severe freezing occurs it is well to have the cellar partially under ground. In order to avoid steps down to the level of the floor, with the consequent extra labor in storing and removing the vegetables, a side hill location is desirable for the cellar. An excavation is made into the hill of the approximate size of the cellar. The dirt from this excavation may be used for covering the roof and for banking against the sides of the structure. A frame should be erected by setting posts in rows in the bottom of the pit near the dirt walls, sawing these off at a uniform height, placing plates on top of the posts, and erecting rafters on these plates. The whole should be boarded up on the outside of the posts, with the exception of the space for a door in one end. The space for a door, except the door, is covered with dirt and soil. The thickness of the covering will be determined by the location. The colder the climate, the thicker the covering. The dirt covering may be supplemented by a layer of manure, straw, corn fodder, etc., in winter time. Outdoor cellars are usually left with dirt floors as a certain amount of moisture is desirable. These cellars may also be made of concrete, brick, stone or other material.

Such cellars are to be found in many sections of the country, and provide almost ideal storage facilities for potatoes, beets, turnips, carrots, parsnips, salsify and celery.

Irish Potatoes.
Irish potatoes can be stored in pits, root cellars or above ground, frost-proof storage warehouses. Small quantities or even carload lots of potatoes are often placed in pits in the field when other storage facilities are not available. Immature potatoes can not be successfully stored for any considerable period even in the best of storages and should never be pitted or buried. Well matured tubers of either early or late sorts, if sound and in a dormant condition upon the advent of freezing weather in the autumn, may be kept until required for table use or for planting by pitting, storing in potato cellars, or in above-ground, frost-proof buildings. The commercial storage of Irish potatoes is discussed in farmers' bulletin 847, entitled, "Potato Storage and Storage Houses."

Sweet Potatoes.
Sweet potatoes should be thoroughly matured before harvesting, dug while the ground is dry, carefully handled, and thoroughly cured by holding them at a temperature of 80 to 85 degrees F., for a week or ten days after harvesting. After this they should be stored in a place where the temperature remains in the neighborhood of 55 degrees F. Such a location is usually near the furnace in the cellar, or near the furnace chimney on the second floor of the house. There is little merit in wrapping them in paper or burying them in sand. Sweet potatoes are stored in outdoor pits or banks but this method is not to be recommended except where no other facilities are available. Sweet potatoes stored in pits are not as good in quality as those stored in houses. For further information on storing sweet potatoes write for farmers' bulletin No. 548.

Onions.
Onions should be well matured before harvesting, and should be allowed to become thoroughly dry before being stored. They may be put up in baskets, crates, or bags, and placed in a cool dry place. The attic is better than the unheated cellar for storing onions. Temperatures slightly below the freezing point do not injure them, provided they are not moved or handled while frozen. The commercial storage of onions is briefly discussed in farmers' bulletin No. 354.

Beans, Peas and Other Dried Products.
Such vegetables as may be kept in the dry state should be grown to as great an extent as possible. Various kinds of beans, including lima beans, should be allowed to dry on the vines. Lima beans should be gathered as they mature, and placed in a warm dry place until dry enough to shell.

Beans, peas and kidney beans are usually harvested when a maximum number of pods are mature and before the ripest pods open and the vines cured like hay, after which they are threshed or shelled. Peas are handled in the same way as navy beans. After the beans and peas are threshed or shelled they should be placed in bags and hung in some dry place, such as a closet or attic. Dried corn, dried apples, peaches, apricots, raspberries, etc., may be stored in the same manner. All dried products should be protected against insects, rodents and dirt.

WAR DEBRIS A PROBLEM.

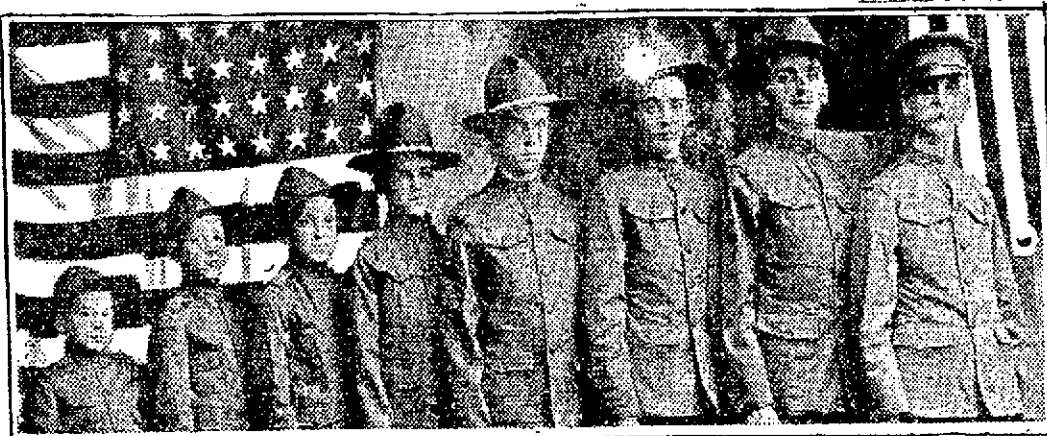

Lyons, France, July 20.—The debris of war has accumulated to such an extent in France that the government has decided to begin disposing of it without waiting for the end of hostilities. A commission has been appointed to inventory all the materials and equipment that have been discarded by the army and navy, to classify them and ascertain how they may be sold to the best advantage. The commission is asked to determine where the second-hand material may be used to best facilitate the economic revival in France after the war.

By FREDERICK M. KERBY.

Jersey City, N. J., July 19.—The whole Mezey family is eager to fight! Their blood is Hungarian, but every man, jack, and woman-jane of them, from short pants to white-bearded father, is pulling night and day for Uncle Sam.

If there is another family in the United States which can equal in patriotism Ernest Mezey's, Jersey City folk would like names and addresses. Mezey is 56. He has been a naturalized citizen of the United States twenty-three years, and has brought up a family of fifteen children, seven sons and eight daughters, to put the land of his adoption FIRST in their thoughts. Every son is a member of some military organization, and every daughter is a member of the Red Cross.

"When war was declared," said Mezey, "I wrote President Wilson, offering the services of myself and fifteen children. The president was kind enough to thank me. Now, we are ready for duty."

Mezey's oldest son, Ernest, 34, has been for three years a member of the New Jersey national guard. The next two sons, Fred, 18, and Oscar, 16, are members of Battery C, Second field artillery, New York national guard. Charlie, 15, is in Dickinson High military company, and the three youngest boys, Louis 14, Albert 12 and Alex 10, are boy scouts. All intend to join Uncle Sam's military forces "as soon as I am old enough." The daughters, married, are working for the American Red Cross.

"I have been in this country so long," said Mezey, "that any interests I might have had in Austria-Hungary long ago ceased to exist. All of us are for the United States of America first, last and all the time!"

MEXICO TAXES MATCHES MORE.

Mexico City, July 20.—A tax of 20 per cent. of the original selling price was placed on matches in Mexico July 1. This is in the form of a stamp tax, stamps to be affixed to each carton by the manufacturer. To protect the match industry a tax of one peso import duty has been placed on each metal lighter brought into Mexico after July 31. The metal lighters, most of which operate on the old flint and steel principle, are widely used in Mexico and are manufactured in foreign countries.

BALL CLUB TO HELP BATTERY

Proceeds from Sale of Booster Tickets Will Be Donated.

PROMINENT WOMEN AGREE TO ASSIST

Local Company is Badly in Need of Money to Meet Current Expenses.

With a very commendable spirit, the Fort Wayne Base Ball association has risen to the occasion and will very materially assist Battery B's company fund. The officers have very kindly offered to donate the proceeds of the sale of "Booster" tickets to the local artillery unit. The sale of the tickets will commence on Monday, and will be handled by several young ladies of this city, under the chaperonage of a number of ladies who have consented to act as patronesses for Battery B.

Seeing what other cities have done for their batteries, Indianapolis with a fund of over $3,000, and Lafayette with nearly $2,500, local friends of the boys got busy last Wednesday afternoon with the above results. These tickets will be good for any game next week and as some good teams are scheduled all will get their money's worth. On several days added features will enliven the program.

The majestic theater management has donated the use of that place for headquarters and Mr. John Essig will superintend the placing of the tickets. A meeting of all the ladies in the city who are willing to assist in the sale will be held at this place on Friday afternoon at 3:30 to perfect plans and complete the organization. It is hoped that a large number of the ladies of the city, particularly the young ladies, will attend this meeting and assist in this very worthy cause. Already assistance has been promised from the girls of the Red Cross, several of the Ladies' Auxiliaries of G. A. R., Union Veteran legion, Sons of Veterans, Spanish War veterans, King's Daughters and railroad organizations. A number of the individual workers have made the campaigns for the help of the boys, St. Joseph and Lutheran hospitals such a success, have promised their aid and will attend the meeting.

Need and Use of Fund. That a company fund is one of the very valuable assets of a military company is well known by all who have served or who have studied military conditions. This is doubly true of the local command, as it is practically a volunteer organization, with no funds to start with. The Commercial club extended aid to recruiting the local units to the fullest extent of their resources. When this was exhausted about six weeks ago, the work was taken up by the men and officers of the battery at their own expense and at considerable sacrifice on their part. At that time Battery B had secured about 73 members. Today they have over 150 accepted by the medical ex-

Boveine is one of the youngest boys to enlist from Fort Wayne. He entered into the service on February 28 and has been promoted after serving only five months, which is very unusual. He is now stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

PREDICTED TROUBLE THAT ROCKS RUSSIA

Minister of Justice Saw Outbreak of Bolsheviks Coming.

Stockholm, July 19.—Monday's events in Petrograd and the extent of armed disaffection were forecast nearly a month ago by M. Perevizeff, Russian minister of justice. In an interview with a correspondent of a Stockholm paper, he said: "I am convinced that the Bolshevik troops will soon carry their attack to a crisis, compared with which all their previous crimes will have been a mere trifle. When that day comes, and it will come soon, it will be time to make a final reckoning with this lawless element. We reckon that the Bolsheviks already have two machine gun regiments of desperate men who sleep with weapons beside their beds."

Monday's riots in connection with resignation of finance minister Shingareff, which is generally considered to indicate critical financial situation in Russia, caused a drop in the ruble exchange rate of four points to 69. Active Bolshevik propaganda work is being conducted here, especially among returning Russian emigrants by various agents of Socialist Lenin's faction, including especially two women. One of them accompanied Robert Grimm, the socialist internationalist and German agent, from Switzerland, through Germany, to Russia in May. He was expelled from Russia as a result of efforts on the part of the Germans to conclude a peace with Russia.

amined, with 18 on a list awaiting the examinations.

All proceeds over the actual expenses of the campaign will be turned over to Captain Harry Clark, commanding Battery B. Among the many things needed in camp to make the life of the men more comfortable are wash tubs, wash basins, lumber for tent floors, wire netting for screening kitchens and mess shacks, ticks to be filled with straw for the men to sleep on, etc. When it is considered that the allowance for "eats" is only an average of 39 cents per day it can very readily be seen that a few dollars to purchase vegetables, etc., is very acceptable.

As an example of the spirit of the men of the battery, it may be said that three of the non-commissioned officers of that unit have devoted their entire time for the past six weeks to recruiting work, with no remuneration for it, as the federal government does not start the pay of the men until after entrance into service. Printing, stationery, signs, etc., have also added to the expense.

It is believed that the public will be glad to assist the men who will bear the country's flag to France and that the response to the sale of tickets will be large. The patronesses for the battery are as follows:

Patronesses of Battery B. Mrs. J. M. McIvether, Mrs. Will Rohan, Mrs. A. S. Bond, Mrs. A. E. Pauve, Mrs. A. J. Detzer, Mrs. J. H. Gilpin, Mrs. Stephen Callahan, Mrs. Harry Hogan, Mrs. Arnold Tresselt, Mrs. Hal Rehner, Mrs. A. D. Zuber, Mrs. A. K. Rummel, Miss Florence Kemp, Miss Erma Henderson, Miss Alice Knight, Mrs. Charles E. Bond, Mrs. Austin Stultz, Mrs. E. H. Kilbourne, Mrs. Rose Sutton, Mrs. Elsie Dreihelb, Mrs. Dan Boers, Mrs. E. R. Lewis, Mrs. Levi A. Todd, Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Mrs. W. C. Cleary, Mrs. O. L. Bickel, Miss Louise Pixley, Mrs. Margaret Vesey, Miss Hulda Irmscher. Expect Call Soon.

Officers state that the mobilization call has been expected every day this week. It is their opinion that they will be at Fort Benjamin Harrison by the middle of next week. They also express the idea that a recruiting party will be sent back to Fort Wayne in order to recruit this organization to war strength. If the required number are not received in this manner the ranks will be filled up by draft.

An important drill of the battery will be held Thursday evening and all members are ordered to report at the court house at promptly 8 o'clock.

Recruiting work was at a standstill from 3:30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, giving the details an opportunity of attending the funeral and burial services of a comrade at Lindenwood.

Mobilize Aug. 5.

Adjutant General Smith has prepared a proclamation for issuance, drafting the entire Indiana national guard into federal service as of Aug. 5, in compliance with the order of President Wilson mobilizing the national guard of all states for war service. The call in Indiana will bring to the colors approximately 3,500 men (the number now enlisted in the guard) and more may be mobilized by Aug. 5 because of enlistments between now and then.

The proclamation is formal and based entirely on the president's call. General Smith said it would bring into federal service all organizations of the Indiana guard, which have been recognized by the federal government, regardless of whether the new units have been inspected by federal inspectors.

YOUNG VANDERBILT A PRIVATE.

New York, July 19.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., 19 years old, son of Col. Cornelius Vanderbilt, commanding officer of the Twenty-second engineers, has enlisted as a private in the field artillery section of the ammunition train at New York division. Young Vanderbilt is a grandson of Commodore Vanderbilt.

COMMITTEE FALTERS ON SALARY RAISE

Much Missionary Work Will Be Needed for Council Members.

The council committee may make a negative report on the petition to grant even a $1,800 salary for Carl Getz, city forester, and Charles J. Steels, secretary of the park commission. At the committee meeting Wednesday night it was admitted by two members of the council body that much missionary work will be necessary among the city fathers if any increase at all is allowed the park employees.

Members of the park board, who attended the Wednesday evening conference, stated that they believed Getz and Steels can be retained if paid $1,800 each, although Getz has said positively that only $2,000 will hold him as forester. Councilman Hartman and Schlebecker, who attended the joint meeting, are mildly in favor of allowing a slight raise for the park men in the August budget.

WILL EXPRESS SELVES.

Many Citizens Will Voice Street Paving Views.

A number of tax-paying citizens are expected to attend the board of works' meeting Thursday evening and to tell what kind of material they favor for paving the streets before their homes. Many citizens have expressed their sanction of the materials selected by the board of works members on Monday. Others do not want the coverings suggested by the board and will so state.

The materials which the board members have chosen are: Brick for Liberty, Ossage and Wall streets and bituminous concrete for Coombs, Grace, Garden, Kinnaird avenue, Lake avenue, Laselle, Wildwood avenue and Webster street.

ACCIDENT CASE WILL TEST STATE STATUTE

George Shigley Charged With Failure to Report Crash.

An array of attorneys will battle over word meanings in a thorough test of the state law when George Shigley, of Bluffton, is tried in city court on next Thursday on a charge of failing to report an accident. The state code states that a citizen must report a smash when he is responsible for the affair.

Who is to determine who is responsible for an accident? This is the question about which the legal warfare will be waged.

The accident occurred a week ago Saturday night. No police report was entered at the time, it is claimed. Shigley was driving an automobile which apparently ran wild, near the corner of Broadway and Taylor streets. In order to avoid a street car the man is said to have driven his automobile against a wagon and then up on the sidewalk.

A couple walking on the sidewalk were hit and injured. Miss Lueella Bencke, 1207 Taylor street, sustained a sprained ankle and Ino Decker, 1109 Barr street, had his hip fractured.

Many witnesses will be called in the case, including occupants of the street car and people residing near the scene of the accident. A part of the witnesses state that Shigley was intoxicated. Attorneys for the defendant asked that the case be continued from Thursday morning in order that they might have more time to prepare a defense.

In high explosives the British production is now sixty-six times what it was in January, 1915.

TEN MARKED HIGHWAYS

Fort Wayne Will Fare Well in System of Trails in Indiana.

TO ESTABLISH O. I. M. HIGHWAY SOON

Martin H. Luecke Named President of Details Committee.

Before the summer is over Fort Wayne is to have ten marked highways or trails leading in and out of the city which start somewhere and go somewhere.

The entire state will be marked with a comprehensive system of automobile trails, according to the plan which was adopted at a meeting of the State Automobile association held in Indianapolis. Martin H. Luecke, of Fort Wayne, was named president of the committee on details.

In the near future a meeting will be held in Fort Wayne for the establishment of one of these trails. This trail will be known as the O. I. M. way leading from Cincinnati, O., to Kalamazoo, Mich., and passing through Fort Wayne. Other points which will be taken in on this trail will be Richmond, Winchester, Portland, Decatur, Auburn, Kendallville and Sturgis.

The president of the chamber of commerce of Kalamazoo and the president of the automobile association of Cincinnati have endorsed the movement and have promised to assist in the realization of this plan.

These trails, which are to be laid out over the entire state, are to connect routes already marked and to be marked in adjoining states and to pass through practically every county set in the state. The plan is to have a distinctive marking painted on the telephone or telegraph poles along these trails.

Three after leaving same with the letter "I" or "R" signifying left or right on the first pole. Four poles at each crossroad and an occasional pole between the crossroads are also to be marked with the same emblem. The selection of the roads to be marked will be left to the judgment of the superintendent of highways and the automobile clubs along the routes.

Each one of the separate roads or trails will be marked with a different emblem and each trail will have the same emblem throughout its course. This will enable all travelers in automobiles to follow the routes with ease.

List of Trails.

The other trails which will pass through Fort Wayne or begin here are: The Lincoln highway, which has already been established and marked.

The Hoosier highway, which begins at Bryan, Ohio, and goes to Vincennes, Ind. It travels through the following cities: Fort Wayne, Bluffton, Hartford City, Muncie, Anderson, Indianapolis and points south.

The Wabash way, which travels from Fort Wayne to Danville, Ill., and takes in the following cities: Huntington, Wabash, Logansport, Lafayette, etc. This road follows the Wabash railroad and the Wabash river.

The Yellowstone trail begins at Portland, Oregon, and goes as far east as Puget Sound. The trail begins at Hammond and passes through Valparaiso, Plymouth, Columbia City, Fort Wayne, Defiance, Fremont and east of Puget Sound.

The Fort Wayne and Battle Creek route begins in this city and goes to Battle Creek by the way of Auburn, Angola and Coldwater.

One of the most important factors in the O. I. M. way, which will be one of the first to be established, is that two branches of the Dixie highway will be connected. It will connect an eastern route at Cincinnati and a western route at Kalamazoo, which will give travelers a direct route from the Ohio city to the Michigan city.

A. E. Nielsen, representative of the Rand McNally Co. of Chicago, was in the city Wednesday consulting with Mr. Luecke in regard to the system of trails. He also gave valuable information as he assisted in the establishing of trails throughout the state of Illinois. The plan is to have the trails of Indiana and Illinois connect as well as all other adjoining states.

After the trails have been established and properly marked a complete map of these trails and their markings will be put on the market so that it will be the easiest thing in the world for automobile tourists to find their way from one city to the other.

Fort Wayne by virtue of its location will profit greatly by this system of trails. In addition to being the center of some of the best and most traveled trails of the state, it will also be in the route of some of the heaviest traveled roads.

Not only will these trails bring thousands of tourists to the city every year, but they will be a great incentive in keeping the roads leading in and out of Fort Wayne in the best of condition.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IN PARIS.

Paris, July 19.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., arrived from New York today and was greeted by the prefect of the department in behalf of the French government. American naval and medical missions and a number of American ambulance workers also arrived on the same steamer.

To equip a British sailor takes nearly eight times as many workmen as are required to provide a soldier with all he needs in the way of munitions.

FIREMAN ANSWERS TO CUPID'S CALL

Heiny Guth and Lena Schumaker Are Married at Jackson, Mich.

Heiny Guth, second lieutenant at the No. 1 fire station, has heard the call of the little love god above the clang of alarm bells. He went to Jackson, Mich., with Lena Schumaker, Wednesday, and the pair were united in marriage. They will return to Fort Wayne on Friday and make their home here.

City firemen were not expecting the event. There was nothing strange in the fact that Guth took his day off Wednesday. His comrades did wonder, however, when a substitute fireman reported for duty in place of Guth on Thursday. Inquiries bore out the suspicion that he was married.

Miss Schumaker has been engaged as a housekeeper for Mrs. Mary Ewing, 423 West Main street, for some time. She is known as a most dependable woman. She will return to the Ewing home for a few weeks, until another housekeeper can be secured.

The couple are spending two days with relatives in Michigan. The husband will return to his place at the fire station Friday evening. There will be new zeal in his fire fighting.

EXPLAINS ATTITUDE OF OTTOMAN POWER

Detention of Turkish Students in New York Has Harsh Come-Back.

Berlin, Tuesday, July 17.—(Via London, July 19.)—Dr. Achmed Emin Bey, editor of the Constantinople Daily Sabah, one of a party of Turkish journalists who are at present guests of the German government, told the Associated Press today that the Turkish government withdrew the special train arranged for Americans who wished to depart from Turkey as a result of a report made by the former Turkish consul general at New York on his arrival at Constantinople that the American government had refused to permit Turkish students in New York to return with the officials.

"There is much feeling in Turkey as the result of the action of the United States," said he, "and reprisals are being urged in some quarters. When the break came our government offered to place at the disposal of American citizens a special train in which they might travel in comfort on their way to Switzerland. After we learned the attitude in America toward the Turkish students, the government withdrew the offer of travel accommodations."

"When the war began our government closed the English, French and Russian schools and seized their property. Robert college at Constantinople (an American institution), was not molested, however, and it still is open. There are about 400 Americans still in Turkey."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HOST READY TO HELP

Boston, July 19.—Enrollments for the Christian Endeavor army of universal patriotic service, have already reached many thousands under the plan suggested by the trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor at their recent meeting at Winona Lake, Ind., according to letter addressed to the press by Dr. Francis E. Clarke, the society's president. Dr. Clarke said the army aimed at a membership of at least one million. The enlistment pledge binds each member, whether in or out of the ranks of the organized war forces of the United States, to some form of service as a Christian, loyal to God and country.

Dr. Clarke said the plans had received the approval of President Wilson. It also was approved by Herbert C. Hoover and other men throughout the country. He deprecated the fact that he had seen in many newspapers "a more or less sneering and supposedly humorous allusion" to a suggestion made at the Winona Lake meeting that cigarettes should be left out of the comfort bags sent by Endeavorers through the Red Cross to soldiers and sailors.

PERSHING NEEDED RED CROSS THINGS

Washington, D. C., July 19.—Hurred orders which resulted in thousands of comfort kits being rushed to Red Cross headquarters here by the chapters in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore some time ago were explained today by officers of the Red Cross war council who said the kits were requested by the war department for General Pershing's forces in France. In a message of thanks for the gifts General Pershing said:

"These things cause the soldier to remember that the people at home are behind him. You do not know how much that means to any soldier who is over here carrying the flag for his country. This is the point which should be impressed in the minds of those who are working for the soldier."

The purpose here is merely to give the young men who may serve with the army in France such a knowledge of French as will make simple wants known and some sort of friendly intercourse with French people and soldiers possible. No attempt is made to teach the grammar of the language.

In these lessons the English sentence once appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second and the pronunciation in the third line. In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters A and U denote the long sound, as in "hate" and "due"; curved lines over these letters denote the short sound, as in "hat" and "but"; two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat like the German "ue," which Americans may approach by pronouncing long U and long E at the same time.

Cut out these lessons and paste them in your note book.

CHURUBUSCO MAN DIES IN HAY FIELD

Glen Oman, 40 Years Old, Stricken Suddenly on the George Slagle Farm.

[Special to The Sentinel.] Churubusco, Ind., July 19.—Glen Oman, 40 years old, dropped dead last evening in a hay field on the farm of George Slagle. Oman, with Slagle and a neighbor, had gone to a hay field to drive out some hogs. Slagle and the neighbor started to go in one direction and Oman in another. Slagle and the neighbor had not gone far when they saw Oman fall. He was dead when they reached him.

Oman was single and is survived by a brother and sister. Funeral services Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the United Brethren church here with interment in the Lutheran cemetery at Coesse. The deceased was an Odd Fellow.

NEW OIL AND GAS COMPANY IS FORMED

Incorporate With the State for $50,000—Papers Filed With Recorder.

The rich productive oil and gas belt in the vicinity of Monroeville, of this county, has resulted in the organization of another company which will be known as the Monroeville Oil and Gas company. This new organization has capitalized with the state for $50,000.

The purpose of the company is for prospecting for, producing, buying, selling, refining oil, etc., petroleum gas and all by products. The incorporators of this new company are Max Rosenthal, W. E. Stephenson, Frank Schmuckler, C. L. Meyer, Frank J. Thieman, H. J. Girardot, M. E. Gouse and D. E. Kauffman.

VETERANS ENJOY ANNUAL PICNIC

Members of Lawton-Wayne post, G. A. R., and other civil war veterans, gathered Thursday at Swinney park for their annual picnic. The heroes of the civil war gathered at the park at an early hour Thursday morning for an entire day's outing. The day was spent in talking of the days when side by side they fought for the same cause and of the many thrilling incidents which surrounded the four years' campaign. Dinner and refreshments were served on the grounds. The number this year was much smaller than that of a year ago.

HAD $10,000, BUT LEAVES IT.

South Bend, Ind., July 19.—Joseph Smith, aged 53, committed suicide last night by blowing the top of his head off with a shot gun. He constantly brooded over the supposition that he was fated to die in the almshouse, although he had $10,000 on deposit in a Knox, Ind., bank.

Between May, 1915, and May, 1916, the British output of bombs was increased thirty-three fold.

INDIANA IS IN THE LEAD

Hoosier State Has More County Agents Than Any Other in North.

SIXTEEN COUNTIES MAKE APPLICATION

Two Men Leave to Accept Appointments as State Leaders.

Indiana leads all other states north of the Mason and Dixon line in the number of county agents. Clarence Henry, former county agent of Allen county and now assistant state leader of county agents, was in the city Thursday morning and made this assertion.

The Hoosier state now boasts of forty-four agents with sixteen more counties clamoring for one and five counties lining up getting ready to put in their applications. The last group of five counties have raised the necessary $500 and are now awaiting the approval of the county council.

According to the assistant state leader, who was on his way to Columbus City to visit with the newly appointed agent of Whitley county, the county agents' work this year is proving itself abundantly. He states that there is no opposition whatsoever to speak of in connection with the agents' work.

Indiana is also regarded over the entire country as the leading state in this work. Two county agents have been appointed state leaders. M. O. Pence, of Hendricks county, has gone to Delaware to accept the position of state leader there and L. B. Johnson, of Bartholomew county, has gone to South Dakota to accept the same position as offered by that state.

PASSPORTS NEEDED TO GET INTO BISBEE

Warren Mining District is Thoroughly Guarded by Armed Men.

Bisbee, Ariz., July 19.—Beginning today every stranger entering the Warren mining district must bear a passport from the mayor or recognized commercial bodies of certain designated cities if he wishes to pass the civilian guards posted along the roads in this region by Sheriff Harry Wheeler without being subjected to a searching questioning as to his business by the armed watchers.

The duty of the guards is to prevent members of the I. W. W. or their sympathizers from entering the district and the passport was adopted as a means of avoiding uncertainty of the errands of tourists.

Armed guards are posted at strategic points along the highways and railroads entering the district. These outposts are manned night and day and every automobile is stopped and the occupants questioned.

The first linotype machine was operated in 1884.

Learn Some French Today

There are many aces among the aviators. Il ya beaucoup d'As parmi les aviateurs. En ee. à bohkoo dahs pamee lay avehatuh.

What do you call an ace? Ou' appelez-vous un As? Ka. puhlay voo un s ahs?

An aviator that has brought down five planes. Un aviateur qui a abattu cinq avions. Un s avehatuh kee a. äbätü san k äveeon!

The aviators are the eyes of the army. Les aviateurs sont les yeux de l'armee. Lay zävehatuh son s lay zeuduh lärmay.

In these lessons the English sentence once appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second and the pronunciation in the third line.

In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters A and U denote the long sound, as in "hate" and "due"; curved lines over these letters denote the short sound, as in "hat" and "but"; two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat like the German "ue," which Americans may approach by pronouncing long U and long E at the same time.

Cut out these lessons and paste them in your note book.

The purpose here is merely to give the young men who may serve with the army in France such a knowledge of French as will make simple wants known and some sort of friendly intercourse with French people and soldiers possible. No attempt is made to teach the grammar of the language.

ON TO LEMBERG! PRZEMYSL AGAIN?

The startling victories of the Russians, this time, have been won with the spirit of true democracy behind the dash. Lemberg is the first goal and behind that is Przemyśl, center of the most disastrous battles on the Russian front. Larger map shows the battle line from Riga to Stanislaw and the point where the Russians are driving back the Germans and Austrians. Inset map shows the old battle line along the Zlota-Lipa river and the new line of defense back of Halicz, which the Russians have captured, along the Gnila-Lipa, fifteen miles back.

112 Snow White Parasols Awarded On
Girls' Day

One hundred and twelve snow white parasols will be awarded on Girls'
Day, Wednesday, July 25th. Hundreds of letters pour into Robison park each season. These wonderful letters, written by the boys and girls of Fort Wayne, are the one big compensation for all the labor and preparation of the special days. The one hundred and twelve snow white para-sols will be awarded this year to the one hundred and twelve writers of the one hundred and twelve best letters.
Try to tell why you like Robison park, how it compares with other parks you have visited and what special day you like best. Do not mention the word parasol or the word prize and address your letters to Manager Williams, Robison Park, City. The ten letters surpassing all the others will receive special prizes.

says that is also the case over there.
No wonder that so many people are

Break in Luck Goes to Grand Rapids in the First Extra Round.

When the cursed pill took a bad hop yesterday over the heads of both Kowalski and Smith, Ole Man Leuk took his most wicked blow at the Chiefs. Miserable bounces aptly have fallen to the lot of the Chiefs during the season, but none any worse than the freak which happened yesterday.

After two had been downed in the first half of the tenth, Schettler went to the plate and singled. He stretched the hit to a double when Glocksion and Breaux juggled the ball before getting it back to the infield. Stepe then hit to Glocksion and Schettler stopped at third but the bad hop which sent the horsehide skimming over the heads of Kowalski and Smith happened about then and Schettler came in with the winning run.

The game was good all the way, fielding being just about right on both sides and the hurling being good enough to keep the score low. Twice the locals went into the lead only to have the count tied up and then the game taken from them. Shorty Breaux was responsible for the first run, his double starting the work. Score:

CENTRAL LEAGUE.

Peoria Downs Leaders.
Peoria, Ill., July 20.—Peoria had little trouble in getting a win over Springfield yesterday, 8 to 3. After a little spurt early in the game the Reapers had no chance, Hoffman pitching shut-out ball, while the remainder of the club was hitting at will.

Evans Lose Another.
Evansville, Ind., July 20.—An awful fourth inning here yesterday gave Grand Rapids its second win over the Evans, 5 to 0. Adams pitched good ball the remainder of the way, but lost the game in the one frame. Meltzer found himself hard pressed several times, but an impregnable defense saved him.

Ainsworth is Right.
Richmond, Ind., July 20.—Red Ainsworth worked for Richmond yesterday and he was all to the good, besting the big noise in a 4 to 1 win staged by the locals. Kirby was the only Muskegon prodigy who could connect and he generally died on the paths.

Fall is Anxious to Break Mile Record

Edwin H. Fall, the sensational distance runner of Oberlin college, is called the athletic marvel of the present time. It is expected Fall during the present summer will go after the mystic figures of 4:12.8-5, the world's best record for one mile, made by Norman Taber over the Harvard stadium track, during June, 1915. Athletic experts who have seen Fall perform predict that with proper preparation and over a good track and with favorable weather conditions Fall should run close to 4 minutes 10 seconds for the distance.

RIFLE TEAMS PREPARE TO SHOOT FOR PRIZES

Captains Are Named for Four Outfits and Practice is Started.

The several teams of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club competing for the cash prize offered by Fred Zollars, have begun practicing and the competition promises to be interesting.

The conditions of the contest are that any number of teams may be entered. The captain of each team must have qualified in the regular N. R. A. competitions as either a marksman, sharpshooter or expert. The other members of the team are to be members who have not qualified. Each team will consist of four or five men. The captains are to be given until the middle of September to drill their respective teams. The competition will then be held on a specified date, and the team scoring the highest number of points over the ranges later decided upon, will divide the prizes.

Four teams have so far been entered. The captains and their qualifications are: G. R. Gawein—Expert. H. A. Hurtman—Expert. J. E. Hall—Sharpshooter. E. A. Wagner—Sharpshooter.

TENNIS STAR "COMES BACK" AFTER 20 YEARS OFF COURT

After seventeen years' absence from the tennis courts Sam Hardy, star of the 90's, has come back.

Hardy quit the game in 1900, after a brilliant career, and his only tennis was an occasional game of doubles, in which he did not have to exert himself.

This year Hardy came back. After weeks of practice at Chicago he went to Pittsburgh and won the western Pennsylvania championship at singles and doubles, being coupled with Silver in the latter. To win, Hardy met "Chuck" Garland, of Pittsburgh. In the semi-finals and won in straight sets. He had no trouble taking the finals from Spaulding. Back in the early 80s Hardy was considered one of the best players in the country. From 1892 to 1895 he held the Pacific coast championship.

He quit the game in 1900 when he went to London to go into the real estate business. Hardy has kept himself young. That is probably the reason for his success after being out of the limelight for so many years. He is past 40 but does not look much more than 30. Daily exercise has kept him in good physical condition and he is capable of hard grueling sets on the courts.

THAT'S THE WAY PAT MORAN GETS RESULTS WITH MISFITS AND HAS-BEENS ON PHILLIES.

PAT MORAN

(By Paul Purman.)
Pat Moran's Phillies have set a record for clubs to shoot at which will keep managers hustling for many moons to equal or beat.
For sixty-nine straight games the Phillies went without being shut out.
No matter what kind of pitching they went up against, no matter how the odds were going, the Phillies, misfits and cast-offs for the most part, always managed to squeeze one run across the plate. Their streak was stopped recently.
The second game of a double-header.
Right along the same line it might be said that the Phillies hold the season record for straight victories in the National league, having won ten consecutive games.
Looking over the club it is hard to see just why it should be in second place and why it should be so dangerous to its rivals.
On paper the club is weak. Many of the

WHAT DO THEY PITCH 'EM IN THIS LEAGUE

What kind of pitching do they have down in that Delaware county league in Pennsylvania?

That's the shrunbery where Frank Baker cooled his heels in 1915, the season before he broke with the Athletics, and before he started again with the Yankees. Baker had a troublesome time battling 200 in the little county league, and now comes the word that Charley Doolin, who is playing there this season, is batting a lowly .045.

Maybe Hughie Jennings and other managers who are looking for some good pitchers ought to investigate this league.

Once more a complaint that is heard frequently against American exporters has cropped up, coming this time from British East Africa. In reporting the trade opportunities there the United States consul at Mombasa writes: "Some exporters apparently think that all export trade must be conducted in the Spanish language, and their catalogues and correspondence coming to this market are printed and written in that language. Many languages are spoken in this territory, but Spanish is one that is never heard."

Francis Quimet, of the Woodland Golf club of Massachusetts, ranked by the United States Golf association as a professional, won the amateur championship of the Western Golf association. The final in which he defeated K. P. Edwards was a thrilling one. Figuring on past performances Quimet was the logical winner.

NEW YORK NATIONALS EXPECTED TO BE 1917 PENNANT WINNERS

American League Race is Out for Home Run Record of League

Too Close for Any Prediction.

New York, July 20.—Based upon the records of the past five years, the lead of the New York National league club shortly after the halfway point of the season was reached, would appear to indicate that the team would win the senior league pennant. The race is so close in the American league, however, that no such conclusion can be entertained in advance. Including the games played on July 15 the New York Giants led their nearest rivals, the Philadelphia club, by 95 points. In the American race the Boston combination had but a three-point margin over the Chicago White Sox.

A comparison of these figures with those of July 15 for each season since 1912 shows that without exception a club leading either the National or American league by 50 points or better in the middle of July captured the pennant and figured in the world's series. Both the Philadelphia Athletics and the Brooklyn teams were able to come through with a little less margin and the Phillies ran a nine point lead into a pennant in 1916 but this was an exception.

The New York club won the 1912 pennant by 66 points after having a margin of 126 pounds on July 15 of that year. The following season the Giants increased a 73 point lead to 81 at the close of the race. In 1914 the team had a 49 point advantage at mid-season yet Boston captured the flag by 69 points. Philadelphia played a 9 point lead into a 46 point margin of safety the next year while last season Brooklyn, which had a 49 point lead in July, saw the same cut down to 15 points with the final game of October.

In the American league Boston had an 81 point lead and won with 92 in 1912 while the Philadelphia Athletics in 1913 won by 43 points after leading by 114 on July 15. The next season the situation was reversed for the Athletics were 35 points ahead at mid-season and added 26 more for safety before the schedule was completed. In 1915 Chicago led the league at the half way mark by 6 points but Boston won the pennant by 20 points in October. Last season New York was showing the way on July 15 by 12 points but again Boston showed its fighting ability in the final weeks of the race by forging to the front and taking the flag by 13 points.

The following tabulations show the leaders each year on July 15 and the pennant winners of the same year with the point advantage at both periods of the race:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.	Leader	Point	Pennant	Point
1912—New York	126	New York	81	92
1914—New York	49	Boston	69	81

The recent slump of the New York American league team has resulted in the usual rumor that there is to be a change in the management of the team. The names of several managerial possibilities have been mentioned but to date none appear able to guarantee to make batters hit in pinches, which is the chief weakness of the Yankees.

HENERY MAY PROVE TO BE SHREWD CROOK

Worked "Show Me Money"
Japanese.

Harry Henry, 30, quaking and sweating because he has been shut off from cocaine for thirty hours, may prove to be a clever crook. He is suspected of stealing two valuable cameras, valued at $250, from the Meyer Bros. drug store, corner of Calhoun and Columbia streets, Wednesday morning. The cameras were missed after Henry had left the store.

In a letter to a woman friend in Michigan, which letter was intercepted by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel, Henry says "I have pulled nothing of value as yet. I may have $1,000 soon for you." It is only a jolting charge which is holding the man although he is under $500 bond. Detective Immel did not wish to take advantage of the man's weakened state to attempt to force a confession from him in police court Thursday morning. His trial is set for July 27. In the meantime the police expect to find a record of visits which Henry has paid to other cities.

Arrest of the man followed a complaint by a Japanese traveler who reported that he was robbed of $20 when he passed through the city on a Nickel Plate train Wednesday morning. Railroad detectives and Detective Immel went to work at once. Henry was arrested by Nickel Plate Officers Cawley and Harris and Immel. The prisoner is said to have virtually admitted his guilt. He had $20 on his person.

The Japanese, who gave his name as M. Morita, was traveling east. He said that a man approached him and showing a star stated that he was a government agent, and asked to count the foreigner's money. Morita handed over his money. When the roll was returned it was $20 short. Henry is believed to have been the man who alighted from the moving train as the passenger reached the Harrison street crossing.

An effort will be made to bring the foreigner back to Fort Wayne to identify Henry. Police are also working on the theory that it was Henry who stole the valuable camera from the drug store. A physician has been called several times to care for the prisoner, who is in a state of collapse because of his absence from drug. Careful inquiry will follow as to where the man has been procuring the stimulant.

RESOLUTION FOR PEACE GOES INTO THE REICHSTAG

Amsterdam, July 19.—The Berlin Tageblatt says the committee of the majority parties in the German reichstag have unanimously decided to move the peace resolution. Previously the committee was divided, two members of the center and one liberal disagreeing with the majority. The Tageblatt says that in the reichstag 221 deputies will vote for the peace resolution.

Members of the Friar club will gather next Sunday for the annual all-day picnic of the club. This year's festivities will be held at 10 on the Robison park line instead of Schroeder's grove as in former years. This will enable the tardy ones to get there at any time during the day.

The committee in charge is composed of Walter Brase, Howard Wilkens and H. B. Ellenwood. The regular and expected baseball game will be played between the married members and the men who can't claim exemption. To top it off of a regular picnic feed will be put forth by Oscar Cotton, the club's food artist.

South Bend, Ind., July 19.—Henry Elchstadt, aged 26, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Hudson lake when he fell out of a boat following an attack of heart failure. His body was recovered.

Thomas Dolan forgot to take off his cork leg before he jumped into the Delaware river at Chester, Pa., and it all. The leg kept him afloat until he was rescued by Charles McAllister, tender at a wharf.

PROTEST DRAFT ON FRIDAY BAD URGE A CHANGE

Chicago, July 19.—Telegrams of protest against holding the military draft on Friday were sent to the secretary of war today by Bishop Calhoun and W. H. Gray, of the Union League club. The senders are not opposed to the draft, they say, only they feel that because of a superstition about Friday it would be better to have the drawing some other day.

The messages are: "Almost universal opinion against draft on Friday. Change date."

"DRAFT FRIDAY psychological mistake. Stop it. Change date."

"W. H. Gray and others, the Union League Club."

MATHILDE WALDA CLAIMED BY DEATH

Pioneer Resident of City Passes Away at Home of Daughter.

Mathilde Walda, widow of William Walda, died Thursday morning at 9:40 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Hagerman, 1623 East Wayne street. Death was due to senility and came at the age of 79 years.

Mrs. Walda was born in Druesson Province, Brandenburg, Germany. She had resided in Fort Wayne forty-seven years. She was married to William Walda in 1872 by Rev. Dr. Shier, at the St. Paul Lutheran church, of which she was one of the oldest members. Her husband died seventeen years ago. Surviving relatives are two children, Theodore Walda, lieutenant at No. 1 engine house, and Mrs. William Hagerman, at whose home she died; the following step-children: Henry and William Walda, Mrs. Ernest Galtner, Mrs. Gust Meinen, and one sister, Othello Bongs. One son, Gust Walda, died three months ago. Twenty-nine grandchildren and five great grandchildren also survive. Funeral announcements later.

Other Police Court Cases.

Samuel Campbell, of Champaign, Ill., was found guilty of violating the traffic law and was fined $5 and costs. G. E. Rollins, a barber, was convicted on a charge of driving to the left of a traffic sign and was fined $5 and costs. The case of disorderly conduct against James Brudley was dismissed.

Public intoxication cases were: Walter Baker, Ralph Green, Edward Stewart, Grant Lawrence and Harry Anderson, all fined $1 and costs. James Ballard was fined $5 and costs.

LAUDS PARK REPORT

Miss Arterna M. Chapin Says
Board is Doing Great Work Here.

The value of the annual reports of the department of public parks, as an advertising medium of this city, which are mailed each year to public libraries, commercial clubs, leading newspapers, park boards, and many leading men throughout the country, is shown by the following letter just received by the board from Arterna M. Chapin, librarian of the A. K. Smiley public library, Redlands, California. Miss Chapin, as the letter shows, is a former resident of this city, having graduated from the Fort Wayne high school in 1890. Many similar letters are received each year by the park department. The board now has a mailing list of over seven hundred names. The letter follows:

"It was with a feeling of personal pride that I read the fine report just received from you, and looked at the illustrations showing the beauty spots of Fort Wayne."

"Although I have not actually lived in Fort Wayne for a number of years I shall always look upon it as my home and watch with interest every step toward civic betterment."

"It seems to me your commission is doing a wonderful work—one that will bring credit to you for many generations."

"I shall take great pleasure in placing the copy of your report sent to the library, where our readers and visitors may be attracted to it."

TO INSTRUCT WORKERS.

Campaign Committee Named to Conduct Work for Million Dollars.

Instruction will be given Friday evening to the committee of men who will conduct the campaign for the Catholic war fund in this city. Maurice Niezer, chairman of the committee, will address the members in the Knights of Columbus hall and explain the work and the way it is to be handled.

Members of the committee are as follows:

A. A. Kartholl, secretary, and O. N. Heiny, treasurer. The advisory committee is composed of Rt. Rev. Herman J. Aldinger, Wm. P. Breen, Louis F. Henry, J. Berghoff, John B. Rouss, A. A. Serra, Robert E. Kelly, Geo. M. Haffner, J. Herman Buter, John Suetzer, Jr., Stephen A. Callahan, Joseph F. Miller, Harry F. Kennerk, Charles M. Niezer, Julian F. Franke, Joseph C. Hutzell, A. C. Goecke and H. G. Hogan.

Stephen A. Callahan, leading knight of the local chapter, Knights of Columbus, has been called to Indianapolis to work during the campaign.

WHO GOT FIFTY CENTS NOT AS YET DECIDED

John Worley, Only One of Many Negroes, Gathered in Room.

George Johnson, big and talkative and dark as a slacker's future, lost fifty cents from beneath his pillow as he slumbered in a Holman street rooming house, Wednesday night. Another negro lost thirty-five cents. Some more missed dimes and nickels. The landlady in the place was short a stockpin when she awakened Thursday morning.

John Worley, 27, colored, was unfortunate in having been a newcomer into the midst of those who slept in the apartments. He was accused of the thefts. He proclaimed his innocence.

"Somebody got the money," loudly announced Johnson from the witness stand in the city court Thursday morning.

"Just a minute," halted Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman, who feared that Johnson could not be checked in his verbal procedure.

"All right, colonel," said Johnson. "Now the court attaches call the popular attorney 'colonel'."

Judge Kerr agreed that somebody got the money but he could not glean sufficient proof to convict Worley. The case was dismissed.

Registers Heavy.

A stolen water meter made a heavy register against Charles Getz, 24, and Frank La Bell, 50, Thursday morning. The men admitted taking a new meter from the new house being built by J. J. Harbor, 310 State street. They were trying to sell the property in a pawn shop when arrested by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel, Wednesday afternoon. They were each fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 150 days at the state farm.

Got Sick Man.

William Tiel, who rooms at 1127 Clinton street, is afflicted with a nervous trouble. He has been receiving treatments in Fort Wayne for several months. On Wednesday evening he was resting on the steps of the Harman school when accosted by an officer. When Tiel could not well explain his condition he was locked up. He was held in jail over Wednesday night. He answered a lotting charge, Thursday morning. Judge Kerr pronounced him guilty and ordered the case continued indefinitely.

RECORD LOAD OF CORN WEIGHED ON THURSDAY

Wheat Prices Advance Ten Cents and Flour Goes Up Forty Cents.

Although corn is far from plentiful around these parts, a record in corn trading was established on the street Thursday morning. The largest load ever weighed on the city scales was brought by Louis Cuthall, of Eel River township, and sold to W. D. Henderson & Co. for $162.50. The net weight of the corn was 5,845 pounds, this representing 87 bushels at 29 pounds per bushel. The price was $1.75 a bushel.

Ray went up on the street again Thursday morning, $15.00 to $17.00 per ton being paid. Five loads were sold at these prices, which were from $1 to $3 higher per ton than those of Wednesday. Five loads of corn were sold at 76c to 77c per bushel.

Two local millers raised their quotations on wheat today, this being the range of wheat prices to from $2.02 to $2.10 per bushel. The millers who offer more for the grain also raised their flour prices 40c per barrel.

MANY EAGER TO HELP IN RED CROSS WORK

Thirty-Six Employees at Elec- tric Works Form New Club.

Interest in Red Cross work in the city is steadily growing and a marked spirit of co-operation has been noted during the past few days. Not only are new donations coming in nearly every day but new organizations are being formed to aid in the great movement for humanity.

At the General Electric works the employees of building No. 17, third floor, have organized what will be known as the General Electric Red Cross Club. Thirty-six members have already been enrolled and many more are in prospect. A committee from the new club, composed of B. Kline, W. G. Blomberg, and Glenn Culp called at the headquarters on East Berry street Wednesday afternoon and informed officials there of the new organization, and turned over $18, the first fund to be secured by voluntary subscriptions which will be made every week.

Another donation which made up in spirit what it may lack in size was sent by James Fairplay, a janitor at the Hope hospital, who sent $2 to the headquarters, saying that he wished to do his bit in the great movement. Another donation of $14 was turned in by J. W. Grodian as the proceeds of a musical entertainment given recently in the Moose hall by church workers on the south side. It was also announced that the proceeds of the S. W. Strick circle lawn social given on the lawn of Chalfant & Egley's a few weeks ago, was $33.00.

The Deatur auxiliary of the Fort Wayne chapter sent in ten new members Thursday morning. Officials at headquarters wish to emphasize that the public in general is invited to visit headquarters and see the work that is going on there, regardless of whether they wish to work or not. There is always room at headquarters for more workers, and no one should wait for a special invitation before offering their services.

Another evidence of the spirit of co-operation and desire to help was shown Wednesday when the Misses Perry, sisters employed at the Foster shirtwaist factory, offered to work button holes in all of the garments being cut at the headquarters.

Applications are coming in for the first aid work and some new classes will be formed in this branch soon.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is relatively low over western districts and it is high off the Atlantic coast. During the last 24 hours showers occurred in the northwest, in the central Rocky mountain region, in the northern portion of the west gulf states and quite generally in the sections to the eastward of the Mississippi. The temperature changes of the last 24 hours have been generally unimportant. Nearly seasonal temperatures obtain in all sections of the country this morning.

SAYS HUSBAND IS CRUEL AND INHUMAN

Suit for Divorce is Filed by Mrs. Nora Widner, of Garrett.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., July 19.—Mrs. Nora Widner, of this city, charging her husband, John Widner, with cruel and inhuman treatment, is suing for a divorce in the DeKalb circuit court. Mrs. Widner states that they were married in 1914 and lived together until 1915 when he ordered her from the house, threatening to do her bodily harm if she did not go. Since that time she has been supporting herself and children. The couple have three children. Percy, aged 17 years; Pearl, 16, and Forrest, 12. Mrs. Widner asks that she be granted a divorce and the custody of the children and $500 alimony. She states that her husband owns property valued at $1,200 and draws a salary of $80 per month and asks the court to compel him to pay $100 per year for the support of each of the children.

ADJOURN TRIAL ON ACCOUNT OF FUNERAL

Night Sessions Are to Be Held to Expedite the Fishback Hearing.

Hartford City, Ind., July 20.—The trial of William Fishback was delayed here yesterday afternoon when Judge W. H. Elchhorn adjourned court at noon until 8 o'clock this morning, on account of the funeral services at Portland over the remains of John F. LaFollette, former judge of the Jay circuit court. Announcement was made in the future court would be convened at 8 o'clock each morning and in all probability night sessions will be held to make up for the time lost this afternoon. Most of the twelve jurors who are to pass final judgment in the case are farmers and their time and attention is needed on their farms and the court is anxious to rush the case through for their particular benefit.

DON'T BELIEVE EARL WAS HOME IN THE HAY

Ida Schafenacker Identifies Negro as Man Who Entered House.

Judge H. W. Kerr does not believe that Earl Tap, 25, negro, was home in bed at 9 o'clock, Wednesday evening. The judge thinks that two hours after the colored man was supposed to be wrapped in slumber he was in reality trying to enter the home of C. F. Schafenacker, 530 Holman street. Tapp was bound to circuit court under $500 bond on the charge of house breaking.

Pretty Ida Schafenacker, 17, daughter of C. F. Schafenacker, positively identified Tapp as bearing the face she beheld in the kitchen doorway, Wednesday night. The girl said she was entertaining a friend when she heard a noise in the rear room. She started into the kitchen, turning on the lights from the switch key. The flood of light fell full on the face and diminutive form of Tapp, the girl testified. The negro turned and ran from the house. The police were called and made a fruitless search for the man.

The girl saw Tapp on the street, near her home, Thursday afternoon. She recognized him at once as the man who had entered the house, she says. She followed Tapp. He went in a pool room and the girl summoned Patrolman Linnaker. When Tapp was brought from the pool room he was identified by the girl and locked up on the attempted burglary charge.

Tapp pleaded not guilty. He earnestly denies every part of the young woman's story. He was home in bed before 9 o'clock, he testified.

LADIES LEAVE JAIL BUT ARE NOT CURED

Militant Suffs Will Stage New Performance at the White House Soon.

Washington, July 20.—Sixteen women sent to the workhouse for their part in the tumultuous suffrage demonstration Saturday at the white house, accepted pardons from President Wilson yesterday afternoon and were released after serving two days of their sixty-day terms.

The prisoners left the workhouse apparently without regret despite their previous declarations that they desired to serve out their time without appeal or clemency. These assertions had led to an announcement by the department of justice pointing out that a pardon need not be accepted unless the prisoners desire it. When the time for departure came, however, the women's only protest was against the trials they underwent during their detention.

At headquarters of the women's party the sixteen were received as martyrs, and at a dinner given there in their honor, plans were made for continuing the white house picketing, of which Saturday's demonstration was a part. A defiant statement issued at the headquarters said the campaign to impress President Wilson and the country by parading before the white house gates would go on without change.

Children Needed Care. The president acted after the husbands of several of the prisoners had interceded in their favor and after he had been told that some of them had small children at home needing their care. Some of Mr. Wilson's friends declared this element undoubtedly had been the determining influence with him. Others suggested that he acted in the hope that pardons would minimize publicity, an avowed part of the women's campaigning. The suffragists insisted he had become convinced that the country was aroused over the workhouse party to the incident, however, was left to its own speculations on the subject. Secretary Tumulty said issuance of the pardons would have to speak for itself, and all other officials in a position to know the president's thoughts on the subject were silent.

"The president's action in no way affects the general suffrage situation," said the woman's party statement. "The only difference it makes, as we see it, is that the women are out of jail. That is a matter of little concern to us compared with the concern we feel over the great vital issue for which we are fighting. Picketing will be resumed very soon and with the utmost vigor."

Expect Future Arrests. No date has been set for the next demonstration, but it probably will be Saturday. The suffragist leaders say they fully expect that the next body of pickets will be arrested and sentenced to the workhouse.

The department of justice statement settled a point which had been warmly discussed at suffrage headquarters. "If the suffragists now serving a sixty-day sentence at Occoquan decline to accept the pardon offered by President Wilson," it said, "they will serve out their sentence. The government cannot compel a prisoner under sentence to accept a pardon."

Dudley Field Malone, collector of customs at New York, who has acted as counsel for the women, temporarily retired from the fight last night, but

To Overcome Redness, Tan, Freckles, Wrinkles

If your skin is unduly reddened, freckled or tanned, dab a little pure mercurized wax on the face and allow it to remain over night. When you wash off the wax in the morning, fine flaky, almost invisible particles of cerate come with it. Repeating this daily, the entire outer skin is absorbed, but so gradually, there's not the slightest hurt or inconvenience. Even the stubborn freckles are affected. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so fresh and youthful looking, you'll marvel at the transformation. It's the only thing known to actually discard an aged, faded, muddy or blotchy complexion. One ounce of mercurized wax, procurable at any drugstore, is sufficient in most cases. If sun and wind make you squint and frown, you're bound to cultivate wrinkles and crow's feet. To overcome these quickly, bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxatite in a half pint witch hazel.—Advertisement.

Meantime he will continue his efforts to persuade the president to declare for a federal suffrage amendment.

Malone Miffed Again. A clash between Mr. Malone and Superintendent Whitaker, of Occoquan workhouse, enlivened the departure of the prisoners last night. The women were receiving their valuables at the office when Mr. Whitaker warned them that if they returned they would get no special consideration.

"I've been very indulgent with you," he said, "but I won't be again."

Mr. Malone, replying heatedly, declared he certainly had not been accorded special privileges as counsel. For a moment it looked like a personal encounter, but the incident closed with Mr. Whitaker declaring that his original statement stood. All of the prisoners were in good health, but were uncomfortable from having been deprived of their toilet articles, such as tooth brushes. One said she had some difficulty in sleeping, and none of them had liked the food.

CHANCELLOR SAYS GERMANY READY FOR PEACE

WAR NOT A DAY OVER POSSIBILITY OF AN HONORABLE PEACE

Dr. Michaelis Tells Reichstag That
Germany Is Ready to Make
Peace at Any Time.

BODY ADOPTS THE PEACE RESOLUTION

Copenhagen, July 20.—Chancellor Michaelis in his address before the reichstag yesterday said Germany would not continue the war a day longer if it could obtain an honorable peace.

America's intervention was not regarded with serious concern. The German fleet, particularly the submarines, would master the situation, he said.

The reichstag adopted the peace resolution approved by the centrists and socialist elements.

"Although," said Chancellor Michaelis to the reichstag yesterday, "English statesmen knew, as shown by their blue book, that Russian mobilization must lead to war with Germany, they addressed not a word of warning to Russia against military measures while my predecessor's instructions July 28, 1914, to the ambassador at Vienna directed him to say that we willingly fulfill our duty as an ally but must refuse to permit ourselves to be involved in a world war through Austro-Hungary disregarding our counsels."

"The concentration of the Russian army compelled Germany to seize the sword. There was no choice left to us and what is true of the war itself is true also of our weapons, particularly the submarine. We deny the accusation that the submarine warfare is contrary to international law and violates the rights of humanity."

RUSSIANS LET GERMANS MAKE HOLES IN LINE

Berlin, O., July 20.—Via London.—German troops have pushed forward through three strong Russian zones of defense between the Sereth and Zlota Lipa rivers in eastern Galicia, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff.

The Russians suffered heavily, statement adds, and are retreating in disorder. The Germans took a few thousand prisoners.

At Jacobstadt, Dvinsk and Smorgon, along the Stokhod river and from the Zlota Lipa to south of the Dniester river, the statement adds the artillery fire increased in intensity.

RUSSIANS RAN AWAY.

Petrograd, July 20.—The Russian failure to hold the Germans in eastern Galicia, says an official statement issued by the war department today, was due to extremist detachments holding meetings and discussing the advisability of obeying orders which some regiments had refused to obey.

The Russian statement says the 607th Mlynov regiment, situated between Batkov and Manjov, voluntarily retired before the attacking Germans and as a result the neighboring units also had to retire.

A FATEFUL DAY FOR MILLIONS OF AMERICANS

Army Conscription by Lot Is Begun and
By Night the Men Who Have Been Selected Will Know.

BUT 687,000 WILL BE TAKEN TO SERVE

Washington, July 20.—The great lottery to fix the order for military service of each of the ten million men of the United States registered for the war began at 9:49 o'clock this morning. By some time tonight every man will know whether he is among the first 1,370,000 to be called before local exemption boards.

From the 1,370,000 the boards are to select 687,000 for America's first draft army of 500,000 and to fill up vacancies in the national guard and the regular army.

In a committee room of the senate office building with representatives of the press present war department officials and members of the senate and house military committee began the drawing of 10,500 slips bearing numbers of each registrant in the largest district in the country. Secretary Baker was the first man to withdraw a capsule-enclosed slip from a great glass bowl. Blindfolded he drew number 258.

In every district in which as many as 258 men are registered, number 258 heads the list of those to be called. Chairman Chamberlain, of the senate military committee drew the second number. The senator, blindfolded and plainly nervous, was unable to locate the wide-mouthed glass bowl unaided and after he had groped for a few seconds an attendant guided his hand to the capsules. He drew and then silently stepped aside.

"The second number is 2,522," shouted the announcer. The handkerchief was then placed over the eyes of Chairman Dent, of the house military committee and he withdrew the third number, 9,813.

President Calls 687,000.

Already President Wilson has formally ordered to the colors 687,000 of the men for whom lots are drawn today and most of them will be in training by mid-September at sixteen cantonments under construction throughout the country. To provide that many physically fit and without any incumbency calling for exemption the war department will summon for examination the 1,374,000 who are found after the drawing to stand at the head of the muster roll. If more are needed to provide a net quota of 687,000 soldiers, those standing next in order will be summoned. So, too, will the choice pass on down the line when future increments are ordered to the colors by the president. Military men estimate that about every other man summoned will be exempted and on that basis it is to be determined today, should yield close to five million soldiers before the roll is exhausted.

Those at Top to Be Regulars.

The first of the 687,000 men to be actually called into service—those standing at the very top of the liability list—probably will go to fill the ranks of the regular army to war strength. Something like forty thousand will be needed for that, and they may be called before September. Then, a large number next in order probably will be assigned to fill the national guard to war strength and the remainder—about 500,000 assembled as the national army. Every precaution was taken to make the drawing today absolutely fair to every one of the registrants. An elaborate scheme worked out in weeks of study to save time and labor and crowd the entire process into an hour was abandoned last night when it was discovered that registration boards in some sections had misunderstood the instructions for numbering local registration cards, making some inequalities possible. Officials in the provost marshal general's office declared today that the change to a simpler but more laborious plan left no possibility of inequality or fraud.

May Take Many Hours.

Although 9:30 a. m. was set for beginning the drawing, it may be late tonight before it is finished. Under the

In a speed test recently nearly sixty a minute were drawn and recorded, but it is regarded as doubtful whether that could be kept up for long periods together. The 10,500 numbers to be drawn range from 1 to 10,500. The order in which they are drawn determines the order in which the men having corresponding serial numbers on their cards in the local districts will be liable for service. Supposing 2,402 is the first number drawn, for instance, it would mean that every man everywhere having that number on his card would be the first in his district to be liable for service.

In districts where the numbers do not run as high as 2,402, that number operates as a blank. The total of 10,500 was selected because it exceeds the total of registrants in the largest district in the country.

Was a Solemn Scene.

The public hearing room in the senate office building was selected for the drawing and it presented a solemn scene. The witnesses selected were the members of the senate and house military committees whose faces reflected their appreciation of the epochal significance of the event. The 10,500 numbers each enclosed in a black capsule, were placed in a large glass bowl for drawing. As part of the precaution against fraud it was ordered that an official stationed by the bowl, to stir the capsules during the drawing, as well as the man selected for the actual drawing itself should be blindfolded. Two announcers were provided with the idea of securing as much speed as possible, but a single official was designed to check behind both of them and before the making of a permanent record of the order in which the capsules are drawn. The change of plan late yesterday resulted in much unexpected work for the provost marshal general and his assistants. Some of them worked most of the night preparing the additional numbers and capsules needed under the decision to draw the entire 10,500 numbers.

FRENCH STAND AGAINST HARD GERMAN DRIVE

Paris, July 20.—The Germans made a general attack last night on the whole sector of the Aisne front between Craonne and Vaucouleurs, using large bodies of troops. The war office announces that the French withstood their assaults and maintained their positions everywhere. The ground before the French positions was strewn with German dead.

GOT DRUNK FREQUENTLY.

Bessie Berger Alleges William Was Abusive and Failed to Provide.

Setting forth in her complaint for divorce that her husband got drunk frequently and that he was abusive at times and failed to provide for her and their child, Bessie Berger has sued William Berger. She says that in addition to the decree and the custody of the child she be given a proper amount each month for the education and support of the child. She also asks the court to restrain the defendant from drawing his wages and the C. L. Centilvre Brewing company from paying them to him.

RUST HURTS WHEAT CROP

Acreage Will Average About
Fifteen Bushels It is Predicted.

HARVESTING WILL START NEXT WEEK

Farmers Are Compelled to
Corn Fields.

Allen county's wheat crop will not average over fifteen bushels to the acre this year. This assertion was made by one of Adams township's most influential farmers Friday morning. He states that in some districts in the county the acreage will even be less, while in a few places the yield per acre will be somewhat larger.

According to his explanation rust has played havoc with the crop. He stated that recently he went into his own fields and found that the rust was so thick that it had eaten through the leaves of the stalk. He stated that the heavy rust was caused by the extremely wet weather of the past month.

The result of the rust on the wheat crop is that all wheat which had not lost its milk by the time the rust took hold will bear only shriveled grains, not only making the production smaller but the quality poorer.

There are only a few places in the county where wheat has been cut. Reasons for this are two-fold. The majority of the wheat has not ripened and in most cases the ground is so soft that it will not bear up the binders.

The prediction is that the early part of next week will find nearly every farmer busy in the wheat fields cutting the crop.

In speaking of the lateness of the wheat crop this year, one farmer stated that it was not many years ago when he remembered that he had all his wheat hauled into the barn by July 4. Millers state that in previous years new wheat had already put in its appearance. Threshers say they are starting a later start this year than ever before.

Corn Needs Cultivating.
Corn fields need a great deal of attention at the present time, as the weeds are getting the overhand of the belated crop. One farmer related that he had not plowed corn for two weeks and that in order to save portions of his fields from ruin he and his sons had spent several days in the fields with a hoe. This same method of cultivating is being adhered to by many farmers as the ground is too wet to plow with a team of horses.

Oats Looks Fine.
The same farmers who seem to be a trifle worried about the wheat crop show broad smiles when asked about the oats crop. They all voice the same opinion and state that they cannot remember the time when the outlook was brighter.

In the past few weeks the oats have shot up wonderfully in size and have now attained a height of probably four feet. The heads are large and well filled and indications are given that the yield per acre will be a record one for this county. That is provided nothing sets in from now on until it is harvested to damage it.

German Diplomat is Growing in Power

Upon the shoulders of Count Johann H. von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, may fall the task of presenting Germany's peace terms to the enemy powers. Confidential advice to the state department leave no doubt of the growing strength of Bernstorff both with the kaiser and the people.

CHAMP SWIMMER FIGHTING.
Sydney, Australia, July 20.—News was received here lately that G. Finlay of West Australia, the breast stroke champion of the world, received a commission some months ago and is attached to a canal corps of the British army in Egypt. Finlay already had taken part in the campaign in Palestine. He left Australia a private. In 1910 Finlay won the king's cup, one of the most coveted of English trophies for all-around swimming.

MEXICO PLANS REFORMS.
Mexico City, July 20.—Col. Gonzalo de la Mata, chief of police, has submitted to the governor of the federal district and the president of the municipality a project for the establishment in Mexico of a restricted district. In addition to the regulation of the social evil, Colonel de la Mata proposes also to include gambling houses in the district.

The rhizophora mangle, the southern mangrove, is most curious in propagation. The seed sends forth a shoot that really comes through the seed and grows to a foot long. It then falls away and strikes, root end down, in the mud and is at once a plant.

SICKLY BOY IN TWO YEARS BECOMES WORLD'S MOST VALUABLE SOLDIER, WINGING FORTY-FIVE GERMANS

How Geynemer Does It—Tactics of the famous French flyer's aerial attacks which have won him undisputed supremacy as a fighter in the air. Said de la Grange: "George Geynemer, now only 22 years old, began training in February, 1915, on the eve of his examinations for the polytechnical school. "He was tall, slim, delicate, so one feared he might have lung trouble. He had never gone in for sports, and was almost the last man to be picked as promising material for a pilot. "He finished training in three and a half months, not remarkable when compared with Lieutenant Tetu's six weeks. Less than a month after his arrival at the front, armed only with an army rifle, he brought down his first enemy. "His plan of campaign against an enemy machine is simple. "Now remarkably skillful, Geynemer always tries to place himself in a following position so he will not be seen. With wonderful courage he approaches as near as possible without firing, keeping below and behind his adversary. "When he comes almost up to him (90 to 150 feet) he makes his plane rear up like a spirited charger and opens fire. "He is an excellent shot and usually disables his opponent in the first round, but in case he does not he tries to break the fight by some acrobatic maneuver (a half loop, spins, or several sharp turns). "Geynemer is almost alone in the use of these tactics, as most of the other "Aces" (pilots who have brought down five machines) prefer to open fire at greater distances. Geynemer's tactics were also employed by Pegoud, the greatest flyer at the beginning of the war." This story of Geynemer ought to be an inspiration to every young American flyer.

(By BASIL M. MANLY.)
Washington, D. C., July 20.—The most valuable soldier in the world today is a youth of 22, who when he enlisted was a sickly-looking boy in the first stages of consumption. Today France would rather part with two whole army divisions than lose George Geynemer. He is the uncrowned "king of the air," who has brought down forty-five German airplanes. As one aviator is worth 1,000 ordinary troops, Geynemer has strategically wiped out 45,000 Germans. No one soldier ever before approached this pale Frenchman's military value. Captain Amaury de la Grange, head of the French aviation commission now in the United States, today told me all about Geynemer, and explained the tactics that have won him

ICE-MINT ENDS FOOT MISERY
Here's Quick Relief for Sore, Tired, Aching, Swollen, Burning Feet, Painful Corns and Callouses.
Just a Touch Stops Soreness. Instantly the Feet Feel Cool, Easy and Comfortable. Try It!

Here's real foot-comfort for you at last. Say good-by to your old corn salve, liquid, plasters and other dope. The modern way—the sure way—to end foot troubles is by the use of Ice-Mint—a creamy, pleasant, snow-white preparation, whose medicinal ingredients are imported from Japan where the people have the finest, healthiest little feet in the world.

Rub a little Ice-Mint upon any tender, aching corn or callous. Instantly the soreness disappears and a delightful, cooling, soothing feeling is imparted to the skin. In a short time the corn or callous will loosen and may be lifted out easily with the fingers. No rubbing. If your poor, tired, aching, swollen, burning feet ever feel the magic touch of Ice-Mint, they will feel relief with relief. It's grand. It's glorious. Now shoes or long hours of standing have no terrors for the friends of Ice-Mint. Resolve to end your foot misery today. Do not neglect those poor, tired, burning, corn-plagued feet any longer, for here is real "foot-joy" for you at last.

No matter what you have tried or how many times you have been disappointed, Ice-Mint will give you just the relief and satisfaction that you have been longing for. Try it! Ask at any Drug Store today for a small jar of Ice-Mint. It costs little and acts so quickly and gently, it seems like magic. You'll say so yourself.

AUSTRALIAN LOSSES.
Melbourne, Australia, July 20.—The Australian casualties from the beginning of the war up to May 21, 1917, were 60,793, according to a statement issued by the defense department. They were divided as follows: Dead, 24,106; wounded, 31,553; missing, 5,102. It was explained that the men listed as wounded did not include those who had gone back to the trenches.

The Cause of Constipation.
Constipation is usually due to a lack of water in the excrement. To effect a cure you must take more water into the system. It may be months, however, before this has any appreciable effect on the bowels, but when persisted in and fruits and vegetables containing water are eaten freely, the condition may be overcome. In the meantime use the mildest laxatives obtainable and take only enough to produce the desired effect. Chamberlain's Tablets are one of the best. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect.—Advertisement.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

With fine chivalry President Wilson has saved the sixteen imprisoned suffragist pickets from themselves. By exercise of the great prerogative of his office he has pardoned them from the Virginia workhouse, where they were doing time and mental labor in default of paying fines assessed against them for violation of the national capital's traffic ordinances or something of the sort.

The ladies have accepted executive clemency—with something of a superior air, to be sure—but they have taken from the hand of the man they had annoyed and sought by their annoyances to coerce, the grace of pardon. Whether or not they will return grace and cease to annoy him and make sillies of themselves does not seem to be indicated by the spirit in which clemency is received. Nor does it so much matter to any but themselves and their families and of course inclusively the cause they misrepresent and have steadfastly continued to injure during the past four or five months.

If anything could illustrate and emphasize the nonsense and futility of their misdirected enterprise it is the difficulty President Wilson has encountered since the crisis with Germany became desperate in getting congress to march to the music of the union. The militant suffragists have taken the position and asserted the dictum that if the president were to order congress to adopt the Susan B. Anthony resolution for a constitutional amendment conferring complete suffrage on women the thing would be said scarcely sooner than done. More fatuous nonsense could not well be conceived. While it is true that throughout his administration President Wilson has enjoyed an influence over congress to a degree that hardly one of his predecessors ever was able to exert, it is not true that he can make congress uniformly march in the direction he would go. It took weeks to get so vital a measure as the conscription bill through. Weeks have been given to a revenue bill that still is in the handling. The food control measure that the president asked congress to pass and that he has pressed with great force is not yet done into law. Vital as that measure is to the material well-being of the whole country here at home, to the strength and efficiency of America's allies and to the outcome of the war and the future of democracy, the president with all his power of persuasiveness has been unable to overcome hostile influences and consideration of special interests in congress.

Just what the picketing suffragists fancy the president might be able to do in forcing universal woman suffrage upon a congress comprised of so many refractory elements and moved and controlled by so many special and conflicting interests, purposes and self-seeking motives is not plain to rational intelligence. In normal times the advancement of the suffrage cause in congress would be difficult and involved in great uncertainties of outcome. But here we have these women insisting that in the very midst of the most fateful crisis the republic has ever faced, their concerns shall be made paramount, shall take precedence, shall be embraced by the president to the exclusion, if need be, of the national security and have right of way before all else.

The by far greater body of the suffragists of the country know and understand these things and have refused to identify themselves with the congressional unionists, who have sought to adopt the militant plan of campaign to forward the cause. On the contrary the great body of the women enrolled in the suffragists army have deprecated the white house picketing and appealed to the picketers and their leaders to abandon that fashion of warfare. The country can have little patience with the militants, though of course it will approve and applaud the graciousness and magnanimity of the president in pardoning from penal servitude the foolish women who have chosen a silly martyrdom as a preferred alternative to dignified propaganda and the duties of home.

WHAT IS WANTED IS ACTION.

No doubt a food control board of three members will be able to do much for the conservation of foodstuffs and the fair regulation of prices. We do not believe the country is greatly interested in the difference between such a board and a dictatorship with Mr. Hoover at the head of it. It is understood, of course, that if the provision now in the senate bill for a board of three becomes the law Mr. Hoover will be one of the trio to administer the food concerns of the country. Much will depend upon the character and capacity of the men chosen to membership of such a body.

The unhappy and unfortunate squabbles that have brought the affairs of the shipping board to a crisis and have caused what must be costly delays in the development of American tonnage furnish no very happy augury for a food control board. There can be no assurance that within the first week of the board's functioning similar differences of opinion will not arise and a similar deadlock be brought about. While the shipping board's quarrels go on the U-boats continue to diminish the world's tonnage. So, while a food board might spend a week or a month in disputing about authority, precedence, ways and means or what not, the speculators would make a field day of the time and cram their storehouses with grain and vegetables, with poultry and eggs, with butter and meat and in general prepare to rape the public so soon as the consumer must depend upon storages for supplies.

This, of course, may be an idle and gratuitous anticipation of trouble—a vain imagining of evil. If there is to be a food board it is not for a moment to be questioned that President Wilson will exhaust every reasonable effort that can be employed with costly delay to get men for those places who will do the best for the country. It is not inconceivable that a board whose members will work harmoniously, intelligently and with strong courage and with patriotic effacement of self can be found at once by the president and they will go at their job and stick to it without friction. If it shall so turn out well and good. In any event it ought to be possible to find two men who, with Mr. Hoover, can make food control an effectual matter and accomplish what the president and most of the members of congress have designed shall be accomplished. Either a board or a director will suit the people if either will but get the results aimed at. There is no fear in the public mind that a director will be a dictator and that the destruction of our democracy will date from his advent. Mr. Hoover, who has been chosen for director, if congress provide for such an official, is an American citizen and perhaps has no more desire to wreck the democracy than the next man. With him alone or with him in association with two other strong and efficient men animated by patriotic sentiments and motives, the country will be fortunate in his highly skilled and widely experienced service.

The question that agitates the bosom of the country is not that out of food control may come a subversion of democracy, but that out of congressional bickerings and delay may come a winter of ruthless and piratical profiteering. No one is worrying about Hoover or about the difference between a director and board.

HATTIESBURG SAYS 'TAINT SO AND IT'S TRUE, THERE'S NOTHING TO IT AFTER ALL

(Hattiesburg, Miss., News.)

This cantonment matter is such a big thing, we will have to take several tries at it. Most of us no doubt have been looking at it through narrow glasses; with lenses that converge to one center—the city of Hattiesburg. But it is a sight bigger thing than that. It is as big a thing for South Mississippi as it is for Hattiesburg. It will give to all this section of the state that most needed of all things—wide publicity.

There is a great prejudice against Mississippi. Not a mean prejudice, but a mistaken prejudice. General Wood, traveled and able and fair man that he is, was prejudiced against this section before he came to see it. He said so. He thought the land was low and flat and swampy; that the air fairly buzzed with the song of the pesky mosquito. He had no thought of locating a camp anywhere near here when he came. But he saw, and was conquered; and like wise men often do, he changed his mind, and like a brave man, he made the amende honorable by putting Hattiesburg on the map.

Now, if General Wood could be so mistaken, we can readily understand how "the common herd" could be mistaken, and how that general mistake should grow into a prejudice harmful to this part of the state.

The boys who will be leaving Kentucky and Indiana soon, and their parents, are doubtless imbued with that same mistake. They think they are coming into a swarm of mosquitoes and a malaria-ridden district; a low, level, swampy country. They will be agreeably surprised when they get here. When they get out to Camp Crawford, and pitch their tents on an elevation that will give them a view as beautiful as any they have ever seen outside the matchless blue grass region of old Kentucky, and when they meet a breeze, an almost constant, steady breeze from the gulf to fan their cheeks; and drink the purest, clearest water they ever tasted in their lives, from flowing artesian wells, they will write back home a new and almost unbelievable story to their fond and anxious parents, and the stories they tell will find their way into the newspapers, and thousands and tens of thousands of people will have their eyes opened as to what South Mississippi actually is.

And they will come and see and be conquered. Just as General Wood was. And they will find our people as hospitable as our climate is inviting. And the smell of the pine forest mixed with that of the magnolia, will be sweet to them. And they will find as many satsuma oranges growing here as there are apples in Indiana, and every little way they may rest themselves under the enveloping shade of a soft-shell pecan tree.

We have been trying to tell the world this these many years, but they thought we had land to sell or something to boost, and they would not listen. But they know their own sons have nothing to sell, and when the message comes back home from them, all of Kentucky and Indiana and the middle west will sit up and take notice, and the next thing you know some of them will be coming down here to see for themselves; and when they come they will stay and live among us and help us develop this section of great resources; because we sure have got the goods.

Think of the publicity thirty thousand letters a week will give to this section. Think of the amount of prejudice and misinformation their plain, unvarnished tales will dispel.

That's just one of the things this cantonment means and one of the things it will do for all of South Mississippi. And Hattiesburg is glad that its effect and good results will reach out so far; because, even from a selfish standpoint, whatever helps South Mississippi helps Hattiesburg.

Come on, boys; lots of Kentuckians and not a few Indians already down here, and a hearty, royal, southern welcome awaits you.

It doesn't thrive on a cold body and an empty belly.

THE NORTHCLEFFE MISSION.

(London Chronicle.)

Mystery still surrounds the "special mission" which Lord Northcliffe has undertaken to America. The official announcement was misleading, the Northcliffe press interpretation of it inaccurate and the explanations of ministers inconsistent. In the meantime one of his lordship's interests (if not objects) in the "special mission" is being achieved, it and he are talked about. Lord Northcliffe is not going to hide his light under a bushel, either on this side or the other. Few of the American papers have shown much interest in his mission or expressed sympathy with him but he has his own press agents at work.

The statements about his activities which are being cabled from America for his own newspapers bear the impress of the publicity agent, which shows that his lordship has taken his court newsmen with him. We hope that whatever his mission may be, he will render a service to his country, but if he aspires (as the Northcliffe press assumes) to be the "successor of Mr. Balfour," he should try and emulate one of Mr. Balfour's chief characteristics.

Louis Weyer, who will be recalled as a former clerk in Dr. J. B. Strayer's drug store, but who later held a position with Lord Owen & Co.'s drug house, Chicago, has returned from a ten months' trip to Arizona, California and New Mexico. When he left his health was broken down, but the trip has built him up and made him a new man.

Last night a Sentinel reporter visited Huntington, the old home of Oscar Strayer, who, it is alleged, is the slayer of John Johnson, in the bloody tragedy which occurred on Creighton avenue, in this city, on Tuesday night. The reporter met James Strayer, Oscar's only brother, who was terribly shocked to learn of the affair. He said that while Oscar was of a quarrelsome disposition and had many fist fights, he was never known to carry a dirk, revolver or any other dangerous weapon.

FATHEADS OF SENATE HELPING FOOD HOGS PREPARE OWN DOOM

(By N. D. COCHRAN.)

All over this country men, women and children are patriotically doing their best to help President Wilson conserve the food supply of the country.

They are saving and skimping. They are doing their bit without a murmur.

Fathers and mothers are giving their boys to the army and navy—to fight to make the world safe for democracy. They are figuring at the family council table how to live and still pay the grocer and butcher.

And down here in Washington a lot of fat-head senators are backing and filling, stalling and stalling, putting off and putting off, darning fool amendments to a bill that would enable the president to bring down the cost of living within speaking distance of wages.

There is no difference between democrats and republicans. That's bunk. It's merely a difference between men.

It isn't love for democracy, love for humanity, or anything of the kind that makes them putter with the food control bill. It can't be anything but the powerful influence of profit mongers who want to make money out of this war.

They are not satisfied with peace profits. They want war profits. They want war profits out of steel, coal, food and everything the government needs for the army and navy, and everything the people have to have in order to live.

They want our boys to cross the ocean, taking chances of being sunk by German submarines, and to give up their lives on the bloody fields of Belgium and France.

They want the people to be patriotic and patriotically welcome compulsory military service. And yet, at the same time, these food and business hogs want to make money out of it. They're blind. They're ignorant. They are not smart enough to see that the people won't stand for that kind of a game.

They don't seem to realize that the next move will be an overwhelming demand that the government—the people's government—take over the coal mines, the packing and cold storage plants, the grain elevators, the steel mills, the ship yards, the factories and anything else that may be necessary to make patriotism take no thought of profit and fight our part of this war for the welfare of our own people while we're making the world safe for democracy.

tail? I like either blondes or brunettes. Do you? I am blonde. I have a girl chum that is writing to another fellow, maybe you know him. Wouldn't it be nice if we could all meet at Fort Harrison some Sunday? Are you going with any girl steady? I am sending you a small picture of myself, but it's not very good of me. Please write to me right away, because I am so lonesome, and I want some soldier to think of me when he is fighting for his country. Some of the letters are if different tones, and evidently are from girls of refinement and dignity. What the candidates call the "romantic stuff" is lacking. One man at the camp has each week been receiving a letter and a pack of cigarettes, or some other little gift from a girl in Texas. After the first gift he wrote her telling her he did not wish the gifts. She replied:

I am not sending them to you, Mr. I am sending them to one of Uncle Sam's soldiers. It gives me pleasure to do this, and I am sending similar packs to one man in each of the training camps. When the war is over, or when you, for any reason, take off your uniform, you will, in your own proper person, receive no more cigarettes from.....

Let the Boys Alone. In speaking to women who have asked him "what can we do for the soldiers," General Glenn said, "My answer is—here at home—let them alone. The American soldier when let alone, is the most peaceful and uncomplaining animal in the world. You don't think much of him in time of peace, but in time of war you fall over yourselves to do something for him—you don't know what it is, but it is pretty certain to be bad for him. I've got 11,000 of them out there at the camp—enlisted men and student officers, as well as 3,000 workmen. Please, please, don't send them things to eat—they have all they want. We are doing the very best we can for these boys, and we are going to give them, and your boys—the boys these student officers will command—a sporting chance, and that is all anybody can ask."

General Glenn told the women that when the troops went abroad that was a different matter, and then good reading matter, newspapers, books and magazines would be acceptable, as well as small comforts the government does not provide. Among these little comforts, General Glenn suggested that the women might supply the soldiers, when they go abroad, with needles, thread and thimble. "But I never learned to use one of those things myself," added the general, referring to thimbles. Advice to trust the Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross in providing diversion for the soldiers also was given by General Glenn.

MAKING LIFE HAPPY FOR THE SOLDIERS

Sentimental Young Ladies Write Tender Notes to Training Heroes.

Indianapolis, July 20.—Efforts of Indianapolis women to provide entertainment for the student officers from West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, and soldiers at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near here, have been given a more or less chilly reception by the army officers in charge of the camp, and Brigadier General Edwin F. Glenn, in command of the 11,000 men at the fort in three words has told the women what to do. He said, "Leave them alone." The advice was given to the women at a meeting held to discuss what to do to entertain the candidates and soldiers. General Glenn was invited to give suggestions. His advice was unexpected. General Glenn also has been conducting for some time a campaign to keep young women and girls without chaperons from the camp.

Although the efforts of the commanding officers along that line have met with some success, as yet no ways have been devised to keep women and girls from writing to the student officers. Every day hundreds of letters are received by the young men from women they never heard of before. Most of the letters are of the so-called romantic type, but occasionally one of a different kind is received.

The objection of letter writing to soldiers at the training camps, in the opinion of the commanding officers, is confined to missives from emotional sentimental women and girls and not all of the offenders against propriety are young women.

Little or no objection is made to clean, wholesome letters devoid of sentimentality or reference to the personality of the writer and her wish to meet the soldier recipient of the letter. "Soft" Ones Circulated.

The young woman writers evidently do not know what the men do with the letters. One of the favorite pastimes of the candidates, and one which provides them much amusement, is reading the letters they consider especially "soft" to their comrades, and comparing them. Following are some of the types of letters:

Dear Mr.: I saw your name in a newspaper and picked it out because I liked it. We girls in this town are so lonesome, and I do want to be a real friend with some fine, big man who is a soldier. There aren't any soldiers here. I am 23 years old, five feet, four inches tall and a brunette, and my friends tell me I am, at least, not ugly. Are you married or engaged? I am not. If you are, or if you do not want to write to me, will you give this letter to some other man? I will send you my picture if you write to me. Yours hopefully,

The letter was from a girl in a small Indiana town.

All of the letters, however, are not from Indiana girls. Many come from far distant states. How the names of the students become known to the writers has been more or less a mystery.

Another Sample of Them. I love manly soldiers. I just think they are grand. But we don't see many here. Maybe some time I could come to Fort Harrison on a Sunday. I've been told I look like (reading a well known motion picture star) and I got curls that come down around my shoulders. Are you

One of the first dinner parties to be given at the Elks Country club took place last evening with Miss Hortense Grimme as the hostess and Miss Mary Anna Schwieters, of Louisville, Ky., as honor guest. The table was handsomely laid and the menu was delicious. Baskets of sweetpeas made individual gifts and decorated the center of the table and other appointments of the table were expressed in dainty pink and white coloring. Covers were laid for ten. Miss Schwieters has been visiting Miss Helen Freiburger, of West Jefferson street, and other relatives in the city.

Miss Anna Petty, of Frankfort, Ind., is the guest of Miss Helen Christen. Mrs. Guy Mahurin has returned from a two-weeks' visit in the country. Mrs. Al Holzworth and Mrs. D. H. Richey are in Rochester, Wis., visiting. Miss Mildred Cruell, of South Bend, is visiting Miss Myrtle Graeter for a few days.

Miss Martha Thieme, of Fairfield avenue, is visiting Miss Marian Anderson in Chicago.

Mrs. P. M. Baxter, of Cleveland, is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. K. Blair, of East Berry street.

Miss Cyril Schaefer, of East Lewis street, has returned from a visit in Benton Harbor, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Kramer and daughter, Clara, of Hamilton, O., are making a visit here with relatives and friends.

Misses Charlotte O'Connell and Velma and Muriel Noll are at St. Mary's, of-the-woods, Terre Haute, for a week's visit.

Misses Alice and Mayne Crets, of Cincinnati, are visiting their brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Crets, of Jackson street.

G. W. Atwater and daughters, Margaret, Juanita, Wanda and May and Earl Hudson are to leave tomorrow for Madison, Wis., on a trip.

Mrs. T. W. Bauer and two daughters, Viola and Beulah, will leave on Saturday for a visit of some weeks at the home of her grandfather, Waynesboro, Pa.

Mrs. M. C. Norton is spending a few days in Chicago and will meet her mother, Mrs. Kilgore, of Anderson, who has just returned from a trip to the Philippines and California.

Rev. and Mrs. Otto Jungkuntz are now touring northern Michigan points and have been in Duluth, Minn., a part of the time. Mrs. Jungkuntz was Miss Clara Lange and her wedding was a June event.

Miss May Covington, a missionary from San Salvador, Central America, for two years, has come home for a vacation visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Covington, who live in the country on the Covington road.

Mr. and Mrs. George Humphrey and Mr. and Mrs. John Rohman are planning a two weeks' automobile trip to begin next Sunday. They will motor to Niagara and then to several points in Michigan to visit relatives and friends.

Misses Eleanor and Lida Brannon, who are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Lowry, and other relatives, are to go to Beloit, Wis., on Monday, to join their father, Prof. M. A. Brannon, who has recently accepted the position of president of the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Pauline Braun acted as hostess for a watermelon party on Wednesday evening in Lakeside park. All the company spent a delightful time. The guests were Misses Ellen Poinsette, Grace Braun, Clara Koenig, Leona Hockemeyer, Caryl Helms, Helen Hedlin, Gladys Poinsette, Mary Burnett, Rose Bent, Evelyn Gooddin, Frieda Schenemark.

Many friends in this city of Lee F. Hartman will regret to hear of the death of the oldest child of Mr. Hartman and his wife, a daughter, Natalie, who passed away on July 17, after a long period of ill health. Mr. and Mrs. Hartman live in Montclair, N. J., and Mr. Hartman is still associated with the editorial staff of Harper Bros. Mr. Hartman was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Len Hartman, very prominent citizens of Fort Wayne during their lives, and he was educated in the Fort Wayne schools before entering college life. Two other children of Mr. and Mrs. Hartman are living.

A merry surprise was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Garton, of Holton avenue, on Tuesday evening to honor Mr. Garton's birthday anniversary. Mrs. Garton arranged the party and the following friends attended and enjoyed games and an excellent luncheon: Misses Irene Hilliker, Ellie Mann, Lela Cocom, Dollie Richardson, Cella Richardson, Florence Yocum, Marie Nobel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. James Garton and Messrs. George Ehart, Harry Cooper, Ross Wiles, Bill Rider, Mrs. Will McCaffery and son, Dale, of Bowser avenue, left on Friday for a visit with friends in North Manchester and Ellettsville. Mrs. McCaffery's mother accompanied her daughter for a day's visit.

New Way to Kill the Ant So It Stays Dead

Whether they are of the big black variety or the small red kind of ants, if they invade a dwelling place, are an annoyance that drive good housewives to the verge of distraction.

Once they get into a house it seems practically impossible to get entirely rid of them. So widespread is this problem and so many appeals have been made to health officers and government departments for information as to the best method of getting rid of ants that an official remedy has been recommended by the United States department of agriculture, bureau of Entomology.

The chief entomologist recommends arsenate of soda, which, while efficient, must be used with extreme care.

To one pound of sugar, dissolved in a quart of water, add 125 grains of arsenate of soda. This mixture should be boiled and strained and cooled before it is ready for use.

Procure a few small sponges and saturate with the syrup and place them where the ants can have ready access to them. Adding a little honey to the syrup will make the mixture more attractive to the ants.

When the sponges are filled or covered with ants, dip them in boiling water, refill with the syrup and place in position again.

This method of control has been tested for three years by an expert of the United States Bureau of Entomology and has given satisfactory results.

However, in using this preparation the greatest possible precautions should be taken in preparing this syrup and in safe-guarding it afterwards to prevent its being the cause of poisoning to members of the family or domestic animals. Especially should it be sealed and put away where children cannot get it.

Tailor-Made Gown for Early Mourning Wear

BY BETTY BROWN.

A firm which specializes on garments for mourning wear continues to use black faille as the conventional material. While trimming of any kind is considered out of place on a mourning garment, the huge sleeves and extra broad collar are telling points of style in a very handsome coat suit.

Although many fall suits have the "tuxedo" tube, or straight up-and-down line, those designed for mourning wear retain the belt and full skirt which can never be considered too striking or freaky.

Methods for Canning Obtained by Writing

Those who heeded the advice of the United States department of agriculture to plant gardens this year are now wondering how best to preserve their surplus fruits and vegetables. The specialists of the department, who have tried out various methods for canning, preserving, drying, pickling, and making jam, have recently issued bulletins showing how this work may be done successfully. Anyone can have these publications for the asking, so ignorance of the proper procedure will not serve as a legitimate excuse for allowing any garden produce to spoil this year.

Farmers' bulletin 839 contains directions for canning by the one-portion cold-pack method all kinds of fruits and vegetables as well as fruit juices, soups, meats, camp rations and mushrooms.

When canning is not feasible or cans and jars are too expensive, drying offers a means of saving large quantities of surplus products which go to waste each year. Drying also affords a way of conserving portions of food too small for canning. Drying may be done in the sun, over the kitchen stove, or before an electric fan. Farmers' bulletin 841 tells just how to do this, using one of the driers now on the market or a home-made apparatus.

These bulletins are sent upon request to the division of publications, United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C. Send for copies for yourself and tell your neighbors about them. Fruits and vegetables preserved in any of these ways will help you in planning your three meals a day next winter.

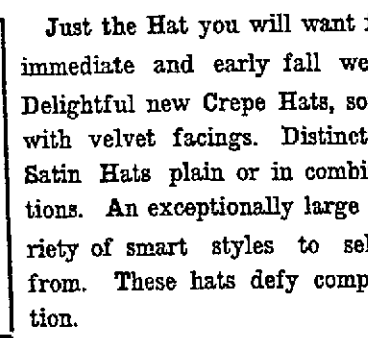

CLEVER WAYS OF MAKING SOFT LIGHTS IN THE HOME

The girl who stencils will recognize in her oilied stencil paper a possibility for making one of the new paper lamp shades. The oiling of the board or paper makes it translucent in designs and stripes to match the general decorative scheme. Used in the natural old gold color they are equally lovely, especially if the base of the lamp is of a solid bright color.

Another way to treat the paper shade is to paste cutout designs from cretonne on the paper and paint in the background with black enamel thinned out as much as possible. This method makes the light shine through the colored designs and leaves the background opaque. Such a shade should not be used, however, where there is only one lamp in the room and where plenty of lights are needed.

A clever way of mellowing the light from these more decidedly designed paper shades is to cover the outside with a layer of delicate gauze in a deep cream or rose color. This will not interfere with the effect of the design, but will prove to give a much softer lighting effect than the plain shade.

MILK CAN SOON SPOIL UNLESS TAKEN CARE OF

Much has been said and much has been done to see that the milk dealers give the consumer pure milk, yet little has been said and less has been done to see that Mr. Consumer keeps it pure and clean. The dairyman is endeavoring faithfully to do his share to eliminate uncleanness and disease, but he can't do it all; the housewife must do her share.

The health department rules insist that milk must be pure, clean, cold and unadulterated when it is placed at the consumer's door, but it only makes suggestions to the housewife how to care for it after she receives it. Milk that is delivered in first-class condition can soon spoil if not cared for properly.

How many housewives are careful to put the milk immediately upon the ice?

Milk absorbs odors very rapidly and collects germs just as quickly. These may not produce disease, though they frequently do, but it is almost sure to produce digestive disturbances when fed to babies. Summer diarrhoea is very commonly blamed on this and is frequently blamed to the teeth, yet most often it is due to their food. As soon as the milk is delivered at the door it should be taken in, the cap removed, the bottle wiped and a tumbler placed over the top of the bottle before it is placed in the spotlessly clean refrigerator. When removing the cap never push it in with the finger, but lift it with a regular milk bottle opener or a sharp-tined fork. Keep the milk in the regular bottle until used.

HOW TO KEEP WHAT YOU HAVE RAISED

Points on Natural Winter Storage of Vegetables in the Home.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—In order that householders may utilize spare time during this summer to put their cellars in shape for the winter storage of the surplus vegetables which will be grown on the home gardens that have been planted this year, or that they may make plans for other methods of natural storage, the United States department of agriculture has prepared the following discussion on the storing of vegetables:

Home Storage of Vegetables.
To those persons fortunate enough to possess land for the growing of vegetables sufficient in quantity for the needs of the family, storage is an economic necessity. Likewise it is an economic necessity to grow vegetables to store. A half acre garden should produce far more vegetables than the average family can consume during the maturing period of the crops. Only a small portion of the garden should be planted to those vegetables which must be used as soon as they reach maturity. The remainder should be devoted to crops that are to be canned, dried, or stored. It is comparatively easy to keep by storing such vegetables as potatoes, beets, carrots, parsnips, salsify, turnips, cabbage, celery, onions, sweet potatoes, dry beans and dry lima beans. Some of the crops may be stored in the cellar under the dwelling, in pits or banks, or in caves or outdoor cellars. Others can be kept in any dry place such as the pantry or attic.

The Storage Room in the Basement.
Many houses are heated by a furnace in the cellar. The pipes are a rule carried under the joist, thus warming the cellar to some extent. For this reason it is best to partition off a small room in one corner of the cellar to serve as a storage room for potatoes, beets, carrots, parsnips, salsify and turnips. If possible, this room should have at least one window for the purpose of regulating the temperature. The floor should not be concrete, as the natural earth makes better conditions for the keeping of vegetables. Bins may be constructed for the various products, or they may be stored in boxes, baskets or barrels. This room will also serve as a storage place for fresh fruits and canned goods. The vegetables to be stored should be harvested when the ground is dry, allowed to lie on the surface long enough for the moisture to dry off before placing them in storage. The tops should be removed from beets, turnips, carrots and salsify before placing them in storage.

Outdoor Pits or Banks.
Outdoor pits or banks are very generally used for keeping potatoes, beets, carrots, turnips, parsnips, cabbage and salsify. Select a well drained location and make a shallow excavation, some six or eight inches deep, and of suitable size. This is lined with straw, leaves or similar material, and the vegetables placed in a conical pile on the material. The vegetables are then covered with straw or similar material, and finally with earth to a depth of several inches. The depth of the earth covering is determined by the severity of the winters in the particular locality. It is well to cover the pits with straw, corn fodder or manure during severe weather. Such pits keep the above vegetables very well, but have the objection that it is hard to get the material out in cold weather, and where the pit is once opened it is desirable to remove the entire contents. For this reason several small pits rather than one large one should be constructed so that the entire contents may be removed at one time. Instead of storing each crop in a pit by itself, it is better to place several vegetables of similar keeping quality and requirement in the same pit, so that it will only be necessary to open one pit to get a supply of all of them. In storing several crops in the same pit it is a good plan to separate them with straw, leaves or other material. The vegetables from the small pit may be placed in the basement storage room where they can be easily secured as needed for the table.

Cabbage may be stored in a special kind of bank or pit. The excavation is made long and narrow and about the same depth as for the other vegetables. The cabbages are pulled and placed in rows in the pit with the heads down and roots up. The whole is covered with dirt, no straw or litter need be used. These pits are made as long as desired, as it is possible to remove portions of the stored product without disturbing the remainder. Cabbage need not be covered as deeply as potatoes, as slight freezing does not injure the cabbage. The heads of cabbage are sometimes stored in banks or pits in a manner similar to potatoes, turnips, etc. This method is open to the same objection as when it is used for potatoes; it is hard to get at the material when it is needed. Another method of storing cabbage consists in setting the whole plant in trenches side by side with the roots down and as close together as they can be placed. Dirt is thrown over the roots and against the stalks to the depth of several inches. A low fence is built around the storage place and rails, scantling, or other supports laid across the top. About two feet of straw or other material is then piled on top of the storage pit.

Celery may be stored in a modified type of outside pit, or in the row where it is grown. When stored in a pit or trench the plants are taken up and set side by side in a shallow pit as close together as it is feasible to pack them, and wide boards set up along the outside of the pit. Dirt is banked against these boards, and the top covered over with corn fodder or similar material. When celery is kept in the row where it is grown the earth is banked up around the plants as the weather gets cold. When freezing weather occurs the dirt should be brought to the tops of the plants and the ridge covered with coarse manure, straw or fodder, held in place by means of stakes or boards.

Outdoor Caves or Cellars.
Outdoor caves or cellars are superior to banks or pits in many respects. They require no more labor to store the vegetables than an indoor cellar, yet give a uniform and low temperature during the entire year. They possess practically all the advantages of the bank or pit, yet may be entered at any time during the winter for the removal of any portion of the stored product without endangering the keeping quality of the material that remains. These storage cellars are usually made partially underground, although in the southern portion of the country they are usually entirely above ground. In sections where severe freezing occurs it is well to have the cellar partially underground. In order to avoid steps down to the level of the floor, with the consequent extra labor in storing and removing the vegetables, a side hill location is desirable for the cellar. An excavation is made into the hill of the approximate size of the cellar. The dirt from this excavation may be used for covering the roof and for banking against the sides of the structure. A frame should be erected by setting posts in rows in the bottom of the pit near the dirt walls, sawing these off at a uniform height, placing plates on top of the posts, and erecting rafters on these plates. The whole should be boarded up on the outside of the posts, with the exception of a space for a door in one end. The whole structure, except the door, is covered with dirt and sod. The thickness of the covering will be determined by the location. The colder the climate, the thicker the covering. The dirt covering may be supplemented by a layer of manure, straw, corn fodder, etc., in winter time. Outdoor cellars are usually left with dirt floors as a certain amount of moisture is desirable. These cellars may also be made of concrete, brick, stone or other material. Such cellars are to be found in many sections of the country, and provide almost ideal storage facilities for potatoes, beets, turnips, carrots, parsnips, salsify and celery.

Irish Potatoes.
Irish potatoes can be stored in pits, root cellars or above ground, frost-proof storage warehouses. Small quantities or even carload lots of potatoes are often placed in pits in the field when other storage facilities are not available. Immature potatoes can not be successfully stored for any considerable period even in the best of storages and should never be pitted or buried. Well matured tubers of either early or late sorts, if sound and in a dormant condition upon the advent of freezing weather in the autumn, may be kept until required for table use or for planting by pitting, storing in potato cellars, of which there are many designs, or in above-ground, frost-proof buildings. The commercial storage of Irish potatoes is discussed in farmers' bulletin 847, entitled, "Potato Storage and Storage Houses."

Sweet Potatoes.
Sweet potatoes should be thoroughly

ly matured before harvesting, dug while the ground is dry, carefully handled, and thoroughly cured by holding them at a temperature of 80 to 85 degrees F., for a week or ten days after harvesting. After this they should be stored in a place where the temperature remains in the neighborhood of 55 degrees F. Such a location is usually near the furnace chimney in the cellar, or near the furnace in the second floor of the house. There is little merit in wrapping them in paper or burying them in sand. Sweet potatoes are stored in outdoor pits or banks but this method is not to be recommended except where no other facilities are available. Sweet potatoes stored in pits are not as good in quality as those stored in houses. For further information on storing sweet potatoes write for farmers' bulletin No. 548.

Onions.
Onions should be well matured before harvesting, and should be allowed to become thoroughly dry before being stored. They may be put up in baskets, crates, or bags, and placed in a cool dry place. The attic is better than the unheated cellar for storing onions. Temperatures slightly below the freezing point do not injure them, provided they are not moved or handled while frozen. The commercial storage of onions is briefly discussed in farmers' bulletin No. 354.

Beans, Peas and Other Dried Products.
Such vegetables as may be kept in the dry state should be grown to as great an extent as possible. Various kinds of beans, including lima beans, should be allowed to dry on the vines. Lima beans should be gathered as they mature, and placed in a warm dry place until dry enough to shell.

Dried corn, dried apples, peaches, apricots, raspberries, etc., may be stored in the same manner. All dried products should be protected against insects, rodents and dirt.

WAR DEBRIS A PROBLEM.

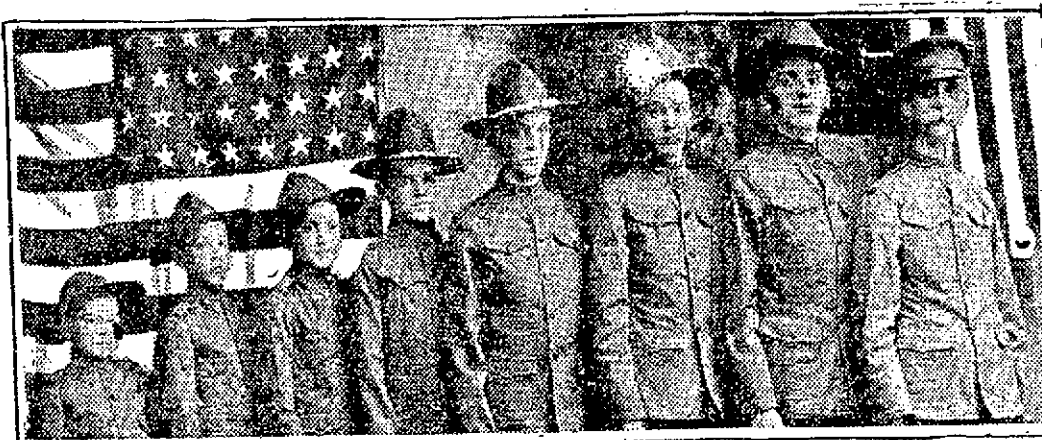

Lyons, France, July 20.—The debris of war has accumulated to such an extent in France that the government has decided to begin disposing of it without waiting for the end of hostilities. A commission has been appointed to inventory all the materials and equipment that have been discarded by the army and navy, to classify them and ascertain how they may be sold to the best advantage. The commission is asked to determine where the second-hand material may be used to best facilitate the economic revival in France after the war.

Jersey City, N. J., July 19.—The whole Mezey family is eager to fight! Their blood is Hungarian, but every man-jack, and woman-jane of them, from short pants to white-bearded father, is pulling night and day for Uncle Sam.

If there is another family in the United States which can equal in patriotism Ernest Mezey's, Jersey City folk would like names and addresses. Mezey is 56. He has been a naturalized citizen of the United States twenty-three years, and has brought up a family of fifteen children, seven sons and eight daughters, to put the land of his adoption FIRST in their thoughts. Every son is a member of some military organization, and every daughter is a member of the Red Cross.

"When war was declared," said Mezey, "I wrote President Wilson, offering the services of myself and fifteen children. The president was kind enough to thank me. Now, we are ready for duty."

Mezey's oldest son, Ernest, 34, has been for three years a member of the New Jersey national guard. The next two sons, Fred, 18, and Oscar, 16, are members of Battery C, Second field artillery, New York national guard. Charlie, 15, is in Dickinson High military company, and the three youngest boys, Louis 14, Albert 12 and Alex 10, are boy scouts. All intend to join Uncle Sam's military forces "as soon as I am old enough." The daughters, married, are working for the American Red Cross.

Today's lesson in French differs from the previous lessons, in that it takes up French slang—the daily language of the folks in the trenches. In the above lesson the first line indicates the English phrase, the second line the French slang expression that equals it, the third line is the French phrase and the fourth line the English pronunciation of the French words.

In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters A and U indicate the "long" sounds of those letters, as in "bâte" and "dûce"; curved lines denote their "short" sounds, as in "bat" and "but"; two dots over the U indicate a sound similar to the German "ue," which can best be imitated by trying to pronounce "oe" and "oo" at the same time; the small G above the line indicates the French nasal, which is not pronounced.

THIRTEEN HALF-SOLDS.
Petoskey, Mich.—Charles Clayton has written Washington for a patent on half-soling shoes with remnants of worn auto tires. "Auto tires only wear out in patches," said Clayton.

"Other parts are good. Anything that will half-sole an automobile for a 5,000-mile guarantee will half-sole anything that walks. Think of a 5,000-mile guarantee on a pair of half-soles!"

PIGS-RAID WAR GARDENS.
Milledred, N. H.—Milledred citizens, awakened when the town crier rang the city hall bell, thought it was a fire and got the hose cut out. The crier had detected war garden raiders, and suspected German spies, who fed. More conservative citizens blame Silas Perkins' pigs, and a court ordinance for pigs will be passed at the next town meeting.

SHAKE STEALS HER JOB.
Lilliputian, Me.—Miss Libbie Mostentumble has refused a fine-paying position as teacher in the Philippines. While visiting her sister in Tilton, Miss Mostentumble looked up Philippine books and found three chapters on snakes in one book. Of Irish ancestry on her mother's side, Miss Mostentumble has hated snakes since one circled her ankle at the Sunday school picnic.

DUCK RAISERS IN ROW.
Demarest, Pa.—The Dalton postmaster has resigned because of a town fight. A letter addressed to the "Best Duck Raiser of Dalton" came to the postmaster, and Cyril Harcourt, who supplies the Demarest hotel with ducks, claimed it. Harcourt says the postmaster wanted to give the letter to Alpheus Seidmore, who does his wife's washing, to get a rebate. The entire town took sides. Harcourt raises only Indian runner ducks.

"WOODMAN, SPARE TREE."
Lost Horse, Wyo.—Residents have protested against razing of an old landmark by Lincoln highway graders. The landmark is a tree of great historic interest since pioneer days. It was the center for hanging bees for miles around and some of the best and most noted horse thieves were hanged there. Citizens think old landmarks will get scarcer and scarcer in time, anyhow.

SUSPECT GERMAN SPIES.
Stake, Mont.—Abraham Locke wrote the United States marshal some one had poisoned his well. Locke is working on an unbreakable buckle-pad for army mules and suspected the kaiser's agents. Failing to pump out the well, officers seized it, and found first models of the buckle pads. Locke had made them out of skunk hide. He thinks his little son threw them in the well.

OFFICIALS BLOCKING OIL COMPANY MOVE

Will Take Only Personal Bond for the Large Tanks.

Is the board of works deliberately blocking the way of the Sinclair Refining company, which has been granted the council's approval for installing several large tanks in Fort Wayne?

Many citizens believe that the action of the board in demanding that only a personal bond be given for the safety of the tanks is a prohibitory measure. It will be difficult for the company members to furnish personal bond in that amount. Their offer of $25,000 bond, signed by a reliable bonding company, was waved aside by board members, Thursday night.

Mayor W. J. Hosey is known to be heart and soul against the plan to place a battery of large capacity oil and gasfine tanks inside the city limits. He believes that life and property will be endangered. He has said that he would fight the move at every possible point and that he believed the city officers would yet find a way to block the installing of the big tanks.

Action of the board of works in refusing to take the proffered bond of the refining company is thought by many to be the first move in an effort to halt the building of the oil containers, along the Walhach railroad, inside the city limits. It has been hinted that if the bonding company secures a personal bond the building inspector will stop forward and declare that he cannot permit the "dangerous tanks" to be raised.

Certain councilmen have changed their attitude towards the tank building question, it is said. Several of the men who voted for the measure a few weeks ago are against it now because their constituents have raised objections to the placing of the oil tanks in the east end. Insurance men have raised their voices against the placing of the tanks near property insured by their several companies. The insurance rate of the city will be raised because of the danger from the east end tanks, it has been given out.

The board of works members could have found a way out of the situation of refusing the oil tank bond, Thursday evening, it is claimed by some who see in the move an effort to check the building plans of the Sinclair Refining company. Whether the speculation will not allow the tanks to be erected is well grounded will depend upon future action of city officials.

The managers of the Sinclair company state that they believe they will be able to secure the large personal bond asked. They do not believe that fears of officials regarding the danger from the tanks are well grounded.

WHERE TO SPEND YOUR VACATION.

At Home.

You said it Luke the old wigwag is the real camping grounds to make a vacation live up to its name. Frinstance walking up in the a. m. and lie in bed and listen to the hoofbeats of the other citizens anking to work.

No losing 10 pounds weight worrying about your baggage, berth or trains, reading time tables, bucking up against different kinds of cooking, half slept nights in strange beds, and, most of all, money in the pocket, when you spend your vacation at home. When you go away for a vacation you come back so durned tired the 50 future weeks are a rest. At home, you get so tired of loafing you can't wait to bend the time clock's nose on the Monday morning back to work. And so it goes, Lawrence. As they say in the classics—"Que Vadis?"

HERE ARE LATEST PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE CAMP WHERE EXILED MOB OF INDUSTRIAL WORKERS OF WORLD ARE INTERNED IN NEW MEXICO

Here are the first photos of the I. W. W. internment camp at Columbus, N. M., where the men deported from this state are taken. In camp at Columbus the deportees are under the protection of the federal government. Upper photo shows them lined up for ration. Tent quarters are shown in background. Single figure at left is a camp policeman, of which there are several to assist in keeping order. Below a group of deportees are bathing their swollen feet—their first opportunity to remove some of the effects of the enforced migration.

Did you know?
Learn something every day.

The natives of Phoenicia are very superstitious and consider it an ill omen to see a stuttering man native swing an elephant by the tail around his head.

While polishing a shoe, a St. Paul man discovered by accident a way to keep a shoestring from coming un-even and having a short end when yoked up in a shoe—he makes the strings with the left handed ends longer—

When wishing to write something personal on a postcard and to insure it from being open reading matter, it is advisable to write it on the inside—

Because his barn burned down on a night it was supposed to rain, an Iowa farmer has lost all faith in almanacs—

On account of their six months night, the Icelanders, when expressing a subject on speed, never use the term "sprung up over night like a mushroom."

THE MARKETS BULLISH SENTIMENT ON MICHAELIS TALK Grain Pits Get Strong Up- turn from Warlike In- ferences.

Chicago, July 20.—Warlike inferences from reports of the new German chancellor's initial speech had a moderate bullish effect today on the corn market. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/4c to 3/4c higher, with September at $1.02 1/2 to $1.02 3/4 and December at $1.15 1/4 to $1.15 3/4, were followed by further gains. Wheat after opening 5c higher at $2.45 July, secured a further upturn of 5c. Oats shared in the firmness. Bears had some little advantage in provisions.

diets. If there is any doubt in the minds of the latter that their enemies are being reinforced from the greatest nation in the world west of Russia, it will presently be dispelled. One of the German military critics opines that our soldiers will be found respectable, but not brilliant. Well, that may be; we shall know more about it later; but the Germans have shown no great brilliancy since they dug themselves in along the Aisne.

Turn The Task Over to a "WANT AD"

You couldn't find the "logical buyer" for your horse and carriage—or for your automobile, or used piano, or talking machine or furniture, or safe, or office fixtures—without long delay, or once-in-a-life-time luck. But the classified ads find buyers for such things every day—your ad should find the buyer you seek without much waiting.

NAVY LEAGUE ASKS FOR COMFORT FUNDS

Get a Small Bank at the First & Hamilton and Donate Your Change.

The First and Hamilton National bank has arranged to co-operate with the Navy League of the United States in the matter of providing the enlisted men of the navy and marine corps with comfort outfits, which consist of knitted woolen sweaters, mufflers, mittens, wristlets, woolen helmets, etc. The Navy League has on hand letters from 20,000 to 30,000 women throughout the country who are willing to knit these articles free of charge providing the Navy League will supply them with the wool. To obtain the funds for this purpose the league is appealing to the people of the country through the banks. They furnish the banks with small leather covered pocket safes in which to deposit change. When the safe is filled it is returned to the First and Hamilton bank, which has the key and will forward the contents to the Navy League at Washington. The bank will then provide the individual with a key and he may keep the bank as a momentary of patriotic and humanitarian work. Many people will not doubt fill the banks many times, keeping in mind the fact that every three dollars provides one of comfort outfit for one of our sailor boys.

Strange as it may seem, the government does not furnish these articles to the men, who would be forced to suffer from cold in the performance of their perilous duty were it not for the action of the Navy League in looking after their comfort.

The pocket safes will be ready for distribution at the First and Hamilton National bank within a week or ten days.

CITY HALL NEWS

JUST TWO BIDDERS.

Grace and Moellering Companies Ask for Streets.

The Grace and Moellering Construction companies were the only bidders for contracts for paving eleven city streets before the board of works Thursday night. The bids of the two companies were taken under advisement. Paving materials for the eleven streets were named as follows: Brick for Coombs, Osage and Wall streets, and bituminous concrete for Liberty, Grace, Garden, Kinnaird avenue, Lake avenue, Lasselle street, Wildwood avenue and Webster street. All bids were taken under advisement.

Resolutions were approved for paving West Brook drive, from Clinton street to its terminus; Edgemoor avenue, from Brook View drive to its terminus, and Northway avenue, from West Brook drive to Jacobs street. All three streets are in Brook View addition and the contract for paving the streets was awarded to the Grace Construction company, following approval of a waiver of notice of adoption of declaratory resolution signed by the Brook View Improvement company, owners of the addition.

The board approved plans for the Price Garden addition, between State boulevard and Forest avenue, and the Curdes Homestead addition, between Lake avenue and Columbia avenue.

A petition for vacation of an alley between Nutman avenue and Organ avenue, east of Broadway, was taken under advisement, and a petition for the construction of cement sidewalks on both sides of Burgess street, at the corner of Sherman street and on the west side of Sherman street, from Burgess street to Pape avenue, was placed on file.

ORDER TO REPORT.

Dr. J. H. Gilpin Will Go to Fort Benjamin Harrison Soon.

Dr. J. H. Gilpin, city health officer, has been ordered to be prepared to report for duty at Fort Benjamin Harrison on August 5. He will go to the post as a physician in the hospital of the reserve army. He will report at his work as city health officer and ordered to report by Adjutant General McCain.

The doctor took his examination for a army commission on May 23. He was commissioned on June 15. He is one of the first physicians to be called for service. Dr. Gilpin has been in Fort Wayne since 1905. He has been a health officer much of the time since he came to the city. The doctor was born in Nappanee, Ontario, Canada, and was graduated from Michigan university in 1902.

Erb is Sick.

Joseph L. Erb, 1720 Short street, is confined to his home by a severe attack of sciatic rheumatism. He has been off duty as one of the city hall janitors since Monday. His physician fears that Erb will not be able to return to city employment for several weeks.

THE DEATHS.

PAUL.

Lydia Paul, widow of Louis Paul, died Thursday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. Mantz, 523 Wildwood avenue. The deceased had lived in Fort Wayne for many years. Surviving relatives are the daughter, Mrs. Mantz, and four sons, Cyrus Paul, of this city; E. C. Paul and J. S. Emig, of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, and Dan Paul, of Allen county. She was a member of the Pine Bluff Evangelical church for sixty years. Funeral services Sunday morning at the home of the daughter, at 9 o'clock, and later in the Dellys church, of Paulding, Ohio. Auto funeral.

SEACREST.

FIGHTING BATTLES WITH STRETCHERS

WORK of the AMERICAN AMBULANCE

BY J. HIXON KINSELA.

BORN in the battle of the Marne, a new Viva in France has been given to France. It is the war cry of a legion of Americans who are fighting for the tricolor with stretchers instead of machine guns, with ambulances instead of batteries. And, meaning "Long Live the French," it is very little different from "Long Live France."

This American legion is the American ambulance field service in France, judged by standards of military importance, the service has been fighting for France as truly as the peasant of the trenches. The men and machines of the ambulance service have taken wounded soldiers from the battle fronts and carried them to hospitals in the rear, where they have been patched up, many to come back to continue the republic's fight for freedom.

When the war started, what was true in other branches of the English and French military service obtained in the Hospital Corps, and France, who had no time to organize one sufficient to the need of the moment, found herself inefficiently but inadequately equipped to care for her wounded, and especially to transport them to the base hospitals.

To make up this deficiency, the American ambulance field service sprang into existence.

The work which the service is doing is just as necessary to a successful army as an artillery division or a commissary department. An army must have a means with which to attack; it must have a means of providing the soldiers with food; and, because it deals in an exchange of death and injury, it must have a division of labor to care for the handling of its own wounded. Since the fall of 1914 and the subsequent winter months the service has fully proved its utility. A total of more than 100,000 wounded men transported to base hospitals has been the contribution of the American-organized and maintained Ambulance Corps. When this fact is considered, it is manifest that the corps has been performing a genuine and inestimable military as well as humanitarian function.

The American ambulance field service is a volunteer organization of men and money—the men a brave shell of the Germans in order to supply cars and equipment. Its work is carried out by a division broken into sections, twenty ambulances and drivers and additional auxiliary cars and mechanics comprising a section.

Wide Service of Americans.

Each section is assigned to a part of the French army, and the entire service is distributed over the whole of the western fighting lines. Besides the work on the Marne front, the ambulances, with the American drivers, have served on the Yser, the Aisne, the Somme, in Champagne, in the Argonne, at Verdun, in the Woëvre, in Lorraine and reconquered Alsace and with the French army of the Orient in the Balkans. On the 15th of May, 1917, the service consisted of twenty-five sections, which included more than 600 ambulances on the battle front of France.

For many years before the war there had been an institution called the American Hospital at Neuilly-sur-Seine, a suburb of Paris. When hostilities broke out this institution naturally became the rallying point for Americans who could best aid France by caring for her wounded soldiers. A few weeks' time, however, convinced the men in charge that their quarters were insufficient. Consequently larger accommodations were obtained and the institution became the American Hospital in the Lycée Pasteur.

Soon American generosity made possible another ambulance hospital.

These two hospitals, under the direction of distinguished American doctors, immediately began to care for French soldiers wounded in battle.

Practically they were base hospitals and only with the transportation of the wounded to the hospitals was the service quite complete. The service of the ambulance field service was to transport the wounded to the hospital workers until two months of the war.

In the first great sweep of the German attack through France and the wavered at the battle of the Marne, a message came back to the French soldiers that the ambulances of France were being driven to death. Twenty automobiles, hastily improvised to ambulances and driven by Americans, went back with the messenger to the place where the battle of the Marne was being fought, picked up the wounded men and returned with them to the hospitals. This was the beginning of the ambulance field service, and all during that terrible battle which saved Paris for the French the ambulance service saved the lives of many men into the hospitals. Since that time many more cars have been given and many more young Americans have volunteered to drive them.

The French, extremely vigilant against the extensive German spy system, which has even permeated the armies of the republic, was at first dubious about permitting the Americans, foreigners as they were, to participate in the movements of the troops. In February, 1915, A. Paré Andrews, undersecretary of the treasury, was asked by Ambassador Robert Bacon to assume charge of the field service. After considerable time he persuaded the French command to let our Ambulance Corps do virtually unlimited work.

Americans Is Decorated.

Accordingly Harvard, Yale and Princeton men went out to Alsace, the only bit of reconquered territory. So well did they work, and so trusted did their devotion and courage make them, that within a fortnight Mr. Andrews was asked to send another ambulance section. A second section promptly was recruited and sent to Lorraine, being stationed at Pont-a-Mousson by June, 1915.

Almost immediately after the section was organized Leslie Buswell, a young Easterner, who got to Paris just too late to enlist with the first section, joined it. He has since been decorated with the Croix de Guerre, the French Cross of War, has risen to the rank of lieutenant, and is at present back in the United States for the purpose of obtaining needed volunteers for his branch of the service.

Buswell, too, was sent to Pont-a-Mousson, reaching there June 17, 1915. On that day he wrote a letter to a friend in this country, in which he stated the little French town where he was stationed had then been bombed over 110 times by the German shells and that it was constantly in danger from the enemy fire. His section, however, was no more exposed, and so less, than the others, and the whole service has done its work despite the menace of the Teuton batteries.

Lieut. Buswell was assigned to ambulance No. 10, one said to have been among those which went out from Paris to the battle of the Marne. Because of its historic interest, Buswell became almost inordinately fond of the car, and he declares he has frequently found himself talking to it, urging it on to greater speed when some poor Frenchman's life depended upon a quick trip to the operating room.

Buswell's personal letters from the front have been collected into a book, which he has called "Ambulance No. 10" (Houghton-Mifflin Company). In it the intimate experiences of the young lieutenant have been vividly recorded.

Buswell said:

"The whole of this service has received the approbation of the War Department of the United States. The British Government has officially investigated the work of the American ambulance organization and has said that the most useful ambulances of the war are those in the American battalion. The French Government has long been convinced of the value of our men—the citations in the official communications bear me out—and recently presented a complete section to the Serbian Government as a symbol of France's friendship for Serbia."

"Seventy-six of the drivers have been cited in French official communications and decorated with the Croix de Guerre for valorous service under fire in saving men's lives. Two of the fellows have been given the Médaille Militaire, the highest honor France can bestow, in appreciation of bravery in action. The sections, as sections, have been publicly decorated over twenty

The letters were freely written, because the writer never intended them for publication. Speaking of the book, Theodore Roosevelt said of the service about which it is written: "The most important thing a nation can save is its own soul—and these young men have been helping this nation to save its soul."

In the course of his work, endeavoring to interest volunteers in the field service, Buswell was in St. Louis a short time ago. His work while here has resulted in the equipment of a section and the obtaining of men to drive ambulances in France. A loosely constituted committee was organized and in short order raised the funds or secured the pledges for the donation of cars to outfit a complete section. The Racquet Club gave two cars, the Rotary Club one and the Log Cabin Club one, and others were subscribed by individuals whose names were not divulged. Virtually an entire section of drivers volunteered to go to France.

Buswell, who has driven the ambulances and is one of the trustees of the fund for the maintenance of the service, is quite obviously an authority on the efficiency of the organization and the policy of its directors. When he was in St. Louis he declared that he was glad to see St. Louis responding to furnish the men and money to equip a section.

Seventy-Six Honored.

times and cited many more in the officers' dispatches from the front.

"Having already received the approval of our own War Department, the service can readily be made available for work with the American troops in the present war. Should an American army go to France, the ambulances will immediately become part of the army and perform the task of transporting the wounded for it. With the experience which the men have had they will be in a position to serve most effectively and efficiently for our side."

"The American ambulance field service is absolutely prepared and willing to lose its identity immediately and place itself under the control of the War Department of the United States, but it is not now, and never will be, willing to put itself under the control or direction of any organization which has not been pre-ally and unneutral from the very beginning of the war."

Buswell's statement is deeply significant. It means that the United States has one of the important problems facing army movements already disposed of and that at present a highly organized and active branch of war service actually is in the field. That the American Ambulance Corps will not align itself with any organization which has not been unneutral during the war means that the service does not purpose working under orders from any other organization.

Pro-Ally Sympathy Required.

The mortality rate among the drivers of the ambulances is remarkably—almost miraculously—low. Of a total of 717 men who have been enrolled in the different sections, only three have lost their lives from German shell fire. Two have died of sickness—one in Paris and one at the front.

About thirty men leave the service each month, after having served a year or six months. As a consequence of this, and on account of the formation of new divisions, a constant influx of new volunteers into the service is necessary.

American citizenship and unquestionable personal sympathies are the fundamental requisites for enlistment in the service. So strict is the rule with regard to American citizenship that an applicant must be able to refer to five or six persons of standing, such as professional men, bankers and the like, who will vouch for the genuineness of the applicant's citizenship, and show American parentage as well as American birth.

Ability to drive a car is, of course, one of the first essentials. It is the volunteer's stock in trade. Small cars are used entirely in the field. To learn to drive them is not difficult; nor is the acquisition of sufficient knowledge to enable the driver to make ordinary repairs. Lieut. Buswell tells the story that when he was "introduced" to his ambulance he found the back spring missing. He asked the captain of the section where the machine shop was, and the captain curiously referred him to a compendious manual with the injunction to fix it himself.

The ages of 21 and 35 years are fixed as limits, but men over or under this age are welcome if found acceptable. It has been thought advisable not to put the age at less than 21, because youths who are younger than that must have the consent of their parents. If this consent is obtained, and the applicant is otherwise fit, he will be accepted. The age of 35 was laid down as the maximum because men beyond that period of life frequently cannot pass the physical tests. However, having crossed the 35-year mark is no bar to a man, for if he is physically fit he may be taken.

The minimum enlistment in the field service is for six months after the volunteer has reached Paris. Preference, of course, will be given to those who enlist for a year or more. All enrollments are for periods of six months or for the duration of the war.

The whole service, as has been observed, is a voluntary one. No pay is given for the work, and the driver must finance himself from the United States to Paris. It has been the experience of the men who have gone before and returned that the cost is about $325, itemized, this is distributed as follows:

Transportation, New York to Paris.....	$75 00
Return transportation.....	75 00
Uniform and equipment.....	75 00
Incidental expenses ($15 a month).....	90 00
From the time of arrival in Paris through lodging are furnished free by the French Government.

Getting to the Front.

In France the men are divided into sections, each section under the command of an American officer. When in Paris, the field service has its headquarters in an old house donated for the duration of the war at 21 Rue Raynouard. This house is the only address of the men, and all mail will reach them through it.

Because the American friends of France in charge of the movement have endeavored to make the whole ambulance corps a gift of Americans, if not exactly America, to struggling France, the financial side of the project is also voluntary. Or rather, as the man power of the service is voluntary, the man power is contributory.

To equip a single car costs $1000, including freight, etc., and its running expenses for a year amount to about $600. The names of donors of such cars are inscribed on a plate attached to the car.

A field section consists of twenty ambulances actually in the field, two in reserve, a staff car, a repair car equipped with spare parts, a large repair car (equipped with work bench, forge, vises and other tools), a large ambulance (usually a two-ton truck), capable of carrying from sixteen to twenty sitting cases, and very useful for transporting convalescents from the hospitals to the training, a kitchen trailer with stoves and cooking utensils, and three tents capable of furnishing living facilities for thirty men. A full section so equipped involves an initial expenditure of $30,000, and its maintenance for one year costs approximately $15,000.

Such a section is what St. Louis has just given. Boston, California, the universities of California, Wisconsin and Chicago, and Northwestern, Cornell and Leland-Stanford universities have also given an identical unit.

Like the medieval Order of St. John, the men in this modern organization are modern knights hospitaliers. And it would seem that the present day knights, like their prototypes, are cooing genuine romance in this war which is just a dull, gory repetition of slaughtering.

War Teaches Daylight Value

By John C. Steele

Copyright, 1917, by Curtis Brown.

IT CAN truly be said that the great war has permanently put back the clock in England but not in the sense the pacifists mean. It has literally made the putting back of the clock every summer a permanent part of England's economy for the special committee appointed by the home secretary to investigate the working of the daylight saving scheme last year has reported in such enthusiastic terms that Parliament decided to have daylight again in the coming summer and no doubt will decide when the time comes to keep on saving it every summer in the future.

Daylight saving as practiced in England means putting back the clock for one hour at the beginning of the summer and putting it forward again when the days begin to shorten at the end of the year. This year the clock was put back on April 3 and will be advanced again sometime in September, so that the English people will have something like 150 more hours of daylight for work and play.

What happens is that the man who rises at 7 by the clock still rises at the same hour by the clock, although by the sun it is only 6 a. m. He goes to his work by the clock and leaves it by the clock with an hour more of daylight for play or work and he goes to bed by the clock, really an hour earlier than usual.

This system was in operation all last summer and it is estimated by the committee that it resulted in the saving of at least 270,000 tons of coal and 11,500 tons of oil for light alone, which represents to the consumer a saving of about $2,500,000 in money. But this is only the beginning of the benefits of the system. The committee declares that beyond a doubt the saving of these 150 hours of daylight had a marked beneficial effect on the health and morals of the British people.

There is no question that the summer time arrangement has added to the efficiency of the workers. Both employers and employees who gave evidence before the committee agreed that more work was done because it was all done in daylight, than under the old system when men worked for the last hour or two by artificial light. The men in the industrial centers, too, were delighted at being able to get an extra hour for sports or for the cultivation of their gardens—and every Englishman who can get hold of a little plot of ground is a keen gardener. J. E. Hutton, the labor manager of Vickers Limited, the great engineers and shipbuilders, told the committee that he considered the summer time act of last year to be one of the greatest boons ever conferred on the industrial classes of the greater towns and cities.

An exceedingly interesting point is raised and disposed of in the committee's report. It is common knowledge that the vitality of the human body is lower in the early hours of the day than at any other time, and it has been generally believed that this is an immutable law of nature. Experience has shown, however, that the body adapts itself to a change in the "evening" quite easily and quickly.

Even the question of the children's sleep has been considered by the committee. Fathers of families who are familiar with the habit of the small boy to wake with the sun and his disinclination to retire with it will rather welcome than otherwise any innovation which will bring the sleeping hours of the rest of the household into line with those of the children. At any rate, the committee is satisfied that the people who are afraid that summer time may deprive children of their full allowance of sleep have found a mare's nest, and that all that is required to avert any danger is for parents to see that their offspring go to bed at the proper time. As a matter of fact, the educational authorities are delighted with summer time, because it enables them to get the back of the school work broken in the cool hours of the morning. Many of the authorities reported that the children were brighter and fresher and made better progress because of the change.

The only class of the population which was, and is still, opposed to summer time is the farmers and their laborers—and one must include the cows who positively refused to be milked an hour earlier than usual. If the farmers are to be believed, as a matter of fact, the farmer has always worked by the sun and not by the clock, so that his opposition to the measure is a little hard to understand.

Some of the agricultural population were rather alarmed at the beginning of last year, at the idea of the government stealing an hour out of their lives, but they were quite reconciled when they learned that the hour was only borrowed and would be repaid in the autumn. In some lines of agriculture where the laborers do work to a time table the men found the advantage of summer time when they discovered that they had an extra hour of daylight in the evening in which to work their own cottage gardens.

Ireland, too, objected to summer time, probably because Ireland is largely agricultural, and possibly, too, on the general principle of being "agin the government."

The history of summer time is like the history of a number of other reforms brought about in England by the war. Perfectly obvious and desirable things were sidetracked year after year either because of the opposition of some interest, or far more often from sheer sloth and the "let well enough alone."

The originator of the summer time scheme was the late William Willett, a London architect, who has left his mark in beautiful dwellings all over the metropolis. Year in and year out he preached the gospel of daylight saving. He wrote letters to the newspapers, lectured, published pamphlets and got himself regarded as a mild crank. He managed to get a bill introduced in Parliament in 1908 which embodied his scheme. It was read twice and referred to a select committee which reported in favor of it, but it was allowed to die without further action. The same thing happened in 1909 and in the sessions of 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1914, daylight saving bills were introduced, read a single time, and never saw the light of day again.

Then came the war, bringing the need for stern economy in coal, oil and the supplies of all kinds, and for the greatest possible labor efficiency. The government took the daylight saving bill, renamed it the summer time bill, and passed it out of hand. Mr. Willett, who died in 1914, did not live to see the realization of all his work.

MILITARY CEREMONY FOR DEAD SOLDIER

Spanish War Vets Pay Tribute to Memory of Sergt. Traxler.

Henry W. Lawton camp, No. 35, United Spanish War veterans, paid final tribute to a dead comrade Thursday afternoon, when they conducted military ceremonies at the funeral of Gerald Traxler, Battery F, Sixth United States field artillery. Flag services were also held at the home, 1325 Erie street, under the auspices of the S. W. Stick circle, Ladies of the G. A. R. The funeral cortege was escorted from the gates of the cemetery to the grave by a delegation of the Lawton camp, firing squad, and bugler. Commander Forest Arney was in charge of the ritualistic ceremonies, with Adjutant A. D. Zuber as chaplain. Three volleys of rifle shots rang out and the bugle sounded "taps."

Sergeant Traxler had participated in several battles in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war. He had been an active member of Henry W. Lawton camp for many years.

Diamond Rings for the Queen and Maids of Honor

The queen and maids of honor chosen on Girls' day will each receive a diamond ring as a keepsake of the 1917 White Dress Parade. Miss Colerick, of the Daily News; Miss Hood, of the Journal-Gazette; Mrs. Belle Clark Williams, of The Sentinel, and Attorney W. H. Ballou, of the Shook building, constitute the committee that will choose the queen and maids of honor this year. Besides the 112 snow white parasols awarded in the letter writing contest, ten special prizes will be given to the ten writers of the best ten letters. Now here is a big secret! The writer of the best letter will receive a beautiful diamond ring like that given the queen and maids of honor. This one best letter must be written by the girl herself, in her own penmanship and in her own language. Neither penmanship, punctuation nor grammatical errors will be charged against the writer. All that counts is what you say and how you say it. The most wonderful letter received up to the present time was written by a little Russian girl. This letter is full of heart, full of loyalty to America and bears the earmarks of sincerity and unselfishness in every line. After writing about Robinson park and Girls' day, which she likens to Christmas, as a time of great joy and pleasure and glad anticipation, she adds, "Oh Mr. Williams. Don't you wish the war would end, and instead it seems like America is going to war now. I only wish I were big enough to be a Red Cross nurse or a big boy to be a soldier and then I would fight for America and would be glad to give my life for this grand free land. Grandpa has died in Russia and grandma is over there yet. We love America best of all now, but our hearts are back there too. I sent grandma pictures of Robinson park and told her all about Girls' day, but we don't hear from her for a long time now." This little Russian girl's name is Martha Kiskowski. Whether she be fair and lovely to look upon or not, her heart sings and her vision is clear.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY GIVES MANY TO WAR

Over 200 Enlist for Active Service and Others for Home Duty.

Bloomington, Ind., July 20.—Indiana University released 206 students to enter active war service and 218 others, including two co-eds, to return to their homes to become "soldiers of the soil" in the bumper crop campaign, according to a pamphlet entitled "Indiana University and the War," just issued by the university which was among the first institutions of the country to tender its entire resources and equipment to the federal government for war services. In addition, several members of the faculty and Indiana alumni are engaged in war service and the university, in conjunction with the city and county authorities, has raised several thousand dollars for the Red Cross and other war relief organizations.

While the men have been entering the various services, the co-eds have not been idle, the pamphlet stating that seventeen large packing cases of supplies, made up mostly by university women, had been dispatched. These supplies included: Six hundred and seventy-seven fracture pillows, 1,929 surgical dressings, 335 comfort bags, with contents, 14 pairs of knitted wool socks, 15 sheets, 7 pairs of pajamas, 37 knitted wool mufflers, 176 shirts, 6 1/2 dozen knitted wash cloths, 2 cases of surgical instruments. First aid classes were organized and 346 girls enrolled and 70 more during the summer.

War Activity Began Early.
The university's war activities took definite form March 6 last, when a mass meeting of students and faculty called by Dr. William L. Bryan, president of Indiana, adopted a resolution approving President Wilson's policy of neutrality and telegraphed the resolution to Indiana's members of the congress. And again on April 1 to strengthen the president's appeal for recognition of the existence of a state of war, another resolution was telegraphed to Washington, reading in part:

"We believe that this nation should adopt no half-way measures in dealing with the German race menace. We are not a craven people and we urge the president and congress to act with vigor as becomes the leaders of a brave and honored nation. We believe that we should enter the war."

Military training was introduced at the university for the first time during its ninety-seven years of existence and a United States army officer placed in charge of the work. The trustees decreed that certain portions of the campus should be placed under cultivation and about fifty acres was planted to potatoes and corn, much of the work of tending the crops being performed by volunteer students. P. D. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, in a letter addressed to every college and normal school in the country after calling attention to the planting of potatoes on the Indiana campus, said:

"Every college and normal school will take the same practical interest in this matter that Indiana university is taking, much will be done toward solving the food problem."

Distribution in Service.
University credits were given the men who enlisted before the end of the semester. The 206 men who entered active service were distributed as follows: Reserve officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, 54; United States infantry, 2; United States cavalry, 4; United States artillery, 3; United States corps of engineers, 3; United States navy, 2; United States navy medical corps, 10; hospital corps, United States navy, 1; United States field hospital, 1; United States ambulance reserve corps, 26; Battery F, First Indiana field artillery, 60; medical department, Second Indiana infantry, 15; field hospital, Indiana National Guard, 23, and other units of the guard, 3. In addition four students left the university to work in munitions factories and two to give conservation instructions in the state.

Base hospital, No. 32, otherwise known as Lilly base hospital, which is ready to start for France, is in charge of Dr. Edmund E. Clark, secretary of the Indiana university school of medicine at Indianapolis, and he will be assisted by 25 other members of the medical school faculty. Dr. Charles P. Emerson, dean of the medical school, is a member of the state council of defense, appointed by Gov. Goodrich. Another member of the university faculty, Dr. Tobias Dantzig, who attended the Ecole superieure d'Aeronautique, of Paris, last semester, has been given instructions in aeronautics to a club of students and the university has erected a special building as a laboratory for aeronautical experiments.

BOOM DAYS OF THE MENOMINEE PASSED

Logging and Lumbering on Wisconsin Stream Are at an End.

Mariette, Wis., July 20.—The logging and lumbering days of the Menominee river, one of the most famous streams of its kind in the country, virtually are over, after more than a half century of driving and manufacturing.

There will be a few logs coming down the river in the future, but they will be driven by local lumber companies and will consist principally of pulpwood. This year's drive is the smallest in the history of the Menominee River Boom company.

The five remaining sawmills in Mariette and Menominee will, in the future, have all their timber brought in by rail, the last of the logs tributary to the local stream having been put in.

The first logs on the Menominee river were driven by the Menominee River Boom company in 1888. In that year 62,809,804 feet were piloted from the upper waters to the local booms. Last year the total was approximately 15,991,850 feet.

During the period from 1888 to 1916, inclusive, the total number of logs driven down the Menominee river totaled approximately 10,810,341,928 feet. The exact total for this year is not yet known.

number of logs sorted was 642,137,850 feet. These logs averaged about 150 feet or seven to the thousand. Last year they averaged 38 feet, or about 27 to the thousand.

The Menominee river in its heyday was the greatest lumbering stream in the world.

FOR CANNING FRUIT and Leave the Top Burners Free for Other Needs

Pack your fruit into sterilized jars, fill the jars with a thin syrup and place in a deep dripping pan. Place the covers on the jars lightly, without rubbers, and pour about two inches of water into the dripping pan. Have the oven about as hot as for bread and leave jars in this heat for about half an hour after the water in the pan has reached the boiling point. If the fruit has shrunken, fill the jars with boiling syrup. Seal in the usual way.

Bad Hop on Returned Ball Gives Run and Game Away

Break in Luck Goes to Grand Rapids in the First Extra Round.

When the cursed ball took a bad hop over the heads of both Kowalski and Smith, Ole Man Louk took his most wicked blow at the Chieft. Miserable bounces aplenty have fallen to the lot of the Chieft during the season, but none any worse than the freak which happened yesterday.

After two had been downed in the first half of the tenth, Schettler went to the plate and singled. He stretched the hit to a double when Gloeckson and Breaux juggled the ball before getting it back to the infield. Tepe then hit to Gloeckson and Schettler stopped at third but the bad hop which sent the horsehide skimming over the heads of Kowalski and Smith happened about then and Schettler came in with the winning run.

The game was good all the way, fielding being just about right on both sides and the hurling being good enough to keep the score low. Twice the locals tied up and then the game taken from them. Shorty Breaux was responsible for the first run, this double starting the work. Score:

CENTRAL LEAGUE.

Peoria Downs Leaders.
Peoria, Ill., July 20.—Peoria had little trouble in getting a win over Springfield yesterday, 8 to 3. After a little spurt early in the game the Reapers had no chances, Hoffman pitching shut-out ball, while the remainder of the club was hitting at will.

Evans Lose Another.
Evansville, Ind., July 20.—An awful fourth inning here yesterday gave Grand Rapids its second win over the Evans. Adams pitched good ball the remainder of the way, but lost the game in the one frame. Meltzer found himself hard pressed several times, but an impregnable defense saved him.

Ainsworth is Right.
Richmond, Ind., July 20.—Red Ainsworth worked for Richmond yesterday and he was all to the good, being the big noise in a 4 to 1 win staged by the locals. Kirby was the only Muskegon prodigy who could connect and he generally did on the paths.

Fall is Anxious to Break Mile Record

Edwin H. Fall, the sensational distance runner of Oberlin college, is called the athletic marvel of the present time. It is expected Fall during the present summer will go after the mystic figures of 4:12 3-5, the world's best record for one mile, made by Norman Taber over the Harvard stadium track, during June, 1915. Athletic experts who have seen Fall perform predict that with proper preparation and over a good track and with favorable weather conditions Fall should run close to 4 minutes 10 seconds for the distance.

RIFLE TEAMS PREPARE TO SHOOT FOR PRIZES

Captains Are Named for Four Outfits and Practice is Started.

The several teams of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club competing for the cash prize offered by Fred Zollars, have begun practicing and the competition promises to be interesting.

The conditions of the contest are that any number of teams may be entered. The captain of each team must have qualified in the regular N. R. A. competitions as other a marksman, sharpshooter or expert. The other members of the team are to be members who have not qualified. Each team will consist of four or five men. The captains are to be given until the middle of September to drill their respective teams. The competition will then be held on a specified date, and the team scoring the highest number of points over the ranges later decided upon, will divide the prizes.

Four teams have so far been entered. The captains and their qualifications are: G. R. Gavehn—Expert. H. A. Hartman—Expert. J. B. Hall—Sharpshooter. E. A. Wagner—Sharpshooter.

SMILE!

PAT MORAN

(By Paul Purman.)
Pat Moran's Phillies have set a record for clubs to shoot at which will keep managers hustling for many moons to equal or beat.

For sixty-nine straight games the Phillies went without being shut out. No matter what kind of pitching they went up against, no matter how the odds were going, the Phillies, misfits and cast-offs for the most part, always managed to squeeze one run across the plate. Their streak was stopped recent.

Right along the same line it might be said that the Phillies hold the season record for straight victories in the National league, having won ten consecutive games. Looking over the club it is hard to see just why it should be in second place and why it should be so dangerous to its rivals.

On paper the club is weak. Many of the players are being back, or are at an age when the best cannot be expected of them. Most of the others are misfits.

With the exception of Alexander and Oeschger in the box, Killiter and Bancroft, there are no men on the team who rise above mediocrity.

He gets the most from his pitchers and catchers and makes the others work. Moran is not a slave driver. He gets results with a smile and the results, like the smile, won't come off.

And Moran will get a smile of help this year from Johnny Evers, secured recently from the Braves. Evers' playing days are about over. He can scarcely move his left arm on account of neuritis, but as a coach for the infield it is doubtful if he can be excelled.

Pat Moran may not win a pennant this year. But he may be right up there during the rest of the season, making the others beat him to win.

SMILE! New York Nationals Expected to be 1917 Pennant Winners

American League Race is Out for Home Run Record of League Too Close for Any Prediction.

New York, July 20.—Based upon the records of the past five years, the lead of the New York National league club shortly after the halfway point of the season was reached, would appear to indicate that the team would win the senior league pennant. The race is so close in the American league, however, that no such conclusion can be entertained in advance. Including the games played on July 15 the New York Giants led their nearest rivals, the Philadelphia club, by 95 points. In the American race the Boston combination had but a three-point margin over the Chicago White Sox.

A comparison of these figures with those of July 15 for each season since 1912 shows that without exception a club leading either the National or American leagues by 50 points or better in the middle of July captured the pennant and figured in the world's series. Both the Philadelphia Athletics and the Brooklyn teams were able to come through with a little less margin and the Phillies ran a nine point lead into a pennant in 1916 but this was an exception.

The New York club won the 1912 pennant by 66 points after having a margin of 126 pounds on July 15 of that year. The following season the Giants increased a 73 point lead to 81 at the close of the race. In 1914 the team had a 49 point advantage at mid-season yet Boston captured the flag by 69 points. Philadelphia played a 9 point lead into a 46 point margin of safety the next year while last season Brooklyn, which had a 49 point clew in July, saw the same cut down to 15 points with the final game of October.

In the American league Boston had an 81 point lead and won with 32 in 1912 while the Philadelphia Athletics in 1913 won by 43 points after leading by 114 on July 15. The next season the situation was reversed for the Athletics were 35 points ahead at mid-season and added 20 points for safety before the schedule was completed. In 1915 Chicago led the league at the half way mark by 6 points but Boston won the pennant by 20 points in October. Last season New York was showing the way on July 15 by 12 points but again Boston showed its fighting ability in the final weeks of the race by forging to the front and taking the flag by 13 points.

The following tabulations show the lead-ers each year on July 15 and the pennant winners of the same year with the point advantage at both periods of the race:

48	42	.533	Leader	Point	Pennant

*Chicago third; New York fourth.
The recent slump of the New York American league team has resulted in the usual rumor that there is to be a change in the management of the team. The names of several managerial possibilities have been mentioned but to date none appear able to guarantee to make matters better in pinches, which is the chief weakness of the Yankees.

Outbursts of Everett True

Once more a complaint that is heard frequently against American exporters has cropped up, coming this time from British East Africa. In reporting the trade opportunities there the United States consul at Mombasa writes: "Some exporters apparently think that all export trade must be conducted in the Spanish language, and their catalogues and correspondence coming to this market are printed and written in that language. Many languages are spoken in this territory, but Spanish is one that is never heard."

SMILE! New York Nationals Expected to be 1917 Pennant Winners

Walter Pipp, slugging first baseman of the Yankees, who is expected to lead the league in home runs.

SPORTS CHATTER

Earl Caddock has told Joe Stecher to get a reputation. That's an old, old story.

Bill Clymer, having been fined two or three dozen times on the field this season has become deaf and dumb. McGraw might try that treatment.

Perhaps Outmet's score at Chicago is the real reason the National Golf association has barred him.

Lee Magee has been traded for Marsans. Something like trading a buffalo nicked for five Lincoln pennies.

Honus Wagner, past 40, is hitting around .350. That should be encouraging for these lads of 22 who can't hit more than their age.

A British Plot to make cricket popular. A match in New York paid $2,500 to the Red Cross. Otherwise it wouldn't have drawn a dime. Base ball magnates take warning.

The St. Louis Association of Gardeners has asked residents of their city not to attempt transplanting wild flowers to the gardens, as failure generally results and certain wild flowers are getting noticeably scarce about St. Louis.

Soil is constantly giving off nitrogen to the air.

Sand, silt and clay may all be from the same source.

Traffic on Calhoun street would be blocked at 1317 if the people in general only knew the prices that rugs and furniture are being sold at The Ruggery's big Auction Sale. Hundreds of people are getting the articles they need at their own price. Now is the time to get in on this, while you have the opportunity. Sales daily at 2:30 and 7:30.

Late Picture of the Western Golf Title

Copyright Underwood & Underwood. Francis Outmet, of the Woodland Golf club of Massachusetts, ranked by the United States Golf association as a professional, won the amateur championship of the Western Golf association. The final in which he defeated K. P. Edwards was a thrilling one. Figuring on past performances Outmet was the logical winner.

ON TO LEMBERG! PRZEMYSL AGAIN?

The tarting victories of the Russians, this time, have been won with the spirit of true democracy behind the dash. Lemberg is the first goal and behind that is Przemyśl, center of the most disastrous battles on the Russian front. Larger map shows the battle line from Riga to Stanislaw and the point where the Russians are driving back the Germans and Austrians. Inset map shows the old battle line along the Zlota-Lipa river and the new line of defense back of Halicz, which the Russians have captured, along the Gnala-Lipa, fifteen miles back.

Bluffton, Ind., July 20.—Fire believed to be of incendiary origin damaged the residence of William Householder yesterday. Mr. Householder was awakened by the dense smoke and was nearly overcome before he reached the outer air and gave the alarm.

112 Snow White
Parasols Awarded On
Girls' Day

One hundred and twelve snow white parasols will be awarded on Girls' Day, Wednesday, July 25th. Hundreds of letters pour into Robison park each season. These wonderful letters, written by the boys and girls of Fort Wayne, are the one big compensation for all the labor and preparation of the special days. The one hundred and twelve snow white parasols will be awarded this year to the one hundred and twelve writers of the one hundred and twelve best letters. Try to tell why you like Robison park, how it compares with other parks you have visited and what special day you like best. Do not mention the word parasol or the word prize and address your letters to Manager Williams, Robison Park, City. The ten letters surpassing all the others will receive special prizes.

The fire department made a quick run and confined the blaze to a bed room. Fire Chief Lem Stout made an investigation as to the cause of the blaze and he says the fire started on the outside of a window sill and from appearances some one poured coal oil on the wood. Mr. Householder was at home alone at the time of the blaze, his wife being away visiting friends.

Grandma Reeves, 80 years old, wandered away from her home with her son-in-law, Louis Nusbaumer, in Petroleum, yesterday afternoon and was found last night at the home of Phillip Ogden, near Phoenix, four miles away. The aged lady had walked the entire distance and seemed to suffer no ill effects from the long tramp.

F. P. Adams has traded his beautiful residence property on West Market street to Isaac Wolfcase, living north of Uniondale, for a farm of 100 acres in Manitowish county, Minnesota. Mr. and Mrs. Adams will move to Chicago in the near future. The machinery saved when Mr. Adams' headlight factory burned several months ago, was shipped out yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Abram Simmons has been appointed a member of the county board of defense by Judge Elchorn to take the place of Mrs. E. B. Williamson, who resigned.

The total value of Wells county property, not including public service corporations, is $16,584,420, according to the abstract of the assessments to be completed by County Auditor Clem T. Kain. Personal property is valued at $4,730,810; lands, $9,933,285, and lots, $1,920,325.

John L. Sullivan on Overeating.

John L. Sullivan, the ex-pugilist, says that more people die from overeating than from drink. One of the most prominent physicians in England says that is also the case over there. No wonder that so many people are troubled with indigestion. If you have trouble with your stomach adopt a diet suited to your age and occupation. Then if you should have indigestion take Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JULY 22

SENNACHERIB IN DAYS OF JUDAH.

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 19:20-37. GOLDEN TEXT—God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.—Ps. 46:1.

Last week's lesson was a great picture of the reform of the nation. Today we have another picture which needs to be carefully put before the children. It is a national picture of a ruler and the invasion of his country. In reality it reveals the principles which are the same today, and which affect the lives of boys and girls as well as men; the dangers, temptations, the need of prayer, the need of a life of faith in God, the care of a heavenly father, deliverance and victory. It is a great thing for any nation or any individual to have such a marvelous experience of God's salvation. It occurred probably B. C. 701, the latter part of Hezekiah's reign. Assyria on the north was enlarging its borders and seeking to overcome Judea. Read parallel accounts in II Kings 18; II Chron. 32 and Isa. 37:37. We have on the Taylor cylinder an account by Sennacherib of the victory over Hezekiah, found in Nineveh in 1850 and now in the British museum.

I. The Situation. When the great Sargon died at Nineveh, the Syrian governments sought to assert their independence. It was a good time for Hezekiah also to assert his independence. Accordingly they refused to pay the customary tribute to Assyria. For a time Sennacherib was too busy attending to other portions of the empire to pay much attention to the city of Jerusalem. Later, however, he subdued the cities on the coast and threatened Egypt itself.

II. The Supplication (vv. 20-22). God does things because we pray. There was more power in Hezekiah's prayer than there was in his army. Through his prayers he laid 185,000 of his enemies in the grave. Hezekiah's God saved his people out of the hand of Sennacherib (v. 19). God did it. One great reason why he heard Hezekiah's prayer was because it was for God's own glory that Hezekiah asked (v. 19). One great reason why so many of our prayers are not answered is because they are selfish—seeking our own gratification and not God's honor (James 4:3 R. V.). Hearing his clothes and putting on sackcloth, Hezekiah went to the house of God while his messengers sought out the prophet Isaiah. From II Chron. 32:20 we find that Isaiah joined with Hezekiah in his earnest prayer (Matt. 18:19, 20), thus the king and prophet worked as well as prayed. They showed their faith by their work (James 2:17, 18). At the same time they waited upon God for an answer, not because God was unwilling to bestow good things, or must be importuned, but that his gifts may bring the greater benefit. He sometimes delays his answer, thereby fitting us to receive them because of the intensity of our desire and to appreciate the things he has to bestow. God is as ready to say to us as to Hezekiah, "Thy prayer is heard," if we will not meet the conditions of prevailing prayer (I John 3:22; I John 5:14; Rom. 8:26, 27).

III. God's Glorious Deliverance (vv. 23-37). God permitted the Assyrians to attack and they thus imagined they were having their own will and could do as they pleased, but when his "rod" had done its work, they found the difference. The God against whom they raved guided them as with a "bridle" and turned them back to Assyria. Sennacherib considered himself more than a match for God (Ch. 18:23-25) but had to return like a conquered beast of burden with God's "hook" in his nose and bridle on his lips. God allows the enemies of his people to go a certain length in order that his people may be humbled and seek him. Then he puts forth his hand and says, "This far and no further." Jehovah gives us the same promise he gave Hezekiah, "I will defend this city." Is not the city of Jerusalem that God defends more safe than a city defended by an army? (Ps. 46:5, 6; 27:1). God had promised David that his kingdom should not perish, for in it lay the hope of the world and his plans for the redemption of mankind. Not because of the people did God defend the city, but because of his oath. This is a most dramatic picture, the mysterious destruction of the Assyrian army (vv. 35, 36). The Lord sent his angel, literally his "messenger," who applied his own plan for the accomplishment of his purpose.

There is a sort of a grim irony in the ending of Sennacherib's career. He who had so defiantly asked, "Who are they among all the gods of the country that have delivered their country out of mine hand?" is led back to the house of his own god whom he imagines to be so potent to worship and in that very presence is slain by the hands of one of his own sons. The importance of this event is shown by the fact that it is referred to in three books of the Bible and probably referred to another, occupying seven or eight chapters, besides being recorded on the great cylinder to which reference is made.

The Way It Works: Better Waists—More Business More Business—Better Waists

Increased volume means lower manufacturing cost for the maker and lower operating costs for the retailer. Greatly increased volume of Waist sales with us—with the hundreds of other retailers who have the same source of supply—and with the manufacturers of the waists we sell has resulted in values this year better than ever before. And this explains the reason for the present and over-growing popularity of our Blouse Department.

Pretty New Welworth Waists at $2.00

It's hard to believe—but nevertheless true that the price of Welworth Waists has not advanced while the quality has been fully maintained. Tremendous increases in sales everywhere with lower making and overhead costs—has offset the rise of materials and everything else that goes into their making—and so the price remains the same and so they are more popular and selling faster than ever before. Here is shown one of the actual models.

MRS. O. H. BOWMAN DIES AT PIERCETON

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Ind., July 20.—Mrs. Belle Combs-Bowman, wife of O. H. Bowman, 44 years old, former superintendent of the South Whitley schools, and residing now south of Piercetown, died at her home there Thursday morning at 1:30 o'clock, following an illness of seven weeks from a blood infection. She had been brought home Monday from the Lutheran hospital in Fort Wayne.

Columbia City Short Notes.
Frank Cox, of Washington township, sold eighty-three head of hogs to Marion Kaufman for $2,502.45, or an average of $30.15 per head. He paid nine cents for them, fed them through the winter, and received fifteen cents for them this week. The hogs averaged over 200 pounds each.

George Wycliffe, manager of the Whitley County Telephone company branch exchange at Ellettsburg, was taken Thursday morning to the Lutheran hospital at Fort Wayne by Dr. J. W. C. Scott, to undergo a second operation, possibly, for cancerous conditions of the stomach.

Judge Luke H. Wiegley, of the Whitley circuit court, Wednesday afternoon granted quiet title in the case of Elbia Goss vs. Armstrong Grimes, while the petition to remove the guardian of Lucy A. Lahr was dismissed. The divorce suit of Augusta Truman vs. Robert Truman, and the suit on note of Oscar Crowell vs. Reed Crowell were dismissed. Notice of insolvency in the estate of the late Elizabeth Kline has been filed.

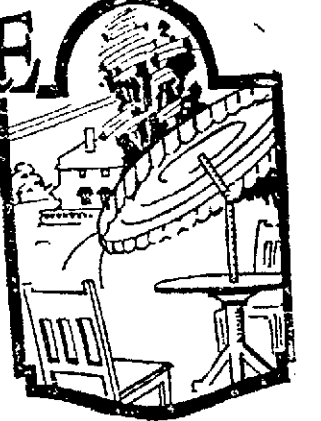

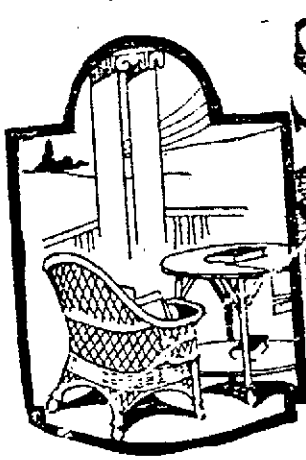

Dr. Carl L. Souder, who was on the operating table nearly three hours Tuesday, at the Lutheran hospital, for relief from vertigo, is resting nicely. Dr. Souder has received a commission as lieutenant with the arm ymedical reserve staff.

DON'T BELIEVE EARL WAS HOME IN THE HAY

Ida Schafenacker Identifies Negro as Man Who Entered House.

Judge H. W. Kerr does not believe that Earl Tapp, 25, negro, was home in bed at 9 o'clock, Wednesday evening. The judge thinks that two hours after the colored man was supposed to be wrapped in slumber he was in reality trying to enter the home of C. F. Schafenacker, 530 Holman street. Tapp was bound to circuit court under $500 bond on the charge of house breaking.

Pretty Ida Schafenacker, 17, daughter of C. F. Schafenacker, positively identified Tapp as bearing the face she beheld in the kitchen doorway. Wednesday night, the girl said she was entertaining a friend when she heard a noise in the rear room. She started into the kitchen, turning on the lights from the switch key. The flood of light fell full on the face and diminutive form of Tapp, the girl testified. The negro turned and ran from the house. The police were called and made a fruitless search for the man.

The girl saw Tapp on the street, near her home, Thursday afternoon. She recognized him at once as the man who had entered the house, she says. She followed Tapp. He went in a pool room and the girl summoned Patrolman Linniger. When Tapp was brought from the pool room he was identified by the girl and locked up on the attempted burglary charge.

Tapp pleaded not guilty. He earnestly denies every part of the young woman's story. He was home in bed before 9 o'clock, he testified.

mentary for staging a daylight robbery in St. Louis in 1914. Also it was discovered that he had checked a suit case from Fort Wayne to Chicago. Detective Sergeant Lunnell by some quick work intercepted the suit case. The luggage holder was returned here. It contained some clothes and several hundred dollars in crisp, stage money. The only value of the money was to give reporters a chance to hustle their friends during Friday. Huner was released, as local police have no substantial charge against him.

Other Police Court Cases.
Harry Baum, railroader, drove his automobile past a street car when the car was discharging passengers, Tuesday. He was fined $1 and costs.

The case against James Baughman, charged with child neglect, was dismissed.

When Harry Garrett and Carry Garrett, both colored, had a misunderstanding, Thursday evening, the husband had his wife arrested on a charge of stealing two rings from him. The husband did not appear in court, Friday morning. The case was dropped.

William Poist, charged with public intoxication, will be tried on next Friday.

Frank Donigan and William Wright, charged with loitering, were allowed to leave town.

Militant Suffs Will Stage New Performance at the White House Soon.

Washington, July 20.—Sixteen women sent to the workhouse for their part in the tumultuous suffrage demonstration Saturday at the white house, accepted pardons from President Wilson yesterday afternoon and were released after serving two days of their sixty-day terms.

The prisoners left the workhouse apparently without regret despite their previous declarations that they desired to serve out their time without appeal or clemency. These assertions had led to an announcement by the department of justice pointing out that a pardon need not be accepted unless the prisoners desire it. When the time for departure came, however, the women's only protest was against the trials they underwent during their detention.

At headquarters of the women's party the sixteen were received as martyrs, and at a dinner given there in their honor, plans were made for continuing the white house picketing, of which Saturday's demonstration was a part. A defiant statement issued at the headquarters said the campaign to impress President Wilson and the country by parading before the white house gates would go on without change.

Children Needed Care.
The president acted after the husbands of several of the prisoners had interceded in their favor and after he had been told that some of them had small children at home needing their care. Some of Mr. Wilson's friends declared this element undoubtedly had been the determining influence with him. Others suggested that he acted in the hope that pardons would minimize publicity, an avowed part of the women's campaigning. The suffragists insisted he had become convinced that the country was aroused over the workhouse sentences.

Every party to the incident, however, was left to its own speculations on the subject. Secretary Tamm said issuance of the pardons would have to speak for itself, and all other officials in a position to know the president's thoughts on the subject were silent.

"The president's action in no way affects the general suffrage situation," said the woman's party statement. "The only difference it makes, as we see it, is that the women are out of jail. That is a matter of little concern to us compared with the concern we feel over the great vital issue for which we are fighting. Picketing will be resumed very soon and with the utmost vigor."

Expect Future Arrests.
No date has been set for the next demonstration, but it probably will be Saturday. The suffragist leaders say they fully expect that the next body of pickets will be arrested and sentenced to the workhouse.

The department of justice statement settled a point which had been warmly discussed at suffrage headquarters. "If the suffragists now serving a sixty-day sentence at Occoquan decline to accept the pardon offered by President Wilson," it said, "they will serve out their sentence. The government can not compel a prisoner under sentence to accept a pardon."

Dudley Field Malone, collector of customs at New York, who has acted as counsel for the women, temporarily retired from the fight last night, out it is understood he will be retained again if further arrests are made.

To Overcome Redness, Tan, Freckles, Wrinkles

If your skin is unduly reddened, freckled or tanned, dab a little pure mercurized wax on the face and allow it to remain over night. When you wash off the wax in the morning, fine flaky, almost invisible particles of cuticle come with it. Repeating this daily, the entire outer skin is absorbed, but so gradually, there's not the slightest hurt or inconvenience. Even the stubbornest freckles are affected. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so fresh and youthful looking, you'll marvel at the transformation. It's the only thing known to actually discard an aged, faded, mottled or blotchy complexion. One ounce of mercurized wax, procurable at any drugstore, is sufficient in most cases.

If sun and wind make you squint and crowd's feet. To overcome these quickly, bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic acid in a half pint of water. Advertisement.

Meantime he will continue his efforts to persuade the president to declare for a federal suffrage amendment.

Malone Miffed Again.
A clash between Mr. Malone and Superintendent Whitaker, of Occoquan workhouse, enlivened the departure of the prisoners last night. The women were receiving their valuables at the office when Mr. Whitaker warned them that if they returned they would get no special consideration.

"I've been very indulgent with you," he said, "but I won't be again."

Mr. Malone, replying heatedly, declared he certainly had not been accorded special privileges as counsel. For a moment it looked like a personal encounter, but the incident closed with Mr. Whitaker declaring that his original statement stood.

All of the prisoners were in good health, but were uncomfortable from having been deprived of their toilet articles, such as tooth brushes. One said she had some difficulty in sleeping, and none of them had liked the food.
